CONTRACTS AWARDED. WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

to the various city departments from June 1, 1954, to March 31, 1955, inclusive: Boston Egg and Poultry Company, Inc., 65-67 Fulton street, Boston, Mass.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

BOSTON, June 1, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This office is in receipt of a requisition No. 1715 from the Boston City Hospital for 3 M amps. heparin 1 cc. 50 mg. per cc. A written quotation has been obtained directly from the manufacturer. Inasmuch as the proposed contract would be with the manufacturer, in my opinion, there is no reason to advertise for bids.

It is therefore requested that authority be granted me to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and award a contract, without public advertisement, to the manufacturer, Testagar & Co., Inc., 1354 West Lafayette, Detroit, Michigan, for 3 M amps. heparin 1 cc. 50 mg. per cc.

at 60 cents per amp., to be delivered within 40 days from receipt of order.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $1,800, less 2 per cent discount for payment within 10 days.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

BOSTON, June 1, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On April 1, 1953, your Honor approved a request to award a contract for surgical supplies, on which bids were publicly opened March 5, 1953, to T. J. Noonan Company for delivery as requested until March 31, 1954. Subsequently, a contract was approved and orders issued for various items. One of the orders, placed November 18, 1953, called for four (4) gross needles, spinal, Fremont Smith, 19 x 3½, at $51 per dozen, less 40 per cent. This merchandise had to be custom made. No delivery was made within the contract period. The needles are now ready to be delivered and this office is in receipt of a superseding requisition from the Boston City Hospital requesting immediate delivery of the needles.

Inasmuch as the original order was placed under the contract with T. J. Noonan Company as a result of public bidding, and since this company is now in a position to make immediate delivery, it is requested that permission be granted me to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to T. J. Noonan Company for four (4) gross Fremont Smith spinal needles, 19 x 3½, at $54 per dozen, less 40 per cent. Placement of this order with any other company would cause a further delay of several months.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $1,555.20, less 2 per cent, time of payment.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

BOSTON, May 28, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to make an expenditure to James F. Kelley & Co., 44 School street, Boston, Mass., in the sum of $16,400.62, which is the three-year premium for boiler insurance coverage as described in American Employers' Insurance Company Policy BN-9803450 and covers the period from May 1, 1954, to May 1, 1957.

As the rates for this coverage are of a uniform nature and as there would be no advantage gained by the city in publicly advertising, it is my opinion that the best interests of the city are being maintained in this procedure.

Very truly yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

BOSTON, June 4, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

SUBJECT: Abraham Lincoln School.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Under date of May 12, 1954, an order in the amount of $175 was issued to H. A. Smith Company, 39 Rochester street, Boston, to repair the roof which was leaking onto the walls in the men's toilet near room 407 and near vent ducts in Room 307, these rooms being under a cupola of the building.

As the work of correcting the condition described was being performed it was discovered that the cast stone trim of the cupolas was admitting water, as were the copper facings and flashings, to the extent that it is now necessary, in order to correct the condition, to conceal considerable cast stone ornamentation with copper and install gutters to lead off rain water, also to seal the masonry walls and cast stone trim incorporated into the structure below the cupolas. Such work necessitates the erection of a scaffold from ground to the uppermost part of the building on both sides of the structure, and involves work in addition to that originally contemplated to a value of $1,500.

As it has proved to be necessary now to do much more work than originally contemplated, and as the work must be done without delay so as to protect the building, I ask your approval of my procedure in ordering the work to completion by H. A. Smith, without public advertising, in an amount not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500).

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, May 17, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The trustees respectfully request that your Honor approve the award of a contract to the Dickson Truck Service Company, Inc., 26 Reading street, Roxbury, Mass., to provide bookmobile service for the library. The bookmobile service, involving the use of two completely equipped vehicles, brings library facilities to certain sections of the city for which adequate library service is not now available.

For the past four years the Dickson Truck Service Company, Inc., until March 18, 1953, known as the H. B. Church Truck Service Company, Inc., has provided the bookmobile service on a contractual basis. The two bookmobiles which serve the library were built by this company to the library's detailed specifications. They have been kept in excellent condition and the service rendered has been always prompt and efficient. The drivers of the vehicles have become thoroughly familiar with the library's requirements. The cost of the service to be rendered for the period from April 1, 1954, through March 31, 1955, will be approximately $30,000.

Incorporated in the contract is a provision under which the city has an option to purchase the two bookmobiles for a total sum of $9,000 upon the expiration of the one-year term of the contract.

It is believed that it will be to the best interests of the City of Boston and the library to dispense with public advertising for bids and to award a contract for bookmobile service to the Dickson Truck Service Company, Inc.

The Trustees have therefore

"Voted, That there be awarded, without public advertising, to the Dickson Truck Service Company, Inc., 26 Reading street, Roxbury, Mass., the contract for providing bookmobile service, using two bookmobiles built to specifications provided by the library, for the period April 1, 1954, through March 31, 1955, at the rate per bookmobile, of two hundred and fifty-three dollars ($253) per week (Monday through Friday), plus three dollars and sixteen cents ($3.16) for each hour beyond forty (40) hours in any one week (Monday through Friday), and for all hours worked on Saturday at the rate of one dollar and twenty cents ($1.20) per hour for the first four (4) hours and three dollars and sixteen cents ($3.16) per hour for all hours worked thereafter."

Inasmuch as the total cost of the bookmobile service will exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), there is requested permission of your Honor to enter into this contract without publicly advertising for bids.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY
OF THE CITY OF BOSTON,
MILTON E. LORD, Director.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, June 2, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

For the past several years, contracts have been awarded to the Charles N. Wood Company, 510 Arsenal street, Watertown, for overhauling and repairing the heavy-duty Walter snow fighter trucks that are used during the winter season for sanding, salting, and plowing work.

Prior to this year, the contracts involved repairs to the snow fighters that were originally purchased by the department from the Charles N. Wood Company, which is the only authorized dealer in this area. In February of the current year, however, a contract was awarded to the Wood Company for effecting repairs to some of the sixteen Walter trucks that were purchased by the department from the M.T.A. last fall. The principal purpose of the latter-referenced contract was to cover any major repairs on the M.T.A. units that might develop from time to time in the closing months of the 1953-1954 winter season. The contract was in the amount of $10,000, and actual expenditures totaled $9,923.95.

I am informed by Division Engineer McGrath that it is absolutely necessary to effect major repairs to at least eleven of the sixteen units purchased from the M.T.A., in order that they will be in good operating condition for the start of the 1954-1955 winter season. Mr. McGrath estimates that a minimum of $11,000 should be provided to pay for the repair work.

The department has in excess of 400 pieces of equipment, and it is impossible for the mechanics of the Automotive Division to do all of the equipment repair work and, therefore, we find it necessary, on occasions, to engage the services of outside repair shops. In practically all cases, however, the equipment is sent to the shop that is recognized as an authorized dealer or repair agency for the particular equipment. The only company in this area authorized to sell and repair Walter snow fighters is the Charles N. Wood Company. This company has done repair work for the department in the past, and its work has always been satisfactory. Under the circumstances, therefore, it is my unqualified opinion that a contract should be awarded to the same company, to repair the units selected by Division Engineer McGrath. All charges made by the Wood Company will be subject to approval by an inspector of the Automotive Division of this department, who will be present at all times during the progress of the repair work. The Wood Company will take full responsibility for satisfactory operation of the units, and will guarantee all workmanship and parts used in the repair work.

Due to the nature of the work, it will be most impractical to attempt to obtain publicly advertised proposals. The work of the contractor will be performed in accordance with the pertinent provisions of the contract specifications of the contract that was awarded last February, and payments will be made for labor and materials on the basis of the provisions of section 3 of said specifications.

I respectfully request your authorization to dispense with advertising, and to award a contract to the C. N. Wood Company, in an amount not to exceed $11,000, for effecting whatever repairs are necessary to the so-called Walter snow fighters, with the understanding that the work will be authorized and assigned by Division Engineer McGrath of the Automotive Division.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT.

Buildings Division.

BOSTON, May 18, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Due to the reorganization of departments it is found necessary to make a relocation of various divisions to the end that the divisions will be situated at suitable and convenient locations in order to permit the new department head to exercise proper control and supervision.

One of the key relocations will be that of the Wire Division inspectors from Fire Headquarters, also the Wire Division office from the eighth floor to the tenth floor of City Hall Annex in order that the Building Department may exercise proper control and supervision of same. This is a key move in that many other departmental divisions await this move. We are taking part of the old Registry Department for the Wire Division, and the Registry in turn is taking part of the old Public Buildings Department which in turn will move down to the eighth floor, vacated by the Wire Division office.

I have had specifications and plans made to renovate the tenth floor for the Wire Division and have invited four reputable contractors to submit prices for the work entailed, which includes carpentry work, masonry, painting, plastering, and all necessary electrical and plumbing work, with the following results:

F. C. Dolan & Sons, $3,884; Joseph White, $3,950; Joseph A. Sprissler, $4,090; S. J. Hingston, $4,140.

In view of the above facts, together with the knowledge that time is very essential, I believe that the best interest of the city is served by awarding this work to the F. C. Dolan & Sons Company, 18 Aldworth street, Jamaica Plain, on a time and material basis in a sum not to exceed $3,884, without the usual form of advertising. The Dolan Company enjoys an excellent reputation and has performed very good work for this department.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE P. DONOVAN,
Assistant Commissioner.

SUFFOLK COUNTY.

COURT HOUSE.

BOSTON, June 3, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MAYOR HYNES:

Because of the satisfactory service rendered over a period of years by the Albert D. Howlett Company of Boston, in painting various court rooms in the old and new court houses plus the fact that, on all previous work advertised for bids, the Albert D. Howlett Company has always been appreciably lower than any other bidder, the Court House Commission requests your Honor's permission to award a contract, without advertising, to the Albert D. Howlett Company for painting Municipal Court Rooms 371, 375, 377, 389, and 394 for the sum of $3,960.

The Albert D. Howlett Company has all the necessary equipment and experience enabling them to perform this service without disturbance to the necessary functions at the Court House.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. McDAVITT, Chairman.

The above to be executed at no change in cost to the city.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., Councillor Hurley, Senior Member, presiding. Absent, Councillor White.

The Reverend John Zuromskis, of St. Peter's Church, South Boston, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. JOHN ZUROMSKIS.

We are come, O God the Holy Ghost, we are come before Thee, hindered indeed by our many imperfections and weaknesses, but especially gathered together in Thy name. Come unto us and be with us; vouchsafe to enter our hearts; teach us what we are to do and whither we ought to tend; show us what we must accomplish, in order that, with Thy help, we may be able to please Thee in all things. Be Thou alone the author and the finisher of our judgments, who alone with God the Father and His Son dost possess a glorious name.

Suffer us not to disturb the order of justice, Thou who lovest equity above all things; let not ignorance draw us into devious paths, nor partiality sway our minds, neither let respect of riches or persons pervert our judgments; but unite us to Thee effectually by the gift of Thine only grace, that we may be one in Thee and may never forsake the truth; inasmuch as we are gathered together in Thy name, so may we in all things hold fast to justice tempered by pity, that so in this life our judgment may in no wise be at variance with Thee and in the life to come we may attain to everlasting rewards for deeds well done. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

TRANSFER OF LAND IN SOUTH BOSTON TO LIBRARY DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 24, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith copy of a vote of the School Committee of the City of Boston declaring that the Frederic W. Lincoln School site on East Broadway, South Boston, is no longer required for school purposes, together with a communication received from Patrick F. McDonald, President of the Trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston, requesting that this site be transferred to the Library Department.

The Library Trustees are planning to construct a new and modern branch library building at the site which will be of great benefit to the people of the district, and I therefore recommend the adoption of the accompanying order, transferring the land to the Library Department.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

April 22, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

In a letter to your Honor dated January 25, 1954, there was described the plan of the Trustees of the Library for the construction of a new South Boston Branch Library Building which is to take the place of two existing branch libraries in the South Boston district. At that time the trustees had selected the site occupied by the Hawes Hall and Simonds schools on West Broadway, and the School Committee had already adopted an order relinquishing the site for school purposes and recommending that the land and buildings be transferred to the Trustees of the Library for library purposes. In the letter of January 25, therefore, the approval of your Honor and of the Honorable the Members of the City Council was requested for the transfer of the property to the Trustees of the Library.

As a result of an expression of interest both by your Honor and by the South Boston Neighborhood Rehabilitation and Conservation Committee the trustees on February 19 again considered the matter of selection of a site. It was their decision to abandon the use of the Hawes Hall and Simonds school properties as a site for the erection of the new branch library building and to take steps to secure the site of the Frederic W. Lincoln School on East Broadway. Upon request of the Trustees of the Library the School Committee on April 5 adopted orders rescinding the order of January 11 relative to the Hawes Hall and Simonds schools and relinquishing the site of the Frederic W. Lincoln School in favor of the Trustees of the Library.

In view of the availability of the site the trustees now request the approval of your Honor for the transfer to them of the Frederic W. Lincoln School site, and ask respectfully that the approval of the Honorable the Members of the City Council be in turn requested in order that the work of planning and constructing the new library building may proceed.

Respectfully,

The Trustees of the Public Library

by PATRICK F. McDONALD, President.

City of Boston,

School Committee, April 5, 1954.

Ordered, That the Frederic W. Lincoln School site, Broadway, South Boston, and only, is no longer required for school purposes, and that the School Committee of the City of Boston, under General Laws, chapter 40, section 15A, and the powers contained therein, recommends that the land be transferred to the Trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston for library purposes. On roll call the order passed by the following vote:

Yeas—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerold, Mr. Lee, and Mr. Musco—4.

Nays—0.

Absent—Mr. Ward—1.

A true copy.

Attest:

AONES E. REYNOLDS, Secretary.

Whereas, The City of Boston is the owner in fee of approximately twenty-four thousand five hundred (24,500) square feet of land, with building thereon (known as the Lincoln School), on the northerly side of East Broadway, South Boston district of the City of Boston, held by said city for school purposes; and

Whereas, The School Committee of the City of Boston has determined that said land and building are no longer required for school purposes; and

Whereas, The Trustees of the Public Library desire to acquire the site for library purposes; now, therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That the school site, hereinafter described, be, and the same hereby is, transferred from the care, custody, control, and management of the School Committee to the care, custody, control, and management of the Library Department, for library purposes.

Said parcel of land is bounded and described as follows:

Southerly by East Broadway, one hundred forty (140) feet; westerly by land formerly of William W. Doherty and land formerly of Francis L. REPORT OF FINANCE COMMISSION ON HEALTH UNIT BUILDINGS AND HEALTH DEPARTMENT BUILDING IN HAYMARKET SQUARE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Finance Commission, May 24, 1954.
To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council.

On May 7, 1954, the Finance Commission reported to you concerning the physical condition of the various health units. The purpose of that communication was to alert you to the need of early action, not only to prevent further deterioration of these structures, but to enlist your efforts to require that they be kept in better condition than has prevailed for a long time. Obviously these properties should be an inspiration of good order and cleanliness to the thousands who are served by them.

In the annual determination by the Health Department itself of the amount of money needed for proper maintenance of the buildings under its control, not enough attention has been paid to the physical condition of these properties. The fact of the matter is that the department was invariably given approximately the amount estimated as needed for maintenance of its buildings. Nevertheless, it is now apparent that representatives of the Health Department never asked for enough to provide timely and proper care of them. Consideration of appropriation must start with departmental requests.

The Finance Commission deems it advisable to refer again to this situation because, as the result of expressed misunderstandings of the Commission's purpose in its previous report, the responsibility for the existing conditions was unwarrantedly assumed to be in the appropriating authority. This might result in defeating the purpose of the report. In the opinion of the Finance Commission, the failure to provide sufficient funds to maintain the health units properly was due to the failure of the Health Department to plan properly a maintenance program and to ask for the funds to carry it out. Now, in addition to re-emphasizing its recommendations in the previous report in regard to the health units, the Finance Commission desires to call attention to the building in Haymarket square occupied as the headquarters of the Health Department.

This building is structurally sound, but it is not kept clean or in good repair inside. Its activities within the building are scattered; in some spots it is overcrowded, in other parts there is space wasted. Its laboratories are not efficiently organized. It has an unduly large custodial force, there being seven employees at a payroll cost of $23,500 per year, and this force is not capably directed to ensure a uniformly clean condition inside. Despite the ordinance requirement (chapter 25), that the custodial care be the responsibility of the Health Commissioner (since it is occupied entirely by the Health Department), custodial care is left to the Public Buildings Department. It is evident in the condition of it that this latter department has not had a proper appreciation of what the inside of the central building of the Health Department should look like.

The Haymarket Square Relief Station was constructed in 1901-1902 as a downtown hospital. After that facility was discontinued, the Health Department, needing more space than had been assigned to it in the City Hall Annex, took over the building. The property has been valued by the assessors for many years at $401,000. The land area is about 12,500 square feet. On each side there is a busy thoroughfare; underneath part of it is the approach to the subway connecting the North Station elevated station with Haymarket square, Adams square and Park street and beyond. Close to it on the Washington Street side is the elevated highway now under construction. Undoubtedly, this present street condition causes much more than a normal amount of dirt to filter into the building.

The Finance Commission believes that this property should be sold and made available for private use, which ought to mean substantial taxes. From the proceeds of the sale, the Health Department could undoubtedly be provided with a suitable new building for a headquarters, which would be more efficient and more economical to operate.

Consideration should be given to location of this proposed new Health Department headquarters in a more central location than the present, preferably in a medical center like the area about the City Hospital. An expensive site in the downtown business area is not necessary.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD F. MULLEN, Chairman,
LEO J. DUNN,
EDWARD U. LEE,
ROGER J. AMAZIA, M.D.,
H. W. DWIGHT RUDD,
The Finance Commission.

ROBERT E. CUNIFF,
Secretary.
Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

ADOPTION OF FIRE PREVENTION CODE.

Coun. PIEMONTE offered the following:

Section 1. Adoption of Fire Prevention Code. There is hereby adopted by the City of Boston for the purpose of prescribing regulations governing conditions hazardous to life and property from fire or explosion, that certain code known as the Fire Prevention Code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, being particularly the 1953 edition thereof and the whole thereof, save and except such portions as are hereinafter deleted, modified or amended and the same are hereby adopted and incorporated as fully as if set out at length herein, and from the date on which this ordinance shall take effect, the provisions thereof shall be controlling within the limits of the City of Boston.

NOTE.—The Fire Prevention Code does not cover such features of life-safety in buildings as are normally considered proper for inclusion in a building code. For example, requirements as to number, type and width of exits from buildings are normally covered in building codes and therefore are not included in the Fire Prevention Code. If a suitable building code is not in effect, it is recommended that consideration be given to adopting the National Building Code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters as a companion document to the Fire Prevention Code.

In the absence of building laws covering exits, the Fire Prevention Bureau may find it helpful to use the National Building Code as a guide to good practice.

Permits and licenses covered by section 1.11 of the Fire Prevention Code and required in various articles (see index for list of locations) are for the purpose of giving the Bureau of Fire Prevention more effective control over hazardous conditions regulated by the code. Where fees are charged for such licenses or permits it is desirable that the money for fees be handled by some agency other than the Fire Department, to avoid the impression that inspections are made for obtaining the fees rather than for providing fire prevention service.

Section 2. Establishment and Duties of Bureau of Fire Prevention.

(a) The Fire Prevention Code shall be enforced by the Bureau of Fire Prevention in the Fire Department of the City of Boston which is hereby established and which shall be operated under the supervision of the Chief of the Fire Department.

(b) The Chief (or Fire Marshal) in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall be appointed by the Mayor on the basis of examination to determine his qualifications. His appointment shall continue during good behavior and satisfactory service, and he shall not be removed from office except for cause after public trial.

(c) The Chief of the Fire Department may detail such members of the Fire Department as inspectors as shall from time to time be necessary. The Chief of the Fire Department shall recommend to the Mayor the employment of technical inspectors, who, when such authorization is made, shall be selected through an examination to determine their fitness for the position. The examination shall be open to members and nonmembers of the Fire Department, and appointments made after examination shall be for an indefinite term with removal only for cause.

Section 3. Definitions. Wherever the word "Municipality" is used in the Fire Prevention Code, it shall be held to mean the City of Boston.

Section 4. Establishment of Limits of Districts in Which Storage of Flammable Liquids in Outside, Above-Ground Tanks Is To Be Prohibited.

(a) The limits referred to in section 15.201 of the Fire Prevention Code in which storage of flammable liquids in outside, above-ground tanks is prohibited, are hereby established as follows: as are now existing and as may be established by the Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention of the Boston Fire Department.

(b) The limits referred to in section 15.401 of the Fire Prevention Code, in which new bulk plants for flammable liquids are prohibited, are hereby established as follows: as are now existing and as may be established by the Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention of the Boston Fire Department.

NOTE.—These limits should include such areas as those zoned solely for residential occupancies, and for mercantile establishments primarily retail in character.

Section 5. Establishment of Limits in Which Bulk Storage of Liquefied Petroleum Gases Is To Be Restricted.

The limits referred to in section 20.06a of the Fire Prevention Code, in which bulk storage of liquefied petroleum gas is restricted, are hereby established as follows: as are now existing and as may be established by the Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention of the Boston Fire Department.

NOTE.—These limits should include the heavily populated and the congested commercial areas.

Section 6. Modifications.

The Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall have power to modify any of the provisions of the Fire Prevention Code upon application in writing by the owner or lessee, or his duly authorized agent, when there are practical difficulties in the way of carrying out the strict letter of the code, provided that the spirit of the code shall be observed, public safety secured, and substantial justice done. The particulars of such modification when granted or allowed and the decision of the Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention thereon shall be entered upon the records of the department and a signed copy shall be furnished the applicant.

Section 7. Appeals.

Whenever the Chief of the Fire Department shall disapprove an application or refuse to grant a license or permit applied for, or when it is claimed that the provisions of the code do not apply or that the true intent and meaning of the code have been misconstrued or wrongly interpreted, the applicant may appeal from the decision of the Chief of the Fire Department to the Zoning Board within 30 days from the date of the decision of the appeal.

Note.—Fill in body to which appeal should be made.

Section 8. New Materials, Processes or Occupancies Which May Require Permits.

The Mayor, the Chief of the Fire Department, and the Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall act as a committee to determine and specify, after giving affected persons an opportunity to be heard, any new materials, processes or occupancies, which shall require permits, in addition to those now enumerated in said code. The Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall post such list in a conspicuous place in his office, and distribute copies thereof to interested persons.

Section 9. Penalties.

(a) Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of the code hereby adopted or fail to comply therewith, or who shall violate or fail to comply with any order made thereunder, or who shall build in violation of any detailed statement of specifications or plans submitted and approved thereunder, or any certificate or permit issued thereunder, and from which no appeal has been taken, or who shall fail to comply with such an order as affirmed or modified by the Fire Department or by a court of competent jurisdiction, within the time fixed herein, shall severally for each and every such violation and noncompliance respectively, be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $1,000, or by imprisonment for not less than nor more than one year by both such fine and imprisonment. The imposition of one penalty for any violation shall not excuse the violation or permit it to continue; and all such persons shall be required to correct or remedy such violations or defects within a reasonable time; and when not otherwise specified, each ten days that prohibited conditions are maintained shall constitute a separate offense.

(b) The application of the above penalty shall not be held to prevent the enforced removal of prohibited conditions.

Section 10. Repeal of Conflicting Ordinances. All former ordinances or parts thereof conflicting or inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance or of the code hereby adopted are hereby repealed.

Note.—It might be well, as is sometimes done, to certify definitely the ordinances or parts of ordinances which are intended to be repealed.

Section 11. Validity.

Should any section, paragraph, sentence, or word of this ordinance or of the code hereby adopted be declared for any reason to be invalid, it is the intent of the Council and Mayor that it would have passed all other portions of this ordinance independent of the elimination herefrom of any such portion as may be declared invalid.

Section 12. Date of Effect.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its approval as required by law. (Accompanying the foregoing ordinance is the 1953 Edition of the Fire Prevention Code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.)

Referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

BEHIND THE WHEEL DRIVER EDUCATION PROGRAM

Superintendent: Does the Committee wish to take any action on this matter, Mr. Chairman?

Mr. Ward: Why can't we lay this over?

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, weren't you interested in this item?

Chairman: It was the hope of the Chairman that this course would be started by the end of March.

Mr. Ward: I am perfectly willing to discuss it. It is a debatable thing. If there is going to be a long debate on it, I would rather hold it over.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, to me it is a very different, pioneering sort of a step. As you know, I very much doubted its wisdom, and to me it is significant enough so that if it is going to come up for action I would like to debate it in a public meeting so that there will be no question on how I feel on the issue.

This is a matter on which I feel fairly strongly. It involves not only what our children learn but it involves what money we spend from the taxpayer. It is something new and different and certainly worth a good deal of discussion in my judgment. Anyway, I wish to express my opposition at reasonable length at an open meeting. I do not care if you want to postpone it. That is perfectly all right with me.

Chairman: Do you want to put it over, Mr. Ward?

Mr. Ward: If it is going to be a debatable question, I would like to put it over. I think Mr. Lee should have every opportunity to debate this subject. I think he should have all the time he wants, and I think it should be one of those things to be debated fully. If, as you say, there is more or less of a deadline on it, I think Mr. Lee should be allowed to discuss it fully if he is prepared tonight. I don't know whether he is. I assume he would be.

Chairman: There is no objection to finding out the status of the thing or how far we have gone with it, is there?

Mr. Ward: I can explain my position very clearly on it, but Mr. Lee's position is probably opposite to my position on this matter. However, I want Mr. Lee to have every opportunity to discuss his position. That is all.

Chairman: Mr. Superintendent, how far have we gone on this program? Is there a possibility that we will have automobiles on the road within a short time?

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman, we won't until the School Committee takes action. You remember there was considerable delay because the Corporation Counsel wanted to be sure that the contract between the School Department and the automobile dealers followed along certain lines, and back in January—

Mr. Ward: Mr. Superintendent, I don't think that is what Mr. Lee is so concerned about—how the contract was drawn up by the Corporation Counsel. I think his point is either for or against the matter on its merits. Am I right, Mr. Lee—that the contract and the Law Department are sort of immaterial? That is not at issue.

Chairman: I think, Mr. Ward, that the Superintendent was giving us that background in answer to my question on the status of the program and where it stands now and just how soon it could be put into effect.

Superintendent: So we have the contract now.

Mr. Ward: You have the contract completed?

Superintendent: That is right. Mr. Ward: It is just ready for the passage of this order?

Superintendent: We have the type of contract that the School Committee would sign with the automobile dealers. We have a Ford dealer who will give us two cars—at least he was willing sometime ago to give us more than two. We have a Chevrolet dealer who will give us one car or two cars. My original recommendation, Mr. Chairman, was that we start this plan in a pilot fashion with two schools and two cars, one Ford and one Chevrolet, and that we start it at Hyde Park High School, at one extreme of the City, and Charlestown, at the other extreme of the City, and work out a pattern with two cars and two teachers and then gradually iron out any loopholes or bugs that might come up in it before we embarked upon it to a greater degree—which the Committee might see fit to do next year.

We have put in the preliminary estimates sufficient money to really carry this out for two automobiles.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the superintendent a question on this pilot program. Would the two teachers who teach this driver education in the various extremes at Hyde Park and at Charlestown be teachers whose entire program was teaching driver education and who took the youngsters only from Charlestown or youngsters from a representative area around Charlestown or Hyde Park, as the case might be? I mean, just how would the opportunity to take driver education be given to the youngsters, and how much time would the teachers give to it?

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman, it would have to be limited at the present time to one school, I would say. In other words, if we started this now, even by June of this year, that teacher would not have completed all of the behind-the-wheel driver education in Charlestown High School by June, nor would the Hyde Park teacher have completed it by June.

However, my original thought was that we would get it started in two schools and then see how it worked out. Then the School Committee could expand it according to the amount of money that they wished to put in the budget for 1955.

However, by starting in two spots we would learn all the pitfalls that naturally would arise in these two spots and then perhaps next year, if we were limited to two, we would move those two teachers to two different schools.

It could happen, Miss Fitzgerald, that if we had started this in September, as we had originally thought we would, we might be in a second set of schools—a second pair of schools—by the first of February in some form or other.

We really have to do some experimenting, and that is why I used the phrase, "Two pilot schools."

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Superintendent, on the students who take the driver training program, first of all would they be getting school credit for taking this program, and also would they be limited to youngsters who actually are going to get their driver's license?

In other words, it is for a youngster who really has turned sixteen and is actually going to drive an automobile, either his father's or perhaps his own—is that right?

Superintendent: Miss Fitzgerald, it would be entirely on a voluntary basis by the pupils. For instance, Hyde Park High School has perhaps 900 pupils. Is that right, Mr. Daley?

Mr. Daley: Approximately, sir. Superintendent: Approximately 900. It could happen, Miss Fitzgerald, that out at the Hyde Park High School there might be 300 or 400 pupils, all of whom would want to take this behind-the-wheel driver education.

The head master would have to work out a plan and pick pupils who had free periods—

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, I move that this matter be suspended until the public meeting, and the record could be clarified.

Superintendent: Do you mean after I finish answering Miss Fitzgerald's question?

Mr. Ward: That's right.

Superintendent: And that what Mr. Lee had in mind should become a part of the public record?

Mr. Ward: Yes.

Superintendent: Whatever Mr. Lee would say now in conference might well be made a part of the public record if he should express his point of view now.

Mr. Lee: That is all right with me.

Mr. Ward: That is right.

Superintendent: And then it would save us from going into public meeting and back into conference and returning again to the public meeting.

Mr. Lee: Of course, what anybody else says, by common consent, will go into the record if they so desire.

Miss Fitzgerald: The only other thing, Mr. Chairman, was that I could visualize a number of youngsters in a high school wanting to take this program, but I would think that there should be some limitation on a youngster who is actually going to work to get his license. That is number one. He might learn to drive in order to become employed after school, which I can foresee and visualize. It seems to me that some youngsters would want to take it just to take it—just because it is a novelty.

Mr. Superintendent: Miss Fitzgerald, you are so right. For instance, out at Hyde Park High School I would think that Mr. Horgan, working under Mr. Gillis in this particular program—and he has charge of the behind-the-wheel driver education—might perhaps ask for all of those who would obtain a position next summer if they could drive an automobile and get some promise of employment as evidence to show that the youngsters are not simply saying that. That might be one way of starting out with a certain group.

Mr. Gillis: They have to be sixteen years old.

Superintendent: In other words, those over sixteen—those who could show promise of employment if they can drive and those whose parents have cars and whose parents are anxious to have them drive. There could be a priority list that would be in the best interests of the school as a whole which would be set up, and then those youngsters could be taken in that particular order.

It could be that this car would be used afternoons in addition to regular day school time by this teacher on an afternoon sessional basis where we would pay him a certain amount of money for a session. It could be that this could be carried over almost into the evening schools, could it not, Mr. Gillis?

Mr. Gillis: Every person who has access to driving a car under twenty-five will apply for the training, whether he is in school or out of school, because if he gets the certificate it will reduce the premium that whoever owns the car has to pay.

Superintendent: In other words, a graduate of our schools of last year who is nineteen years old might apply to take this training late afternoons or evenings.

Mr. Gillis: We have had married women aged twenty-two and twenty-three call up. Everybody under twenty-five in the neighborhood will want it. They don't have to be going to school.

Mr. Daley: No.

Mr. Gillis: Everybody under twenty-five.

Superintendent: We would take care of our school pupils during school time first, and we would perhaps take care of others afternoons according to some priority. That is why, Mr. Chairman, I said we would have to use these schools as pilot schools to try to decide how to approach this problem effectively.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Musco, did you have any other questions to ask concerning the subject of driver training programs?

Mr. Musco: Mr. Superintendent, I notice in your Superintendent's Report of 1952-53 that on Page 39 you mention that fourteen high schools have driver education classes. Four of these schools have expressed a desire for driver-training cars during the coming school year.

Do they have classroom instruction at the present time?

Superintendent: We have regular classroom instruction but not behind-the-wheel driver education. Would you want to describe that, Dr. Gillis?

Dr. Gillis: There are two parts to the complete course. One is fifteen hours of classroom instruction and one is ten hours of actual driving. Many schools in the high school level have the fifteen hours. No school has the ten hours. If it happened at any school where we sent a car that they did not have the fifteen hours or the ten hours, they would institute it right away. It is not necessary that they take either one first or second, but in order to get the certificate from the Registry they must complete both.

Mr. Musco: So that actually we are in the process of giving theoretical instruction of fifteen hours?

Dr. Gillis: Yes, Mr. Musco.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Lee, did you have any question?

Mr. Lee: Yes. I want to present opposition to this idea in two parts. The first part will be debatable. I hope the Committee agrees with me. I think the second part will be so conclusive that the Committee will wish to agree.

Before beginning, I would like to say that I do not object to that part of the program which contemplates classroom discussions and classroom instruction. I think that is all to the good. Nor do I have any feud with the machine known as an automobile.

I invented a device that greatly increased the safety of automobile driving, and I always used it on my own car. I believe that the same principle is now being used in the modern cars.

But to get to the considerations why I think we should not do this, I would point out that I think we are on the brink of an age in American education where the dispersion process is going to stop, where the dissipation of our schooling in hundreds of different directions is not going to go further, and where the emphasis is going to be on a coming home to the vital thing inside a person—the vital resources of spirit and of knowledge which have carried men through life in times gone by and surely will in the future.

To me life, or the expansion of life, does not lie in teaching children how to drive automobiles. They are hurried through childhood already; they miss the most precious part of their lives, and are ill equipped to become mature by the hurried pace of modern childhood. To hasten that by putting them in an automobile prematurely or with encouragements which without us they would not have, seems to me moving in the wrong direction.

I think there is more life in our youngsters' getting around on two feet and learning there is such a thing as two feet than getting around on four wheels. I have also pointed out the anxiety it causes parents to have youngsters clamoring for a car and getting a car or getting use of their parents' car and being under tremendous pressure from their associates to take this group to a dance and that group to a dance and not come home until the small hours of the morning.

It is certainly doing the parents of the City a great disservice by putting an extremely difficult instrument of our civilization prematurely and with the blessing of the school system in the hands of an already too fast growing youth.

But those points I have more or less gone over with you before. I have pointed out before that people seem to care more about their cars than their children. Our cars have taken over our streets. Even when they are not moving, they are parked so that youngsters cannot use the streets for play; and what the power of King George could not do—that is stop Boston boys from playing on the streets, as every schoolboy knows from his history—the automobile industry has done.

Today the City streets—which is one-tenth of the City—are no longer the concourses for youngsters to meet on for games of prisoner's base or passing of softball to and fro, or "White men and Indians."

They have become the play courts and the dromes of pleasure cars and adult recreation. But all that I have brought up before—and I only say you will be intensifying an already tense situation by pushing this matter further.

But now let me come down to considerations which seem to me less debatable, and in my judgment admit of no room for debate. We plan to hire two teachers, I understand, for this purpose. I think our maximum salary is going to be $5900—or is it already that for our high school teachers?

Superintendent: About $5300, I think now, isn't it, Mr. Bond?

Mr. Bond: $5496.

Mr. Lee: Let's assume that these two men are getting $5,000 a year. I believe they are teaching 182 days of school or something like that. In other words, they are getting about $28 a day.

You can see that if it was 200 days of school at $5,000 a year, they would be getting $25 a day; and so it is a little more than that, $28 a day.

I don't think they will teach driving more than seven hours in a day at the wheel.

Superintendent: I would think less than that—perhaps six hours.

Mr. Lee: Let's say seven hours. That is $4 an hour. Now the book which is gotten out by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on this matter says that the pupils will complete the training course in twenty-eight to thirty-two hours of behind-the-wheel training, and it puts behind-the-wheel training in italics.

Now we will call twenty-eight to thirty-two hours—thirty hours. If you are going to put two boys in a car, the pair of them will have the services of a teacher or tutor who is paid $4 an hour by the taxpayer for thirty hours. That is $60 apiece for their driving lessons. I don't believe it is even constitutional to spend the public's money for private tutors for the private convenience of our youngsters.

But the cost of the teacher is not all. The $60 which it will cost us to so train a youngster is not all. The car costs something. By the present figures I think the car and its expenses add about 50% to the cost of the instruction, so now it is $90 per pupil.

If he gets a lesson every day for an hour a day in a five-day school week to make up thirty hours, it will take him six weeks; but there are seven hours in that day, so at least seven different batches of youngsters can be taught during a school day, a new batch each hour. There are to be two in the car.

But in any case, if I can find my figures here, there is only a limited number of six-week periods in the school year. I should judge there are about six six-week periods in the school year. I think there are only about thirty-six weeks to the school year; and if it took six weeks for a youngster to drive to make up his thirty hours, that process can be repeated only six times or so in the course of the school year.

So that if two youngsters can be handled at the same time in the car, and there are seven teaching hours in the day, then fourteen youngsters could be learning in one car with one driver during one six-week period.

So you repeat that process six times over, dropping one group who have learned and beginning on a second group who are taking it up, and you can reach perhaps eighty-four pupils with one car in the course of a year.

Now at least notice that you are spending about $90 on each youngster. I think his whole schooling costs about $300. Is that right, Mr. Superintendent?

Superintendent: I think the high school tuition is $400.

Mr. Lee: You are adding about 25% to what the taxpayer has to pay for our schooling. You can imagine how our school budget will look when we do this with a great many more children.

Now, surely we are not going to stop at two children. But suppose we were moderate, and expanded this program, after the pilot project, to only half of our senior pupils. I think that would be some 3,000 youngsters—3,000 seniors, half of a 6,000 senior class of boys and girls in our high schools—learning each year and perhaps employing thirty-five automobiles.

Now, the $90 apiece would come to $250,000—about a quarter of a million dollars. That is what we would be adding to the school budget if we made this training available to those who want it, and have not even mentioned those who are over eighteen and who have gotten out of school whom Dr. Gillis brings to our attention and who have a right to public education, which might greatly bring our cost up—probably to a million dollars a year.

If you confine it only to a few youngsters, how are you going to discriminate? How are you going to ask the taxpayers to give a special benefit to a few specially privileged children? And if you expand the program the way we do with the rest of our school instruction, for all those who want it, then you will be adding a quarter of a million dollars at least to your budget.

I have not heard any of the youngsters whom I talked to—and I see a good many of them—ask or express any interest in this driver-training course; but apparently parents express some interest if the parents own a car and perhaps live in the suburbs, in the outlying parts of the City, and want their children to drive.

It seems that some recent law was passed whereby the liability insurance—the insurance against claims for injury on a car—is greater if a child has not learned to drive in a school, and the insurance is less if a driver has learned to drive. In other words, the parent would save, I understand, about $20 on the amount of the compulsory insurance he pays for his automobile if his child was taught to drive in our Boston schools.

So what is happening? The taxpayers are being asked to pay $90 for every child who learns to drive in order to save that child's parent $20.

It strikes me that if the parent wants to save $20, he can just as well take the time to teach his son or let some older brother teach the son or some cousin or some automobile school, and there is one right here in Boston—I guess several of them—instead of asking taxpayers or compelling taxpayers at the point of a sword, for our taxing power is backed by the force of the Government, to fork out $90 for every youngster taught to drive, merely so that the parent or that child can be saved $20.

I submit therefore that the matter is absolutely out of line, from a budget point of view, and is bad education to start with, and I hope you will vote against it.

Mr. Ward: Madam Chairman, I have listened to Mr. Lee, and there is a great deal of merit in what he has to say. I am looking at this point. I am not so concerned about two automobiles and two men at $5900 a year, or whatever the salary may be, as I am about the fact that in five or six years, like everything does in school programs, you are liable to have fifty cars and 100 drivers. That is the thing we must guard against.

I am in favor of a program of teaching children who are unable to be taught themselves. In the case where a child is able to be taught at home, I believe he should be taught by his parents, but I am thinking of the child who is unable to be taught to drive a car.

However, I think that what Mr. Lee says is that the schools are for education and for the three R's. We take in all of these problems that even do not become school problems, and then they are enlarged on and they grow and grow, and the first thing you have seventy-five cars in the school system and you have 150 drivers—and they are teacher-drivers.

I wonder, Mr. Superintendent, if this program is going through, if we could do this better under a contract system with either the Ford Company or the Chevrolet Company without going into having a teacher driver? I mean it does not necessarily seem to me that there should be the word "teacher" applied here. That brings with it the idea of a degree and that a person who teaches a child how to drive a car should have a degree or should be paid the same as a teacher who teaches in our elementary schools or who teaches in our high schools and should be classified in the same way because in driving a car you don't necessarily need a degree, and this program, of course, will call for a teacher driver, and a teacher in our system denotes possession of a degree. They have a degree for somebody who is going to teach a child to drive an automobile.

I would like to know, Mr. Superintendent, if there is any way whereby we could, through the Chevrolet Company or through the Ford Company, contract with those people the same as our children go out for religious education to their various churches. I wonder if we could go out there and if they could take a contract and take four or five or six children each day and teach them how to drive an automobile. Then we would give the child credits, if credits were necessary, within the school system for having been taught how to drive an automobile and give time off for driver-training.

I still believe that the child should be able to drive a car. Mr. Lee at the outset expressed the opinion that the children should walk. Well, I rather disagree with him on that particular point because I think everybody is governed by the spot in which they live. In the street that I live on I would not want to see my children walk. It is a dark street; and if they go to the drugstore, it is probably a quarter of a mile and I would be a little bit cautious about the children walking down. I would rather have my boy, who drives a car, take his sister down to the drugstore in a car rather than walk down a street where I don't know what might happen.

I would not be so concerned about that as I would about the enlargement of the program that starts off simply with two cars and two drivers and then ends up after five years with probably fifty cars and one hundred drivers in the teacher program.

My question now to the Superintendent is this: Is there any way, Mr. Superintendent, whereby we can contract with the Ford Company and the Chevrolet Company to take these children and let the companies teach them how to drive and give the children credits for it? Have any offers of that type been made to you?

Superintendent: Miss Fitzgerald, in answer to Mr. Ward may I say that no offers of that particular nature have been made to us. I think perhaps that the law says 'school behind-the-wheel driver education.' Do you know how the law reads, Mr. Gillis? Would any youngster who learns to drive at a private school be entitled to the 20%?

Mr. Gillis: Anybody who holds a certificate issued by the Registry of Motor Vehicles gets the reduction.

Chairman: Under the last School Committee when this subject came up before, it was suggested by one member that we contact the private automobile driving schools and possibly work out some program with them. I recall at that time that I inquired more or less extensively into this program, and I contacted the people in the Lynn schools and the people in Natick, and that question had come up before their School Committees at that time, and there was no way by which they could work it out to the satisfaction of the school officials.

In answer to Mr. Ward's objection or his feeling that it did not necessarily mean that we had to have a teacher, I think the program by its very nature demands that we have a qualified teacher. There are plenty of people who are expert drivers, but when it comes to teaching the fundamentals and the theory of safe driving, I think we should have that guarantee that they are able to teach.

There are many people who are authorities in their own line, but when it comes to imparting knowledge to others, they have great difficulty.

I think that that is one of the vital parts of this program — that they are teachers; and I don't think the purpose of the program is so much to teach people to drive as it is to teach those children who are driving now to drive safely. I think that is the prime purpose of this certification course that is given by the Registry of Motor Vehicles—to insure their driving safely through our streets; and of course the Department of Insurance has recognized that program as sponsored by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, and have been giving a reduction in the insurance premiums as a result of it.

I think that it is incumbent upon this Committee to make this available to the pupils of Boston, and I hope they will.

Superintendent: Miss Fitzgerald, I think this might throw further light upon the question, that Mr. Ward asked.

Back in October of 1952, as Mr. Carr pointed out to you, the then School Committee inquired into the possibility of having this work done by a private driver-training school; and, as a result, Mr. Gillis wrote a letter to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Superintendent, I have no thought in mind of any private automobile school. I think I distinctly said that the Chevrolet Company or the Ford Company, which are responsible companies, could be asked if they could do this work.

I was not proposing having automobile driving schools do this work. I don't say they are irresponsible, but I say they are not as responsible as would be the Ford Company or the Chevrolet Company.

If either Chevrolet or Ford want to run the school, I am for their having a school.

Mr. Carr: Miss Fitzgerald, I think that we have the Ford Company and the Chevrolet people supplying the automobile at a very moderate price. Of course, it is in return for the advertising that they might receive from such offering of their vehicle, but I doubt very much if you would find them going to the expense of conducting a course for our school children or any school children.

Mr. Ward: As Mr. Lee recognizes, I am heartily in favor of this course. I want to see children taught; but, as Mr. Lee brought out, it is like the Gillette Safety Razor. They give you the razor. Then, after that, you have to buy the blades.

The razor is free and the Ford and the Chevrolet Companies give you the first car, but then after a while you are going to have a course in every school and after that you will have to buy those cars, Mr. Superintendent. You will have to raise the money to buy them.

Mr. Carr: In answer to Mr. Ward, Miss Fitzgerald, as far as Lynn is concerned, they have never had to buy one, and they have had this program now for several years. In the case of Natick, the local dealer—I think it is a Chevrolet dealer—is glad to take the old car as a turn-in and put a new car on the road each year.

Mr. Ward: I will go along with this program with the understanding that next year they don't come in here and say, "We want to buy four Fords or four Chevrolets, and put eight more teachers on."

That is the thing that I think we have to guard against, more than anything else. I am not opposed to the program as far as the program itself goes, but I am opposed to an arrangement like the safety razor situation. They give you a razor, and then you buy blades for the rest of your life. It may possibly be they give you the first two cars and then you will end up by coming in here and purchasing fifty automobiles and there will be a hundred more teachers who will probably go on in five years. That is the main danger of it, and I agree with Mr. Lee on the matter of expenses, and what we might get into. I am in favor of the course, as I say, for the children.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Superintendent, did you want to continue reading your letter?

Mr. Ward: I did not have that in mind. I did not care about the automobile schools that operated the business. I was thinking of the responsible companies like Ford and Chevrolet.

Mr. Carr: Miss Fitzgerald, in answer to Mr. Ward, he is cautious lest we have to buy eight additional automobiles. I think that he will find that they will continue to give these at a very reasonable amount inasmuch as the psychology behind it is that the children who learn on the particular make of automobile will probably stay with it during their adult life, and if they buy an automobile they are more apt to buy that type that they have learned on, and the advertising that they receive from donating these automobiles is thus a consideration with them.

I don't see any difficulty in obtaining automobiles from year to year. As a matter of fact, just this year, without a program at all, we were offered sixteen automobiles at a very reasonable consideration.

Superintendent: Mr. Carr, without any cost at all other than the insurance.

Mr. Carr: And without any solicitation on our part. That is right, Mr. Ward.

Superintendent: Following that offer, Mr. Carr, one of the other dealers from another large company called me on the phone, and he said that he had heard one concern offered sixteen, and I said that was true. He said: "Well, we will offer sixteen of our cars, too, free."

Mr. Ward: That is thirty-two cars.

Mr. Carr: That is right.

Mr. Ward: How many teachers will be needed for the thirty-two cars and how much will that cost?

Superintendent: I think what you say, Mr. Ward, and what Mr. Lee says has a great deal of merit. However, I do think this way. We are a big school system. We spend a great deal of money on educating our children in the way we think they should be educated—for life.

The automobile is here to stay, and I think that we ought to experiment with two cars and two teachers to see how this works out.

I would not like to see this mushroomed into a tremendously heavy item in the budget, but I think that if we start with two we may find that next year we would want to go to four and we might want to shift the schools so that we would go to four different localities. Even if we had as many as twelve cars, we could hit every section of the city every other year.

I would be opposed to any mushrooming of this program. As a matter of fact, I think that many of you know that I objected very strenuously to the sixteen now on the basis that we could not man them, and secondly it would add an item of $75,000 to $100,000 in our budget. However, I would like to see the Committee take what I think is a progressive step and experiment, and we are not going to lose anything by the experiment. We are going to satisfy ourselves that it should be done or it should be dropped, and the investment in the next couple of years on this very moderate scale, I think, would be very desirable for our school system.

Miss Fitzgerald: Are any of the members ready to make a motion concerning this item?

Mr. Lee: I want to debate the matter further. The motion, of course, probably should have come before.

Miss Fitzgerald: Well, is anyone ready to make a motion and then continue debate?

Chairman: I will move that the Superintendent be directed to put into effect his plans for the incorporation in the high school curriculum as soon as possible of a behind-the-wheel driver education program. In line with that order, Miss Fitzgerald, may I say that there are seventy-one school systems in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that already have this, and some of them have had it for several years. To my knowledge it has worked out very successfully, and may I report that the State Department of Insurance has seen fit to grant those people a gratuity, you might call it—to the parents who have to pay the premiums where their children drive the same cars.

It amounts to a sizable sum, and I think we owe it to the people of Boston to put this program into effect or, at least as the Superintendent puts it, to embark on it in a moderate manner. Possibly, if the merits are so evident next year, we might enlarge the program.

I hope the Committee sees fit to go along with this order.

Miss Fitzgerald: On Mr. Carr's motion, Mr. Lee, is there further discussion?

Mr. Lee: I would like to reply to Mr. Ward's point if it is all right with him and the other members. Mr. Ward, you revealed something that was fearful to me—namely, that the City is so unsafe and has fallen to such lamentable disorder that your sixteen-year-old children can't go a quarter of a mile from your home without the protection of the armor of an automobile. Thank Heaven, it is not true in the West End, where I live!

However, assuming that it is true in your section, may I ask why you don't teach them to drive yourself, or some friends of yours?

Mr. Ward: They do, Mr. Lee. My child would not be forced to take this driver course.

Mr. Lee: Then I can see that the parents are able to teach their children and that the need that is brought up here is not as great as it is thought to be.

I pointed out, Mr. Carr, when you were absent, that in order to comply with a state law which gives a lower insurance rate on cars for children who have learned to drive, we are about to spend $90 of the taxpayers' money teaching each of these children to drive in order that their parents can save $20. In other words, somebody else can pay $90 so that one man can save $20.

Chairman: Mr. Lee, it is my impression that it is probably closer to double that amount of $20.

Mr. Lee: All right call it double that. I checked up on that figure, but maybe your sources are better than mine. Call it $40. Even if the saving on insurance was $90, that is no reason why people in one part of the City should pay to tutor some other man's child to the tune of $90 of his money so that other man can save $90 of his money. The thing is on a bad basis to start with.

I would like to refer further to the Superintendent. He says we can make an experiment with a few cars. I say there is no need to have an experiment. I, who seem to be the most articulate opposition here, readily agree that if you spend the large sums on teaching preferred boys how to drive a car they will learn very competently. I think they will be safer drivers. I am not disputing that. So we don't need an experiment to show that they will be safer drivers.

But what we are faced with is the fact that to make those safer drivers costs $90 per pupil and that if you confine it to a few pupils you have to discriminate, and the whole foundation of a public school system breaks down; and if you spread it to even half of the pupils — say 3000 seniors a year — you are spending a quarter of a million dollars in the project every year.

There is no need of experimenting. We all agree that it is very nice to be taught how to drive. It is very nice always to have somebody else pay $90 so that you can get a special benefit, but it is a great burden on the taxpayer and not part of a school system, and a further distraction to youth that is already distracted by the extremely vivid and miscellaneous civilization we live in.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Superintendent, would $90 be the per capita cost in your program of a limited application?

Superintendent: Madam Chairman, I don't think that we figured it would be anything like that. Is that true, Mr. Gillis — $90 per pupil?

Mr. Gillis: I cannot give you any per capita cost on it, Mr. Haley. We have never figured it.

Superintendent: It would appear to me, Mr. Lee, that it would be less than that for the reason that in the first place we perhaps will use one temporary teacher and one permanent teacher—if you have two cars — the reason being that it is difficult to get personnel right at the moment who are equipped to do this particular type of work.

We have some people who are qualified and who have passed all the State requirements, but they prefer to teach in the classroom rather than going out on the road with two pupils in a car.

Mr. Lee: I am only going by this blue book. I am sure I am no authority on how long it takes to learn to drive. This blue book is entitled: "Massachusetts Standard Outline with Selected Materials for Inspectors in Driver Education." It is published and distributed by the Registry of Motor Vehicles of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

On Page 14 it has a section called "Driving Instruction," and it reads as follows:

"Behind the wheel training provides instruction in the actual operation of the motor vehicle. Not more than four students should be trained at one time in each car." That is a figure I overlooked. That would cut my amount in two. That will bring me down to $45, but still high enough. That is for four in a car.

"Experience indicates that the average beginning pupil will complete the training course in twenty-eight to thirty-two hours of behind-the-wheel training, during which time the student will actually have driven a car six to eight hours."

That is where the discrepancy comes in, but nevertheless, he is out in the automobile with the teacher for a total of thirty hours, if I can average twenty-eight and thirty-two to make it thirty.

That does mean six weeks at an hour a day, and if you have four in a car each hour, and with seven hours in a day, that is twenty-eight students who can be processed during that time.

There are seven hours in a day, and four youngsters in a shift of one hour, so you get four times seven pupils who are using that car that week. That is twenty-eight, but they have to keep on using it for six weeks in order to qualify because they are getting only five hours a week, one hour a day for five days, and it will take them six weeks to get the thirty hours. So it takes six weeks to handle twenty-eight youngsters under one driver.

Those twenty-eight are processed in the first six weeks of school. You have six other periods, each six weeks long, coming for the rest of the school year, so you can multiply your twenty-eight by six and you come out with 168 pupils per teacher per year.

Miss Fitzgerald: Isn't it true that only six to eight hours would be behind the wheel?

Superintendent: Yes, but Mr. Lee is pointing out that they would be riding in the car.

Mr. Lee: Those same four will have to monopolize that car, say from nine to ten every morning of the week for six weeks to get in their thirty hours in the car.

Miss Fitzgerald: Is it thirty hours, Mr. Superintendent, behind the wheel, or is it six to eight hours behind the wheel?

Mr. Lee: Six to eight hours, but suppose it is seven hours. That is halfway between six and eight, and there are four of them there. If they are all there thirty hours, each will get seven hours behind the wheel. That is how it works out, but they must all monopolize that car on the first hour of the school day for thirty consecutive school days.

Mr. Gillis: I think, Miss Fitzgerald and Mr. Superintendent, that we could process twenty boys every four weeks, or twenty pupils every four weeks. They must be behind that wheel ten clock hours of sixty minutes, and the Registry has cut down the number that they have recommended from four to two, so every four weeks we could process twenty students. If we have forty weeks, divided by four, that is ten. That would be 200 pupils to one teacher.

Superintendent: That is about what Mr. Lee figured.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Gillis, you said 200 youngsters could be processed by one teacher in the course of a year.

Mr. Gillis: That is right.

Mr. Lee: The driver himself, we will say, is a $5,000 a year man, and then your figures the other day show the cost of the car adds another 50%, usually, to the cost of the teacher; so that if the 200 youngsters would be getting their instruction at the rate of whatever that is—

Superintendent: That would be $7500, Mr. Lee, if you add 50% for the expenses of the car. That would be $35 apiece.

Mr. Lee: $35 apiece, and you would add another 50%.

Superintendent: No, the $5,000 would be the teacher's salary; and then the $2500, if you figured 50% more, would be $7500; and you divide that by 200. So that it would be $37.50 to be accurate, wouldn't it?

Mr. Lee: With the cost of the car added, yes.

Superintendent: Yes — everything.

Mr. Lee: I admit that is a good deal lower than my first figure, which is based on my failure to realize you could get four in a car; but I still present the same case with those figures—almost $40 a youngster is a great deal to spend.

Now, it costs about $10 per youngster at our boating programs on the Charles River, and it has always caused me some worry to think that the taxpayers would have to spend $10 per youngster. That includes maintenance and everything else to teach sailing even though sailing is a much more difficult thing, of course, than running an automobile. But now to jump to $40 for a kind of education which seems to be the least important we could possibly imagine—less important than Arithmetic and English and History and Ethics and Civics — seems very unwise.

Now for the least important and for the silliest of frills we are going to have a teacher to every four pupils. We usually have a teacher to every thirty pupils. I don't see how you could turn the system more upside down. It is going to cost way out of proportion. It adds more than a tenth to his whole tuition.

Chairman: I don't feel that the analogy as drawn by the former speaker to sailboating and this program as we consider it is well drawn. There is no question about the fact that sailing is purely recreational. This has more behind it. It is the safety of the public. It is the safety of the pupils. Many of these pupils will depend upon their skill as drivers for a livelihood. I doubt very much if those taking part in the sailing program devote their lives to the sea, but these boys here are truck drivers and cab drivers. This is an age of speed, and so far, aside from the aeroplane, the automobile is the most common means of transporting the necessities of life and making a livelihood for a great many of our people. I don't think the two things are analogous at all.

Miss Fitzgerald: May I ask the Superintendent a question, or did you want to ask a question, Mr. Museo?

Mr. Museo: No, I would like to express myself. I am of the firm belief that this school system should take the lead in the instruction of teenagers in driver education as it is now in effect in the high schools and complete the other half of the program and give them driver training behind the wheel.

Certainly the School Committee cannot afford to look backward. We have to look ahead, and I am sure that we can control the number of cars and the number of youngsters who are interested. I would like to see it limited to the seniors in the high schools at first, of which there would be approximately 6,000 throughout the entire city.

Now, do we look behind or do we go forward? This particular problem has been in the State Legislature since 1948 when it recognized the importance of both safety and driver education, and a department was established in the Registry of Motor Vehicles and a safety supervisor was established — a supervisor of driver education was established, a position for two assistant supervisors, one for the eastern area in the State and the other for the western area in the State.

I would like also to read into the records this particular item that appeared only yesterday, the 28th of February, in which it is stated:

"Young car drivers are found twice as bad as senior car drivers.

"Automobile drivers under 25 in Massachusetts are not only twice as dangerous as older operators, but in many instances nearly three times as bad. It was claimed yesterday in a survey by a group of insurance companies.

"The survey by the Casualty Insurance Companies, which underwrite auto insurance in the State was developed from 1952 statistics, the latest year for which figures are available.

"According to them, youthful drivers from Chelsea and Revere are the worst offenders, with young operators from Springfield almost as bad. The reports' figures indicate that the recent 60% increase in rates for under-25 drivers and the 27.5% hike in business-used cars were more than justified. If those increases had not been effected, jumps from $2 to $9.50 would have faced car owners in all sections of the State, the report says.

"The $9.50 increases would have had to be paid by Chelsea motorists. Boston car owners would have been assessed an additional $8.50, and Revere drivers would have paid $8.00 more, it was stated."

And it goes on to state emphatically:

"Under-25 drivers from Revere were 170% more costly than older drivers, it was claimed. There was one personal injury claim for every four Revere cars with under-25 drivers and only one claim for every ten cars in the older group. In dollar losses the survey reported that companies had to pay out in accident claims $1.39 for every compulsory premium dollar received from under-25 drivers in Revere. On cars driven by older persons, the companies paid only fifty-four cents for every premium dollar, according to the report."

Now, I must admit that in some cases this might appear costly, but when it is spread over an entire city with approximately 6000 seniors, I think the cost would be rather minimized because of the health and safety angle.

Now I would like to call to your attention again a Boston Public Library News Bulletin that came out today in which a particular write-up says that a driver education series is being held for young adults in the Boston Public Library.

The Library, with the co-operation of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, the Mayor's Automotive Committee, and the Driver Education Committee of the Auto Driving School Association of Massachusetts, will sponsor a series of discussions for young adults entitled "Driving is a family affair." In the branch libraries listed in the article there will be lectures and discussions about three particular items, and the first one is: "How Can You Earn the Privilege to Drive the Family Car?" The second one will be: "Are You a Defensive Driver?" The third one is: "Are you a Sportsmanlike Driver?"

I would like to lay before the Committee the opportunity to give these youngsters a chance to learn how to drive behind the wheel in a practical sense and try to cut down and minimize the hazards and the discourtesy and we should take the lead. We should at least offer these youngsters at a minimum expense the opportunity to learn how to drive safely and with caution.

Mr. Ward: Miss Fitzgerald, I have heard tonight the word "experiment" used. I would agree that twenty years ago this might be an experiment, but I don't think that today you could call this an experiment. As far as the arguments brought forth here tonight, I know that in my own family it does not affect me one iota, because my son has a license to drive a car, and he does not have to take this particular instruction. On the other hand, Mr. Lee has brought up the point that we give a course, and a person who owns an automobile benefits. Instead of paying $20, it costs the school system $40, and of course it costs the taxpayer $40, not the school system.

As Mr. Lee brought out, this is a very debatable question. There is more to it than a question of saying: "Here we are going to teach children to drive safely." I can see the arguments pro and con. I can see the arguments of those who are in favor of it. There is no question about the merits of that argument. I can also see the arguments as expressed by Mr. Lee in opposition to it.

My one fear of this program is that it will be a mushrooming program and that ultimately it is going to mushroom into something that the taxpayer in five or six or seven years is going to be unable to weather.

If you once put a program in and then have to take it out, it looks as if your system is retarded by taking a program out. The same in sports. If we took sports out of the schools, there would be a tremendous amount of opposition. That was one program that I think many of us saw mushroom from just one little thing up to a great big project. When I went to school there were no baseballs, no bats, and no hockey sticks. Today you have every child who plays in a sport supplied with a uniform or with equipment for that sport. When I went to school, if you marched in the parade you bought your own uniform.

So that I am afraid. I am a little skeptical about these new projects going in. The word "experiment" was used. It might have been all right twenty years ago, but today it certainly is no experiment. It is something that has been established, and automobiles today are no luxury. They are a necessity, and that is perhaps one of the arguments of those who favor this particular program — but a program may mushroom into something that may push the Three R's out of the way and we will end up in our school system teaching children nothing but how to drive.

Chairman: Miss Fitzgerald, I would like to point out to Mr. Ward that I think the word "experiment" that has been used here by the different speakers has been used in a relative sense — relative to the Boston School Department. We might call it an experiment because we have never had this program, but this program has gone far beyond the experimental stages in the other school systems. It has been successful. It has been so successful that the State Department of Insurance has recognized the merits of it, and the Registry of Motor Vehicles has been interested in it for many years. I don't think that the fact they have this course available in many of school systems throughout the Commonwealth has detracted from the teaching of the three R's in those particular communities.

So again I think it is an experiment in the sense that we have never had it and we are about to embark on this program.

Mr. Ward: Miss Fitzgerald, I think we all know how we are going to vote; and if everybody is ready, I am ready.

Miss Fitzgerald: Are you ready for the question on Mr. Carr's motion?

Mr. Lee: I would like to summarize my position if I can. First I will make the correction that my $90 per pupil was too high and that with the re-reading of the Commonwealth's Manual I see it should be cut in half. It should be brought down to $45.

There is some question whether it might not be brought down to $37.50. I will make that correction, but my summary of my position is this:

That the motion you have in mind for teaching driving is the frothiest of froth in a school system. It is the external of externals. It is the mere foam on the edge of education. It is dissipating the resources of a great school system and frittering them away in superficialities. The thing is really expressed by Mr. Ward's example that children have to use automobiles as armor to walk about the streets, and I ask you if it is not the problem of this School Committee to make the streets safe to walk upon and not supply cars to protect themselves against robbers and vandals.

We have a boy problem in this community. We have a moral problem and a problem of basic virtue and lawful and respectful behavior toward other people on the part of our youngsters. That is what the school system ought to be going after, not throwing up its hands hopelessly and promoting a course with special access to the automobile and calling it driver education. It is the wrong kind of leadership in the wrong direction.

But summarizing again the financial aspect, if it is only $40 per pupil a year, I believe that if that new law had not passed the Legislature whereby certain parents would save themselves $20 or $30 on automobile insurance there would not be the impetus we see here to spend $40 of somebody else's money teaching one youngster to drive.

I also think that if the automobile industry did not have a stake in this — as Mr. Carr said I believe, once you start to learn in a particular brand of automobile you probably will buy that automobile the rest of your life — if that were not so, if there wasn't the backing of the automobile industry, I think again this whole movement would not have arisen.

I point out further that that is the backing that the proponents of this motion have, whereas at least I can cite the backing of the Lord God Jehovah speaking through the Prophet Zechariah, who, in picturing the perfect days to come, said: "And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in its streets thereof."

You can take your automobile industry, and I will take the other side. And lastly, I urge you to remember that you don't have the responsibility of raising revenues. That is the Mayor's responsibility. It is easier for us than him to spend large sums of the taxpayers' money.

He has asked us to reduce our budget 5%, and to fly in the face of that request by starting in on a project which must either be confined to the special few or enlarged to cost $200,000 a year, is far from complying with the Mayor's very rightful interests in wisely managing the City.

So I urge you, ladies and gentlemen of the Committee, to vote against this proposition, and not think that you can go to Heaven in an automobile.

Miss Fitzgerald: Would anyone care to summarize for the opposing viewpoint?

Mr. Ward: On this motion I just want to state this. I believe that until Mr. Lee had talked upon this matter I had not gone into it probably as deeply as I should have for reasons of my own, perhaps, but I am now prepared to vote with Mr. Lee in opposition to this program.

I think that he has shown these certain points to me that I was not familiar with before. I simply want to make it clear that if there is any misapprehension regarding my own family. I want to bring out the fact that my own boy has an automobile and license and drives, so I will not benefit by any of the program.

I am voting against it because of the very potent argument that Mr. Lee has presented before this Committee tonight, and I did not know that Zechariah was in it; but as long as Zechariah is not in the insurance business—I don't know much about Zechariah out I kind of think that you are a little bit persuasive tonight, Mr. Lee.

Chairman: Miss Fitzgerald, I think the fact remains that the children of Boston regardless of whether we put this program into our school system or not, are going to drive automobiles. Many of them will drive them as a means of making a living subsequent to their graduation; and I think that if it is only going to cost us $40 to teach them to drive safely and in further safety of our pedestrians in Boston, it is well worth it and I hope that the members of the Committee will see fit to pass this order as proposed by me.

Miss Fitzgerald: Then I take it that the members are ready for the question on Mr. Carr's motion?

Mr. Musco: Miss Fitzgerald, I just want to make this point clear—that I have argued the merits of the case and the value of driver education and driver training. I have no axe to grind, and I think the way I feel is in a progressive manner, and that is exactly the way I feel about it. We can't overlook it. We have to keep up with the times, and I think we should give it to these youngsters in high school to do something in relation to this business.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 224 of the Acts of 1936, as amended by Chapter 117 of the Acts of 1949, the following appropriations are made on account to meet in part the cost of "alteration and repair of school buildings and for furniture, fixtures, and means of escape in case of fire, and for fire protection of existing buildings, and for improving existing school yards," for the fiscal year 1954:

Item C Alterations, furniture and equipment for special educational needs	$25,000.00
Item E General Alterations and Repairs	77,000.00

Superintendent of Construction James H. Mooney has informed this Board that the proposed work at the Dorchester High School is very liable to cost more than the preliminary estimate of $77,000.00. However, the Department of School Buildings will proceed with all haste to get the project on the market for public bidding and if the lowest responsible bidder has a quotation which is in excess of the $77,000.00 an additional appropriation will be requested.

At a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of School Buildings which was held this date and at which meeting Chairman Joseph F. O'Connell Jr., and Commissioner Thomas A. Cronin were present and voting, it was Voted to report favorably upon the above proposed order, with the qualifications mentioned, all as provided in Chapter 351 of the Acts of 1929.

WHEREAS, on March 21, 1954, as must come to all men, God, in His Infinite Wisdom and Mercy, has called forth from our midst the late Walter Crawford Howey, journalist, newspaper executive, inventor, and civic leader of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser, we, the members of the Boston School Committee, in meeting assembled, offer the following resolutions in his memory:

RESOLVED, That by the death of Walter Crawford Howey, our city and state have lost a leader whose courageous repertorial endeavors have been filled with an eternal desire for truth and justice for the common man, a man endorsed by his Creator with those talents and virtues which raise him high in the world of his fellow man, an unfailing champion for youth, and a sturdy course against the onslaughts of evil; be it further

RESOLVED, That as the originator of the Massachusetts Youth Committee developed by the Boston-Record-American, of the Hearst newspaper in cooperation with the Boston School Committee, he has contributed to a youth movement which has saved many an erring boy a life of crime. By his courageous and steadfast endeavors he has championed the cause of youth against the evils of juvenile delinquency. His democratic principles, his clubs, and his endeavors will be cherished and valued by youth for many years to come. He has brought to Boston and its surroundings a maxim which all boys love—"A sound mind in a sound body." We stand in humility at his greatness. Hail! and farewell.

Mr. Lee: I am voting "No" because the two lower grades are sardined onto it.

In connection with the relocation of the Girls' High School, Miss Fitzgerald and Mr. Lee asked that their comments in the Conference today pertaining to the relocation of this school be printed in the record of the open meeting.

The following are the comments referred to:

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the Superintendent and/or Mr. Daley one question before we go on to resolve this problem, and that is this:

As you all know, I certainly was in favor of retaining the High School of Practical Arts because I believed that that type of education for young women—that is, which will prepare them primarily for home-making and which leaves them the choice of professional training, if they so wish—is a desirable type of education.

I voted against the abolishing and the combining of the High School of Practical Arts with the Trade High School for Girls which was accomplished by the previous School Committee.

Just as a question of information I would like to ask Mr. Haley and Mr. Daley to comment on whether it is feasible to re-establish the High School of Practical Arts in the High School of Practical Arts building, and then I am perfectly willing to vote on this relocation.

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman, my feeling is this, and I feel certain that it is Mr. Daley's as well. If it is not, Mr. Daley, you certainly may express your point of view.

I feel, now that the High School of Practical Arts has been abolished by the previous Committee and that there has been one year in between the ceasing of the existence of the High School of Practical Arts, that any attempt we might make now to re-establish it would be entirely futile. That is my honest, candid opinion, Mr. Chairman and Miss Fitzgerald.

I know that certain of you are perhaps extremely interested in the home economics course at the Girls' High School. In fact, I know that all of you are. We will make an effort in the new location of the Girls' High School to install gradually in that Girls' High School all that we can of the good elements of the original High School of Practical Arts so that the girls of the city will have a school that will furnish them what Girls' High School has furnished, and will continue to furnish as much of what the former High School of Practical Arts offered as we possibly can comfortably get into the building.

Miss Fitzgerald: I had one more question which I would like to ask unless Mr. Daley would like to comment before I ask it.

Mr. Daley: We shall take steps immediately. We have already taken preliminary steps to utilize the laboratories for cooking and sewing in the building with a transfer of Girls' High School to intensify the courses in those fields.

Miss Fitzgerald: I had one further question, Mr. Chairman, which I would like to ask of the Superintendent; and that is whether, in order to memorialize the existence of a High School of Practical Arts for girls on this site, a plaque of some sort might be placed there if the Committee goes along with this relocation.

In other words, not to have to go out of memory, at least, the fact that a High School of Practical Arts did exist on that site. There might be a plaque of some sort placed in the school hall or some part of the building where it could be displayed prominently where we could mention the fact that on that site was located for such and such a time a High School of Practical Arts and that the Girls' High School is attempting to continue some of the tradition of the High School of Practical Arts. I don't know how feasible that is.

Superintendent: I think that that would be a very appropriate thing to do—possibly giving the names of the three former head masters with the dates of their incumbency. It might record the fact that the High School of Practical Arts was terminated as of July 7, 1953.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I may be objecting to everything tonight, but I don't think that is the way to achieve the desired purpose. That is simply erecting a cenotaph over a dead school; and the building becomes a mausoleum over the grave of that which was once there.

The Superintendent has spoken of trying to keep alive the practical arts courses, and there is no need of calling attention to their demise.

I would like to get a clearer picture of the use of the present facilities for home-making courses. If you use the four present workrooms, you would have the girls virtually following the same course of study that the High School of Practical Arts girls have.

Superintendent: To a considerable degree. That would be true.

Mr. Lee: So either the Girls' High School student body is virtually going to take up the work discontinued by the High School of Practical Arts student body or it is going to go part way. It is going to use the rooms but not use them so fully. There is going to be a basis where certain girls will and certain girls won't.

Mr. Daley: That will take time, Mr. Lee, with the proper counseling. The college course and the commercial course which now exist in the Girls' High School will be followed in the new location—in the relocation of the school.

However, we shall make every effort to encourage more girls who enroll there to utilize the services and the courses which we hope to offer in the field of domestic science.

Superintendent: I would suggest that Mr. Daley take the suggestions of Miss Fitzgerald on the one hand and Mr. Lee on the other, and perhaps at some later time bring in a proposal, either one way or another, for discussion at some future time.

It is something that impresses me this way. I am not straddling this, bear in mind. What Miss Fitzgerald said was wonderful. However, I am tempered a little bit by the other suggestion—that we are going to try to carry this on, and so I am in between a little bit. I would like to have it thought through by Mr. Daley with perhaps some of the Practical Arts people.

Chairman: Suppose we allow it to remain in the hands of the Superintendent.

Superintendent: For report back in a month or so.

Miss Fitzgerald: I would like to say that I am not precluding what Mr. Lee has pointed out. In other words, I am assuming that the Girls' High School is going to continue its curriculum courses which will end in the full use of the cooking and other facilities and workrooms that had been in use at the High School of Practical Arts.

I think that would be very beneficial to the girls of Girls' High School. It might also create the possibility of girls who formerly had gone to the High School of Practical Arts coming back to Girls' High School and taking similar courses of study to those that had been offered at the High School of Practical Arts.

Mr. Daley: We can include in our bulletin to be sent out a list of these practical arts courses which are to be offered.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I have no objection to leaving the decision on that point to the Superintendent provided, of course, that they adopt the easy solution that will make everybody happy and call it the High School of Feminine Arts.

Miss Fitzgerald: I have one thing further. I would like to stress again that it isn't a question of "either-or." I mean that I do not feel that one course would preclude the other. You can do both to achieve the same end and still create and call attention to the fact that a High School of Practical Arts did exist on that site. I think it is done every day in other buildings which come to different uses after having been used for one particular purpose over a period of years.

I would also like to add that the Girls' High School is the older of the two institutions, having passed its centennial a few years ago. So that by precedence the type of education which is offered at Girls' High School certainly has been offered for longer to the girls of Boston than the type of education in the High School of Practical Arts. I have given great consideration and weight to that fact in making my motion.

Chairman: Any further questions?

Mr. Daley: No more than two.

Superintendent: How about the cooking there—the facilities were not too good.

Mr. Daley: They were very limited.

Superintendent: With better facilities, or the best facilities, could you discuss with Mr. McInerney, the present head master, at a time when elections are being made, injecting opportunities for cooking and sewing on the elective blanks so that these girls will know that they are going into a new environment where they will be encouraged to take those two subjects?

Mr. Lee: On the main motion I still want to get the picture as it affects the girls now in Girls' High School who next year will move to the new building.

Is their course of study to date so set up that they can take on some of the old practical arts instruction if they want to?

Mr. Daley: Yes.

Mr. Lee: In some cases and not in others?

Mr. Daley: Those who elect sewing and cooking may still want to take it in the relocation.

Superintendent: May I ask Mr. Daley a question, Mr. Chairman? How many sewing rooms are in use presently at the Girls' High School—two?

Mr. Lee: That is what I had in mind. It would seem to me that even a girl taking a college course must have room for one or two electives, and it could definitely be brought to her attention.

Mr. Daley: I think she may be encouraged, particularly when she see the facilities available.

Superintendent: Mr. Daley, would you be willing to take that up?

Mr. Daley: Yes.

Miss Fitzgerald: I would like to go along with Mr. Lee in urging that Mr. Daley try to emphasize that even with the college course girls they should have some training in the arts of home-making.

Chairman: Are there any objections to the question as now put?

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I want to make an argument in favor of it.

Chairman: I don't think it is necessary.

Mr. Lee: Quite seriously, Mr. Chairman, I do want to point out that I am going along with this, and I urge the other members, too, if they have not already because I think that the High School of Practical Arts was a pioneer in its field, and that phrase might be remembered on any tablet put up, and because I think that its courses in home-making and in family relationships which it started are being extended to other schools throughout the city and anyway should be extended.

So that the High School of Practical Arts has not been killed. It has rather blossomed out and reproduced itself or is about to do so throughout all the girls' schools of the city. It has carried a torch which is being picked up by other girls' schools.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, could I also ask one question about the nursing program that had been at the High School of Practical Arts?

Chairman: Will that be offered in the curriculum?

Miss Fitzgerald: Could that be offered at Girls' High School, or is it feasible?

Mr. Daley: It is offered in the Girls' High School.

You have achieved this objective, as your fine report indicates, through good planning and diligent work.

Present: Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Messrs. Lee, Musco, and Ward.

ELECTION OF SUPERINTENDENT

Chairman: The question now comes on the election of a Superintendent of the Boston Public Schools for a term of six years from Sept. 1, 1954.

I am placing in nomination the name of a man who has been an outstanding educator, a capable administrator, and an efficient executive.

I place in nomination the name of one who has withstood the labors and difficulties of his office, the pressure of our shifting times, the criticism of the skeptics, and unfounded attacks of his enemies. During my membership on the Boston School Committee I have worked with this able and courageous man upon the educational and financial problems of the Boston School Department.

I reserve the right to speak more upon this nomination later in this meeting. I now place in nomination for the position of Superintendent of the Boston Public Schools, the name of Dennis C. Haley.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, I second the nomination.

Chairman: Mr. Ward seconds the nomination.

Mr. Lee: Are there any other nominations, Mr. Chairman?

On roll call, the members, as their names were called, respectively voted as follows:

Miss Fitzgerald: Dennis C. Haley.

I would like at this time to state my reason for voting for the reelection of the present Superintendent.

I feel that the educational and experience qualifications of Dennis C. Haley may well be commented on by others possibly later. These qualifications we all know our Superintendent of Schools possesses.

However, there are invisible qualities of mind and heart which any good superintendent must have. These cannot be attested to by scholarship or by the acquisition of degrees — and our Superintendent has the maximum number of degrees any educator has in the entire nation.

These qualities must be observed first-hand in continual association with the individual. The invisible qualities to which I refer and which I have observed in Dennis C. Haley are these: Integrity, character, courtesy, kindness, and tact. With all of these, he has a cooperative attitude. I have seen him without favor devote his time to the tiniest child, to the distressed parent, to the earnest teacher, and to the members of his School Committee, to whom he must give an account of his stewardship in running the City's schools.

He has run the schools well, and I feel he will do so, if he is reelected, during the next six years. He has the most difficult job in the City, outside of that of our esteemed Mayor. In fact, he has one of the most important and most difficult jobs in the entire nation. In voting for him, my prayers and good wishes are with him.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Haley.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, before I vote, I wish to express my convictions of the past few months, and I haven't changed in the least, because the personal confidence in and admiration for Dr. Dennis C. Haley, Superintendent of Schools, which I have had for many years, have been strengthened in recent months by my on-the-scene observations of his comprehensive and understanding knowledge of the many and varied problems of our large and complex school system.

He is a potent force for what is good in all facets of school life. He has the training and experience, the energy and the courage to continue to direct the Boston schools to even greater achievements. That he is held in high esteem by teachers, by pupils, and by the citizenry of Boston is indicative of the high personal and professional standards which he always exemplified.

Therefore, I am privileged to vote for Dennis C. Haley.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, sometime previous to the election, I was asked a question by a leading Boston newspaper: "Would I vote for the reelection of Dennis C. Haley?" I answered,

"Yes," as did, I believe, Mr. Musco answer "Yes" at that time. I believed it was imperative that Mr. Haley should be reelected as Superintendent of our Boston Schools.

But, Mr. Chairman, I have told Mr. Haley this personally and now express it publicly: I reserve my right not to allow either the Superintendent of Schools or anybody to usurp the powers that the people have vested in me. I perhaps in the next six years, as fond as I am of Mr. Haley, will cross swords with him many, many, many times, and I will not be a stooge, nor will I be a marionette in any instance within this school system.

I believed away back in July that it was imperative that Mr. Haley should be reelected as Superintendent of Schools, and I think that the only other gentleman on this Committee at the present time who felt that way was Mr. Musco. I reiterate the stand that I took last July, and that stand was for Mr. Haley, and I cast my vote now for Mr. Haley.

Chairman: Dr. Dennis C. Haley.

The votes cast here today, the Chair feels, indicate how the members feel about Dr. Dennis C. Haley, and I would like to say that during the past six years, Dr. Haley's administration has been one that the Boston School Committee may point to with pride.

As the administrative and executive head of our school system, you have brought about many distinctive accomplishments. Among these are a few examples of your leadership of which I, as the Chairman of the Boston School Committee, am particularly proud.

You have reorganized the administration of our school system, and have brought our school organization to such a high level that it now stands on the same plane as the school systems of other large cities.

Your functional assignments to each assistant superintendent in the major fields of education have proved to be a great success. Each assistant superintendent is responsible for a single coordinated educational field.

You have developed a curriculum by revising and modernizing a large variety of courses of study. As of this date, there are eighty-four courses of study and publications in process or accomplished.

You have promoted a better and deeper understanding with many racial groups in our City. I know that such a program of tolerance and understanding has always been dear to your heart.

You have encouraged a committee to work upon the question of juvenile delinquency and excellent results are being obtained.

You have attempted to obtain a balance between the spending of the taxpayers' dollars and the educational needs of our City.

You have a $5,000,000 building program which is now in progress with two schools already completed.

Your long-range building program will be an inspiration and an honor in the years to come.

Your deep philosophy of life, sound, cultural, and moral, has been a constant source of happiness to all who know you. You have always placed the material things last, the moral and the ethical things first.

With you as our leader, Dr. Haley, we can face the future with a quiet and deep feeling that the years to come will be glorious years for the Boston School System under your capable leadership.

The Chair declared Dennis C. Haley unanimously elected to the office of Superintendent of Public Schools for a six-year term beginning Sept. 1, 1954.

The Chair declared a recess and asked that Dr. Haley be summoned to the meeting.

(Dr. Haley came into the meeting at this point and was applauded.)

Chairman: It is the pleasure of the Chair, Dr. Haley, to inform you that you have been elected unanimously as Superintendent of the Boston Public Schools. We are very happy for the children of Boston.

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman and Members.

Chairman: Dr. Haley.

Superintendent: I wish to thank the members of the Boston School Committee most heartily for the confidence that they have placed in me in reelecting me Superintendent of Schools.

I wish to emphasize again in 1954, as I did in 1948, that all of the material appurtenances of a great school system such as Boston's would be organized and administered in vain if our method of instruction were not based on a sound educational philosophy, a philosophy that recognizes man's true nature, a philosophy that insists not only upon the sharpening of the intellect in its search for what is true, but also upon the strengthening of the will in its search for what is good.

I can assure the people of Boston that our educational practices will continue to be formulated upon the salutary doctrine that recognizes spiritual and moral values, and that our unflinching aim will be to fulfill the obligation enjoined upon teachers by the memorable Massachusetts Law of 1789, namely, to impress on the minds of children and youth committed to their care the principles of piety and justice and the sacred regard to truth, love of their country, humanity, and universal beneficence, and those other virtues which are the ornament of human society and the basis upon which our Constitution is founded.

Again I say in 1954 as I did in 1948: With the continued cooperation of our teachers, principals, and administrative officers devoted to the highest standards of their profession, with the assistance of equally conscientious employees in every other department of our system, with the invaluable counsel of the members of the School Committee, with the helpful interest of the general public, and, above all, with the utmost confidence in the grace of God, I undertake the grave responsibilities of a second term as Superintendent with the hope and trust that this period of service as Superintendent of Schools of the City of Boston may be increasingly fruitful in educational benefits for the boys and girls entrusted to our guidance.

Thank you, Miss Fitzgerald and gentlemen.

ELECTION OF ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT

A communication was received from the Superintendent, under date of Apr. 5, 1954, presenting, under the provisions of Chapter 497 of the Acts of 1946, the nomination of John W. Corcoran as Assistant Superintendent for a six-year term beginning Sept. 1, 1954, the present term of Mr. Corcoran being due to expire Aug. 31, 1954.

A roll call being ordered, the Secretary proceeded to call the roll with the following result:

For JOHN W. CORCORAN—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Mr. Lee, Mr. Musco and Mr. Ward—5.

The Chair thereupon declared John W. Corcoran unanimously re-elected as Assistant Superintendent of Schools for a period of six years beginning Sept. 1, 1954.

Chairman: The Chair states that in its two years on this Committee, he has known Mr. Corcoran as an efficient and a professional educator. He is kind, conscientious, and progressive in his attitude towards the Boston School System. I am happy to vote for John W. Corcoran.

PROPOSED LEGISLATION

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, apropos of this topic of school superintendents and their assistants, there is no other city or town in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts which demands the reelection of these officials every six years. I feel that this is the appropriate time to recommend to the School Committee the removal of any tinge of politics from the educational administration of the Boston Public Schools.

One of the major issues of the recent School Committee campaign was the reelection of our courageous Superintendent of Schools. This should never happen again for the good of our School System. I, therefore, offer the following:

ORDERED, That this School Committee request the Law Department to draft legislation repealing the existing laws pertaining to the election of our Superintendent and Assistant Superintendents, so that after three years of consecutive service they will be employed to serve at the discretion of the School Committee and can only be removed for cause.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, I don't know whether or not you are going into the law.

We had here and I sat through ten years of a Strayer Report, and every positive part of that Strayer Report, to my knowledge, has been accepted, with the exception of one part, with which I did not agree.

The Strayer Report emphatically stated that the School Committee of the City of Boston, to be kept nonpolitical, should be appointed and not elected. That was practically the only part of the Strayer Report that was not accepted by the School Committee.

If you are going to keep something nonpolitical and you are going to draft legislation to keep something nonpolitical, then the sensible thing to do is to draft legislation to eliminate elections and follow the concept of the Strayer Report in all its phases, so far as it spoke of the School Committee, and that purpose was to keep it nonpolitical.

But I didn't agree, because I did not believe that powers should be taken away from the people. I do not believe that any power the people grant to anybody, either the Congress or the Senate or the President, should be usurped by somebody else, or that legislation should be drafted to take away that power from that duly elected representative of the people.

I don't know how different, Mr. Chairman, America is from the so-called "Dictatorship Countries." We talk of a dictatorship in Spain, and we talk of a dictatorship elsewhere in Europe. The only difference is that we have two choices here in America, and they only have one. We are allowed to go to bat, and there are two strikes on us. In Europe, they are allowed to take just one strike. If they hit a homerun, they are home.

We send delegates to conventions at which only nine and ten and eleven percent of the people vote. Delegates are sent either to Chicago or some other city, and they bring you back a candidate for whom you don't want to vote. In the last election, one was Stevenson and the other was Eisenhower. How many millions and millions of people in this country didn't want to vote for either man, but they had no choice, the same as they have no choice when they had to vote for Malenkov in Russia? You are not too far away, Mr. Chairman, from a dictatorship right here.

When you usurp the powers of a Committee that is duly elected by the people—if the law says we've got to do it a certain way—then we are creatures of the State, and the State can do it. The State can tell us to do it; the State has told us to do things time and time again and we have had to do them.

There is no question, Mr. Chairman. The State has said, "You must do this at a cost to the City of Boston." They made no provisions for the cost. But they said, "You must do it." But, if the people of this City say to us, "You are our duly elected School Committeemen," we are responsible to the people and the people alone. We are not a democracy; we are a republic. We are representatives of a people. The people send us and for two years they say to us, under a republican form of government, "You are going to represent us and do the things we want done."

If you want a democracy, the only way you are going to have it is in your so-called "Town Meetings." Invite the public in here every meeting night and let them discuss their problems and let them vote on the problems.

We know, Mr. Chairman, in a room like this we can't get 400,000 voters every night to say, as they do in the Town of Brookline, "We want a new school building." When they say they want a new school building, every citizen has a say on it. Everybody has a say on it. Then the Moderator determines the vote. That is a democracy. But a republic is when you have been elected to represent, and the people have said to you—and the people alone have said to you—"This is your power, and we are delegating you with this power."

I, Mr. Chairman, for one, don't want to go to the Legislature and say, "Take this power away from me." Since the people have assigned this to me—they have sent me here; they want me to represent them—and I want to represent them; I don't want to turn around and do something without the people's sanction, something they don't want me to do.

Therefore, I cannot go along and say I am for making this permanent or that permanent. That has been the law for years upon years. If you want to change the law, go to the Legislature.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, commenting on Mr. Musco's order, I am sure he does not intend by his motion to diminish his powers or the powers of anyone else in regard to their membership on a school committee.

What he is suggesting is that, even as the law of tenure applies to the teacher in the Boston school system, it should apply to the Superintendent as it does in other cities and towns in Massachusetts, and the Superintendent serves at the discretion, as Mr. Musco has pointed out, of the School Committee, and, just cause is presented to us for the removal of any Superintendent, under Mr. Musco's proposal, then, that just cause will be heard, even as it is in the case of an individual teacher in the system; and for the Superintendent of a large school system to be subjected just as long as he is turning in an excellent and good and fine performance in his office as Superintendent of Schools, every six years, as no other person in the system is under his jurisdiction and under his surveillance, that, to me, is an unjust situation.

I would go along with the proposal of Mr. Musco to have the Law Department draw up the proper kind of legislation to be presented to the Legislature, as I feel it must be—is that not true, Mr. Musco?

Mr. Musco: That's right.

Miss Fitzgerald: —in order to correct that situation.

Mr. Lee. Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that Mr. Musco's motion would have the opposite effect from what he says he intends.

He would put the retention of a superintendent at the discretion of the School Committee indefinitely, from day to day, and, therefore, a Superintendent would have no feeling of security during a certain period, a period say six years long. He would be at the mercy of the School Committee.

The School Committee, in turn, is sometimes responsible to the vagaries of public opinion and to the considerations of political office-holding, and the effect of Mr. Musco's motion would be to make the Superintendent a victim and helpless before every political whim that came along.

Under the present system, he has periods of virtually complete security, and then the School Committee, in turn, maturely weighing his term of service, must either reelect him or choose somebody else in his place.

If I heard the motion right, there is another bad feature to it. It would apparently deprive the Superintendent of his power to pick his own assistants. If I heard correctly, the Assistant Superintendents, too, would be at the power of the School Committee after they have served three years, and that, too, is a step backward. It was a great step forward when the Strayer recommendation provided for the Superintendent to nominate his own assistants, and I think the Chairman complimented the operations of the present Superintendent in command of that new system of being able to choose his own assistants. That would be disrupted, and the choice of assistants would fall back into the lap of the School Committee—at least, their tenure or removal would be in the lap of the School Committee, without the protection of a six-year term and without selection by the Superintendent at that time. At least, the School Committee would have the negative power to remove for cause, if I understand what Mr. Musco said, and he used the words "At the discretion of the School Committee."

One of two things would happen under this proposal: Either the Superintendent would be more at the mercy of a School Committee in any political bad judgment it might have, or it would be less subject to that School Committee. It is a little hard to tell from the wording which way it would turn out. It might be one way or the other.

In my judgment, both ways are bad. If the effect of this was to make it difficult to remove the Superintendent—and it does not say so—but if that were the effect, then we would have the greatest danger of all which begets any School Committee, namely, routine inertia, lack of vitality, and dead weight in the continuation of a Superintendent who might have passed the peak of his powers or who might not have been distinguished to start with, and yet who might only be able to be removed for cause.

In one case, under a strict interpretation of that clause "removal for cause," we might have the great risk of a very dead school system that dragged on year after year with no new life. If we have a literal interpretation of "removal for cause," we would put every Superintendent at the day-to-day mercy of the School Committee; whereas, the present arrangement was obviously designed to avoid those two very great detriments. It was designed to give the Superintendent some protection and at the same time, after a six-year period, give the School Committee, with six mature years of reflection, a chance to choose a successor.

I earnestly hope we won't go along with this, and it would seem that Mr. Musco's motion defeats its own end.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, in my casting of my vote for Mr. Corcoran, I think I did so based on the fact that I believe he is competent and capable. I voted for Mr. Corcoran without words or fanfare or any eulogy.

Two or three years ago, I believe, when Mr. Corcoran's name came up to fill an unexpired term, at that time I had nothing against Mr. Corcoran, but I did not vote for him. Neither did I vote for Mr. Herlihy. I voted against them for only one reason—that there were six Assistant Superintendents of Schools, and I believe that six assistant Superintendents of Schools, in a system with 92,000 pupils, were much too many.

I thought of the New York Public Schools, with 1,000,000 children, with nine Deputy Superintendents of Schools. On the same ratio as Boston, New York should have had fifty-nine Deputy Superintendents of Schools.

But my vote was cast without praise of Mr. Corcoran. The mere fact that I voted for him indicates the consideration, the thought, and the appreciation that I have had for his services during the past two years. I made no speech praising Mr. Corcoran, but I told Mr. Corcoran last week that I would vote for his reelection because I believed he was competent and capable.

I think that the motion of Mr. Musco would not only leave the Superintendent at the mercy of the School Committee day-by-day, but it would leave the Superintendent of Schools in politics much more so than he has been at any previous time—and I am not kidding myself or trying to be a hypocrite. I say that there is probably as much politics in the school system of any big city as there is in Tammany Hall. Let's not kid ourselves. Let's not fool ourselves. Let's not be hypocritical. There is politics, and, whether it comes under the guise of education or not, it is still politics.

I'd rather be forthright and not hypocritical enough to say we were nonpolitical. We are all political. I mean, we are a political body. The School Committee is an elected body. Therefore, it is a political body.

Chairman: The Chair feels that, if there are no objections, he would like to see this put over to a later meeting when it can be more fully discussed. Are there any objections?

Mr. Musco's order was laid over.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, could I put in an emergency order? I call it "emergency" because last October a motion was passed by the School Committee authorizing the Home and School Association to join up or get together with the P. T. A.

I don't believe that this Committee cares for that to happen. At 3:15 this afternoon the lady from the Home and School Association, who is here now, is going to be compelled to associate the Home and School Association, which has existed in this City for so many years, with the P. T. A.

Miss Fitzgerald: Well, Mr. Chairman, I would like to speak on Mr. Ward's order, if I may.

As far as I recall it, the suggestion made at the October meeting to which Mr. Ward refers was that the Home and School Associations of the City—their representatives—get together with representatives of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

I believe the League of Women Voters had asked if they might sit in on the conference. At least, they did of me personally. Whether they did officially of other persons in charge of the Home and School Association is something I wouldn't know.

Mr. Ward: I would like to ask, Mr. Chairman, if that order was put in at the October date, and to say that at 3:15 today our Home and School Association, which has existed over a period of years, is to meet with the P. T. A. At that particular time in October, a motion was made by Mr. Muchnick, which carried through the School Committee, that the P. T. A. and the Home and School Association would join together, that the League of Women Voters would sit in on the discussion, and there would be a consolidation of both groups.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Ward is completely wrong on that. I was present at the meeting.

As far as the position of the majority of the members voting for this proposal is concerned, it was merely to suggest that the Home and School Association of Boston meet with the representatives from the Parent-Teachers' Association of Massachusetts with the end in view of either (a) a possible merger or (b) an affiliation of the Home and School Association autonomously, that is, self-governing and with no loss of its individuality, with the State P. T. A. for the purpose of exchange, for the purpose of representation from our school system in any State-wide conventions of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

There was no direct inference. There was just a suggestion that the two groups meet. There was, Mr. Chairman, a request separately, as far as I understand it, from the League of Women Voters that some representation from that organization be present at the meeting where this matter was discussed.

We are not telling the Home and School Association how to conduct its business. We are not suggesting that they affiliate with the P. T. A. That is their affair. But I do think that fair and just consideration of the affiliation with or the possible affiliation with the P. T. A. of Massachusetts should be taken up in every Home and School Association district in the City and that we should get a fair opinion from the membership of the entire Boston Home and School Association as to whether they wish to do this or whether they do not.

In other words, I would like to see a fair vote taken in the entire Association.

Chairman: You would like to see it left in the hands of the organization?

Miss Fitzgerald: Completely in the hands of the organization, with all the membership voting on it.

Mr. Ward: All I would like to say is this, I would like to offer a motion that we retain our own Home and School Association. That's all. If there is anything wrong with that order, I would like to know it.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, may I say, commenting on Mr. Ward's suggestion: I don't see that there has been any suggestion that the Home and School Association dissolve or change its title. I don't feel the suggestion of the member is in order. I may be wrong and you may feel differently.

Mr. Ward: Have we a Home and School Association here?

Chairman: I don't think there is a question about that.

Mr. Ward: We have?

Chairman: That is right.

Mr. Ward: Is it the wish of the Committee that the Home and School Association be other than it is?

Miss Fitzgerald: I don't think it is in the province of the School Committee to tell the Home and School Association what it shall be. We have merely stated, in establishing a compulsory Home and School Association, that there be such an organization representing every district in the City.

Mr. Ward: Known as the Home and School Association.

Miss Fitzgerald: Known as the Home and School Association.

Mr. Ward: It is now known as the Home and School Association, and it will be known as the Home and School Association.

Miss Fitzgerald: If it is their desire.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, I am very much concerned about certain people who are members of another organization. I am very, very much concerned. I have had long experience with the people who are members of another organization who have not been able to get into the Home and School Association. I think these people, since 1951, have been outlawed in Massachusetts. I know of these organizations that have been trying to get into our Home and School Association to call themselves by another name.

I want to retain the identity of the Home and School Association that was established, I believe, by Mrs. Hurst many, many years ago, and I would like this School Committee to go on record—

Chairman: May the Chair attempt to state the question? Shall the organization known as the Home and School Association of the Boston School Department be continued? Is that it?

Mr. Ward: That is right. That is the question.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, after forty-seven years of existence, entitled the Boston Public School Home and School Association, and with a membership of over 30,000 people and 104 units throughout the City, I feel that their accomplishments, their duties and their closeness to the school system as liaison between the administration and the public and the school should definitely be continued.

If, by chance, there has to be some renovation or installation of new procedures, then I think that rests in the hands of probably the Superintendent and Director of the Home and School Association. Let us continue that work, because we do know that that work is good.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I expect to vote against this motion, although I think it is not very effective whether the motion carries or not. If the motion carries, it simply preserves the status quo and it does not affect the Home and School Association from coming before us with a petition to amalgamate with some other group if they choose, and then the question will be before us as to whether to discourage or encourage an amalgamation between that association and some wider group.

In regard to Mr. Ward's impression that the Home and School Association is a field in which the Communists would like to be active and that that would be easy by the reaffiliation of the Home and School Association with some other group, it seems to me that it is no easier in one case than the other.

Everybody who is old enough to use his mind knows that Communists would like to infiltrate any organization that they can anyway, and to think that there is some immunity that exists in behalf of the Home and School Association, which would not exist were that association merged with a State-wide association, seems to me rather naive.

Lastly, my general feeling is this: that the new or proposed or possible amalgamation with the broader organization will not do any good. On the other hand, I don't think it will do any harm. I have had a good deal of experience with Home and School Associations. I have always wished they could be better than they are. Yet they now want to experiment with a connection with some other group with the hope that it will bring new life, new prestige and power. I think it is worth a try, so I have no desire to discourage any proposal they may bring to us about joining with some other group by voting for this motion. I think if we turn the motion down we will then have the matter brought to our attention probably in a month and can act with something concrete in front of us.

Chairman: The question comes on the motion of Mr. Ward —

Secretary: Shall the organization known as the Home and School Association be continued?

Mr. Lee: One more thing: If we vote "No" on this item, it does not mean that we vote to discontinue the Home and School Association. It simply means that the status quo will be maintained. The vote "No" is a vote for the status quo.

Mr. Musco: The motion doesn't read that way.

Chairman: It doesn't read that way.

Mr. Ward: The only thing I want to do is retain the Home and School Association in our schools as the recognized group of the School Committee. If I do reword it, I would say that the recognized group within the Boston School System should be the Home and School Association.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Ward, by that are you saying that the Home and School Association itself, as a self-governing organization, which it is and should be as a liaison between home and school — are you saying by this motion that, should they decide to affiliate or have some connection with another State-wide organization, whether P. T. A. or other, they may not do so?

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, I think the instructions were given at our order, if you recollect, the night you stated you were here, Miss Fitzgerald. You said that you recollect what the Home and School Association were told to do. I think that is in the record.

Mr. Ward — addressing Mrs. Ann Day, President of the Boston Home and School Association:

I would like to ask you, Madam, if you understand what the implications are here, and what they want you to do. You are from the Home and School Association?

Mrs. Ann Day: Yes, sir. They want us to meet with the P. T. A. with a view of possible affiliation.

What I would like is a vote of confidence, actually, from the Boston School Committee that we retain our identity as the Boston Home and School Association.

Chairman: Mr. Ward, would you rephrase your order to get that?

Mrs. Day: The thing is this, Mr. Chairman. The League of Women Voters came in and asked for this meeting. I do not feel that an outside group at any time should come in and tell us that we should meet with them. It was the League of Women Voters that first started this.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, all I can see that has happened is the League of Women Voters asked if you would. It is up to you, Mr. Chairman and Mrs. Day—is it?

Mrs. Day: That is right.

Miss Fitzgerald: ... to do what you want to.

Mrs. Day: Could we have the support of the School Committee?

Miss Fitzgerald: There is no doubt in my mind that you have had it.

Chairman: Would you rephrase your motion, Mr. Ward, so that we give the Home and School Association a vote of confidence?

Mr. Ward: A vote of confidence.

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman, may I speak? I respectfully suggest that the proper procedure be followed in regard to this whole matter, as I know you want to follow it in all matters.

This matter was referred to the Superintendent. The Superintendent, in turn, referred it to Mr. Gillis.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I think that before we prolong the discussion at a very critical time when this budget must be in the office of the Mayor by five o'clock—we are allowing the tail to wag the dog. We've got a $28,000,000 budget which is right now at stake, and we ought to have it in the Mayor's office by five o'clock.

This matter was referred through the proper channels and certainly it should be referred back, in my opinion, through the proper channels and be put on the agenda for discussion at the proper time. I am not taking sides one way or another other than to follow proper procedure. Mr. Chairman, the Law Department was asked to be here at quarter past two on a budgetary matter. We have a number of teachers who must be notified otherwise, they will be definitely on permanent tenure if they aren't notified before the 15th of April, which is another item on the agenda. I sincerely hope, Mr. Chairman, that the Committee will follow this back through the channels that they started it in.

Chairman: If there are no objections, we will put this question off for further discussion.

Mr. Ward: Mr. Chairman, the only point I want to make is this: I want to bring up the question of the old federated group. The old group of federated people was tainted, and among them was Ann Burlak, who has stood before this Committee time and time again. I have seen her speak here.

If that group now wants to take over and dictate to our Home and School Association, I am opposed to it.

Chairman: Do you have any objection to our putting it over?

Mr. Ward: No, but they have a vote of confidence as far as we are concerned.

Chairman: That is right.

On roll call the order passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, and Mr. Musco—3.

NAYS—Mr. Lee and Mr. Ward—2.

Chairman: This is the notification of termination of service of temporary teachers who have worked three years.

Mr. Lee: Is that something on which we have no choice because of some strange law?

Mr. Ward: If we don't notify them, they go on tenure. That is what it amounts to.

Mr. Lee: Is this something we must decide this afternoon?

Superintendent: Yes, for the reason that these people must be notified before the 15th of April.

Mr. Ward: By registered mail, too.

Superintendent: The procedure is not an easy one. Miss Reynolds has the stamped envelopes ready to notify these people. Return receipts are requested, and then checking and double-checking requires considerable time. Under the law, Mr. Chairman and Mr. Lee, this must be done before the 15th of April.

As Mr. Ward has pointed out, if these persons are not properly and legally notified, they are automatically on tenure, and the impact of this would be to defeat the certification system or the merit system of examinations for new candidates for our Boston School service.

I believe this is the third year—is it not, Mr. Bond?

Mr. Bond: Yes, sir.

Superintendent:—that we have had to notify teachers, terminating their service, so that they would not be automatically permanently appointed on tenure.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I am voting "No" on this motion, for the following reasons:

I think I am more in favor of firing people than anyone in the school system. It is a ridiculous idea that you can't cease to pay persons for a certain job and must forever pay them. It is an idea I never went along with.

On the other hand, to take whatever names are here—over a hundred—and fire them in two minutes and fire them without any discussion—I will take no part in it.

Mr. Ward: I would like to say this:

If it were possible to hold them on, I would do so. The law says they can work three years and then they must be notified. I will go along with Mr. Lee and say not to fire them.

Mr. Lee: Whenever the State butts in in contracts between individuals, it is dictatorship, and I will have no part in it whatever.

On roll call, the order passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, and Mr. Musco—3

NAYS—Messrs. Lee and Ward—2.

RECESS

ANNUAL APPROPRIATIONS FOR MAINTENANCE, EXCLUSIVE OF "ALTERATIONS, REPAIRS, FURNITURE AND FIXTURES."

The Business Manager submitted, in compliance with the rules, the following communication:

To the School Committee of the City of Boston:

In compliance with the instructions of the School Committee and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 224 of the Acts of 1936, as amended by Chapter 117 of the Acts of 1949, I am presenting for your consideration the accompanying appropriation order totaling $22,982,853.41 for the fiscal year 1954. The said amount is for expenditures in part for maintenance of the Boston Public Schools, exclusive of alterations, repairs, furniture and fixtures, namely, General School Purposes.

The School Committee also will make appropriations for the following items and in the sums set forth below. The expenditures under these items will be under the direct control of the Department of School Buildings.

Alterations, Repair, Furniture and Fixtures $2,721,777.25
Land and Buildings for Schools 771,073.27

The total appropriations for all school purposes for 1954 will therefore be $26,475,703.93 ($22,982,853.41 plus $2,721,777.25 plus $771,073.27 = $26,475,703.93).

The total credits for all school purposes made up of the unexpended balances at the end of the year 1953, the estimated income for the year 1954, and the estimated amount to be received by the City of Boston from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under General Laws, Chapter 70, as most recently amended, will amount to $3,670,157.73.

The amount to be raised by taxation for all school purposes would therefore be $22,805,546.20, which is the difference between the total appropriations and the total credits: ($26,475,703.93 minus, $3,670,157.73 = $22,805,546.20).

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) Henry J. Smith
Business Manager

Placed on file.

Mr. Lee: Is that the total of the budget we worked on for the past month?

Secretary: No.

Mr. Lee: What is it, then?

Secretary: It is our appropriating power, is it not, Mr. Burke. It is the limit of our appropriating power.

Mr. Burke: Plus the unexpended balances.

Superintendent: What was the figure?

Secretary: Twenty-two million—

Superintendent: That doesn't include the unexpended balance, does it, Mr. Burke?

Chairman: Yes, the unexpended balance.

Superintendent: The combination of the total money available.

Secretary: For appropriation purposes, $22,982,853.41.

Mr. Lee: That doesn't count the School Buildings end of it?

Superintendent: No. This is General School Purposes. We are going to have a supplementary letter go down for the additional money that we will need, but Mr. Lee wants the breakdown by Administration, Instruction, Fixed Charges, etc.

Mr. Lee: I am just trying to find out what it is that is before us. This cannot be the sum of the figures we worked on for two months because this is only such amount of that total as falls within our appropriating power.

Is that correct?

Superintendent: That's right.

Mr. Lee: Therefore, to break this down into different groupings would be rather pointless as our efforts to appropriate exceed the total of this.

Superintendent: That's right.

Mr. Lee: Are we eventually going to have our total appropriations or that entire appropriation voted on tonight?

Mr. Burke: You are going to send a request to the Mayor for the balance.

Chairman. The balance is $2,671,000?

Mr. Burke: Yes.

Mr. Lee: We will have two separate figures and another figure outside of it?

Mr. Burke: Which you can't appropriate but which you must request.

Mr. Lee: But even after we have done that, we are not going to then have a report on the divisions under which we desire to spend those total sums?

Superintendent: I would say yes, Mr. Lee. In other words, the letter will ask for an additional amount of money, and it will say so much under "Administration." Isn't that right, Mr. Burke?

Mr. Burke: That is right.

Superintendent: And so much under "Instruction" over and above the amount that you can appropriate by statute.

Do you follow me, Mr. Lee?

Mr. Lee: Yes.

The following statement was ordered spread upon the records:

The Secretary read the following letter to be sent to His Honor, the Mayor, John B. Hynes, with reference to additional school appropriations:

April 5, 1954.

Honorable John B. Hynes, Mayor, City of Boston, City Hall, Boston, Massachusetts.
Dear Sir:

I am transmitting herewith for your approval attested copies of order passed at the meeting of the School Committee held on Monday, April 5, 1954, appropriating the sum of $22,982,853.41 for the maintenance of the Boston Public Schools for the fiscal year 1954, exclusive of "alterations, repairs, furniture and fixtures," namely, General School Purposes.

The amount submitted to you in the appropriation for General School Purposes is the entire amount available under the legal limit.

The total amount required for 1954 for General School Purposes is $25,654,079.51.

The appropriation of $22,982,853.41 for General School Purposes is short by $2,671,226.10 of the amount that is necessary to carry out the needs of the budget for General School Purposes. The breakdown of this $2,671,226.10 is shown as follows:

Administration	$142,961.30
Instruction	2,048,325.34
Auxiliary Services	96,630.06
Operation of Plant	333,309.40
Fixed Charges	50,000.00
Pensions to Teachers
Total	$2,671,226.10

In accordance with the provisions of the law governing appropriations, the School Committee respectfully requests your Honor to recommend to the City Council the additional appropriation necessary for General School Purposes in the sum of $2,671,226.10.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) Agnes E. Reynolds
Secretary

Superintendent: Could I explain something? I would like to ask Mr. Burke one question.

Mr. Burke, for the information of the Committee, did you take a percentage of each of those?

Mr. Burke: Mr. Smith did in his basic letter. What we did was to place in their proper headings the balances which make up the total.

Superintendent: Let me ask you this. Did you take a uniform percentage?

Mr. Burke: Yes.

Superintendent: We are asking for so much under Administration. Secretary: $142,000.

Superintendent: $142,000 for Administration. Would you tell the Committee why you picked $142,000?

Mr. Burke: Mr. Smith, in making up the basic limit, which came before this, used an experience rate, a percentage rate, in setting up the appropriations under Administration, Instruction, and so forth.

Now, after the meeting today, that we know what the grand total under those are, it is merely a process of subtracting what Mr. Smith put in that letter from the grand total which we arrived at today under those headings and putting the difference in the request to the Mayor.

Superintendent: Do you understand that these figures for the supplementary money are simply arbitrary figures which are a percentage of the total budget?

Isn't that right, Mr. Burke?

Mr. Burke: That's right.

Superintendent: They vary a little bit from a uniform percentage for the reason that there have been changes made here this afternoon. You may wonder why.

Why do you pick $142,000? I would say that $142,000 bears the same ratio to the whole amount in Administration as the next item does. Would you read it?

Secretary: Instruction $2,048,000.

Superintendent: As $2,048,000 bears to the total Instruction budget. Do you follow me?

Mr. Lee: What you mean to say, Mr. Superintendent, is that the percentage under Administration in the new smaller figure is the same part of the whole that the original parent figure which came under our appropriating power was.

In other words, if there are four items—A, B, C, and D—and then four sub-items in the supplementary request to the Mayor—A, B, C, and D—then if A in the original was 20% of the whole, then A-1, the A that is being added in this request to the Mayor, is 20% of the whole.

Superintendent: That is right.

Mr. Lee: And if B was 30%, that is the original big lump under our $22,000,000, was 30% of the whole, then the supplement to that, now being requested of the Mayor, is 30% of the total supplement.

Superintendent: That's right.

Mr. Lee: But with minor changes because of today's alterations.

Superintendent: That is a fair example.

Mr. Lee: What Miss Reynolds is now reading represents the finalized and corrected totals in our request to the Mayor based on what happened up until supper time, is that right?

Mr. Burke: That is right. But I wouldn't put too much credence in those figures because the total is the figure the Mayor is interested in.

Mr. Lee: I understand that.

Superintendent: In other words, the details might vary a bit as a result of changes that were made here today. I want you to know how we got the breakdown.

QUESTIONNAIRE TO HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATIONS

Miss Fitzgerald offered the following:

For the good of the schools of Boston, for the better guidance of the School Committee, public opinion concerning the conduct of the school system should be tapped objectively and periodically. It is my feeling that the aim of any sampling of public opinion on schools should be both constructive and critical. One of Boston's great assets in the planning of school programs is the Home and School Association which was established in Boston years before any similar organization of parents or teachers anywhere in the State.

Because I have confidence that the Boston Home and School Associations are true and representative groups of persons vitally interested in Boston because of children in our public schools, and because I know these people would conduct a public opinion questionnaire in a constructive and cooperative manner, I offer this three-part resolve:

1. ORDERED, That the attached one-page questionnaire be sent to all members of executive committees and presidents of Home and School Association Districts

2. ORDERED, That the Home and School Association officers be asked to gain a fair cross-section of answers to this questionnaire from each school in the district

3. ORDERED, That the questionnaire be returned to the Administration Building at 15 Beacon Street on or before May 15 to the Superintendent of Schools and the results compiled to show a city-wide picture of the hopes and aspirations of people with children in our schools and for the education of their children

Questionnaire

1. What are the strong educational programs in your child's school which you consider might be adopted with benefit in other school districts in the city?

2. What improvements, in your opinion, could be instituted in your child's school or district (educational or recreational activities, repairs and buildings, administrative policies)?

3. How can your Home and School Association, the School Committee and the Superintendent of Schools, best work to curtail the spread of Juvenile Delinquency?

The order laid over at the meeting of Mar. 1, 1954, amending Section 283 of the Regulations, to provide for leaves of absence for married female teachers, was taken up and read by the Secretary.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, before I vote on that, I want to get a little clearer as to just what the implications of it are, which I may have missed before.

Now it talks about a leave of absence of a maximum of eighteen months at your discretion, Mr. Superintendent—"at the discretion of the Superintendent."

Now suppose the teacher is out much longer. Must she then resign?

Superintendent: I think not. Is that true, Mr. Bond?

Mr. Bond: I think not. She must be on leave of absence without pay, as other teachers are.

Superintendent: But with approval of the School Committee.

Mr. Musco: She may ask for an extension, may she not?

Mr. Bond: No.

Mr. Lee: Suppose she is what I think of as being a normal person who, getting married, perhaps contemplates a family of four, five or six children, or expects that and expects that the ages of the children will be a year and a half or two years apart.

Now she would not want to come back to teaching, probably, for ten years with a family of five, for example; and even then she would probably want to stay at home till the younger child is at least of school age—perhaps fourteen years.

Now is it contemplated that a leave of absence would be extended for fourteen years?

Superintendent: That would be up to the School Committee, Mr. Lee. The School Committee could do it.

Mr. Lee: Isn't it worded, Miss Reynolds, as though the leave of absence was not to exceed eighteen months? Isn't it rather a strong wording there?

Let me read this to the Committee on this leave of absence. After providing for a leave of absence, the phraseology goes on to say: "Provided that no such leave shall in any event exceed eighteen months."

Now that seems to deprive the Superintendent and the School Committee of granting a longer leave. It is very strong language: "Shall not in any event exceed eighteen months."

I would be sorry to see—

Superintendent: They can give a leave under a suspension of the rules. Any Committee can. It would be entirely up to the Committee.

Mr. Lee: I should want to feel sure that we were not putting pressure on a woman to come back when the child is only three months or, at most under a year old.

Superintendent: That is right.

Mr. Lee: On pain of her losing her hopes in the school system.

Superintendent: We can extend it indefinitely.

Mr. Lee: I would be voting "Yes" on the assumption that the Committee could extend that leave of absence. Of course, it may also be true, Mr. Superintendent, that the provision there for renewing the leave of absence on top of an old leave of absence applies. Am I right in believing that?

Superintendent: I would think so—yes.

Mr. Lee: In case of a succession of children, each new event would be provided for?

Superintendent: It provides for a succession of children. Each one would be eighteen months.

Mr. Lee: So there would be provision for reapplication for leaves of absence under the expectation of additional members of the family?

Superintendent: That is right.

On roll call the order passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Mr. Lee, Mr. Musco, and Mr. Ward—5.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.*General Order No. 37.COMPANY-IN-SERVICE INSPECTIONS.

A program of company-in-service building inspections will be initiated in this department starting Friday, June 4, 1954.

For the present, in-service inspections will be confined to those companies equipped with radios in Districts 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11.

Until further notice, building inspections by companies will be limited to one-, two-, three-, or multiple-family dwellings. The attention of the members is directed to section 5 of chapter 148, in which it is stated that inspectors are not authorized to enter one-family or two-family dwellings without the consent of the occupants.

In-service inspections shall be made between the hours of 9.30 A.M. and 11 A.M., and between 1.30 P.M. and 3.30 P.M. Company inspections shall be made under the supervision of the company officer or member acting in that capacity. He shall be called upon to assist or advise any member when unusual or unlooked-for conditions arise or when members are in doubt, and they shall be guided by his decisions, which shall be consistent with recognized practices and good judgment.

A detailed report of company-in-service inspections, Form 9C, shall be made out by the officer in charge of the inspection and forwarded so as to reach Headquarters on Monday morning of each week. Inspections shall be made on a prearranged street by street schedule, and a complete and accurate record shall be kept in company quarters of all inspections or reinspections made, of hazardous conditions corrected, and all other pertinent information.

Before companies leave quarters for in-service inspections, the Fire Alarm Office shall be notified by telephone. Upon arrival at the location or area in which the inspections are to be made, the company shall report by radio, notifying the Fire Alarm Office of the location of the company.

During inspection work, the member assigned to stand by the apparatus shall be rotated so that all members of the company will be given an opportunity to engage in the program. Every precaution shall be taken to guard against the possibility of children tampering with the siren which will be sounded when an alarm has been received to which the company is assigned to respond.

When it is not possible to gain entrance to occupied dwellings, a record of same will be kept and an effort will be made to enter and inspect all such dwellings at some future date.

Members performing inspection work are expected to be courteous and to use tact in the exercise of their inspection duties. They must not lose sight of the fact that they are representatives of the Boston Fire Department, and that their conduct and actions reflect to the credit or discredit of the entire membership. They must realize that they will be looked upon by the public as trained and qualified authorities in the field of fire prevention and protection. They must be friendly and patient, yet businesslike and firm in making decisions. They must not engage in arguments with hostile or overly important persons nor assume a belligerent or antagonistic attitude. They must not permit talkative or over-friendly persons to deter them in carrying out their appointed duties. If an owner or occupant of a one-family or two-family dwelling refuses permission to enter and inspect the building, the inspector will make every effort to convince the owner or occupant that the inspection is to be made for his or her benefit and that such inspection may prevent a serious fire or loss of life.

Although it is generally agreed that company-in-service inspections are performed primarily as a fire prevention activity with the idea of eliminating or minimizing the causes of fire by removing or correcting hazardous conditions and by providing an educational and advisory service to the public, serious violations of the fire prevention regulations must not be overlooked. There is an obligation on the part of inspectors to have all violations of such regulations corrected when such violations are brought to their attention. Failure to have violations of the fire prevention regulations corrected may nullify an otherwise good inspection and result in a disastrous fire with all of its possibilities.

Where hazardous conditions or violations of laws or regulations are found, the inspector should try to have conditions corrected immediately. When it is not possible to have conditions corrected then, a reasonable period of time should be permitted in which to make such corrections. If, after a reinspection, the conditions have not been corrected or the violations have been permitted to continue, an abatement notice should be left with the person or persons responsible, and a copy of the same shall be forwarded to the Fire Prevention Division for further action.

Members performing in-service inspections shall dress in fatigue clothes, that is, blue shirt and dungarees. The dungarees shall be neat and clean. Members shall also wear a black tie, and the uniform cap, and, when weather conditions require, they may wear a rubber fire coat.

Prior to engaging in inspection duties, the members of the department shall brief themselves with the instructions contained in this order and in the regulations of the department of Fire Prevention Regulations Pertaining to Fuel Oil and Fuel Oil Burners; to Rules 4 and 29 of the Garage Regulations; to Rules 2, 4, 5, 7, and 11 of the Regulations Pertaining to the Remediying of Any Condition Found to Exist in or About Any Building or Other Premises, etc. (page 234 of the Fire Manual), and to sections 4, 5, 6, 23, 24, 28B, 28D, 28E, 28K, and 30 of chapter 148.

Inspections in dwellings shall be confined to those areas or parts of the building which are common to all of the occupants. They will include:

- Back and front yards.
- Garages.
- Ash sheds or other outbuildings.
- Porches, piazzas, and the areas under same.
- Fire escapes.
- Stairways, both front and rear.
- Vent, light, and other shafts.
- Attics where they are open and used for storage only.
- Roofs.
- Cellars.

When inspecting back and front yards, inspectors will look for accumulations of combustible rubbish, including papers, boxes, cartons, discarded furniture, oily rags, leaves, and dry grass and weeds, and similar materials. The same will apply to ash or other sheds located in yards, to garages, and to the areas under porches.

When conditions permit, inspectors shall examine fire escapes to ascertain whether or not they are safe for use by the occupants or by the members of the Fire Department for fire-fighting operations.

Inspectors will be on the alert for obstructions in hallways, fire escapes or stairways which would prevent free and easy access to or egress from any floor in the building. Such obstructions on stairways would include boxes, cartons, packages, washboards and tubs, vacuum cleaners, dry mops, and similar household articles. Those usually found in hallways include baby carriages, ice boxes, cans of fuel oil, rubbish baskets or barrels, boxes, cartons, and many other containers.

Fire escapes are sometimes obstructed by flower pots and boxes, bedding, clothes lines, fuel oil cans, boxes, and similar articles.

Many vent, light, dumb-waiter, and other shafts are used as depositories for papers and similar combustible rubbish, and inspectors must be on the alert to observe this condition because of the tendency of fire to spread upward and to extend into apartments by way of the windows.

When inspection of attics is permitted, inspectors will note whether or not combustible articles are stored in proximity to chimneys and the condition of the chimney in the attic. They will note if furniture is stored in a neat and orderly manner, and if there are accumulations of newspapers there. They will also note the condition of the floor and whether or not it covers the entire area.

On flat roofs, inspectors will note if there are any old mattresses or discarded furniture and the condition of the roof boards. They will also examine the chimney for defects above the roof line and any condition which would interfere with or endanger members of the department during fire-fighting operations. They will also note the condition of spark arresters at the top of incinerators.

Inspectors shall be careful in descending cellar stairs and be on the alert for missing treads or other defects which could lead to injury to fire fighters at the time of a fire. In cellars, inspectors will note whether there are accumulations of rubbish, newspapers, boxes, barrels, cartons, firewood, shavings, excelsior or other packing materials, discarded toys, mattresses, or other furniture. They will look over the heater and the smoke pipe and note their condition. They will note the kind of fuel used and the method of storage. If fuel oil is used, they will note whether or not a permit is posted and the location of the tank or drum. They will note the location of the gas and electric meters and whether there is a bulkhead opening directly into the cellar, and the level of the cellar in relation to the grade level outside.

Company-in-service inspections shall not eliminate the regular inspection work performed by company officers. When stores or other mercantile properties are used in connection with dwellings, they will also be inspected at the same time that the dwelling is inspected.

Schedules outlining the inspection service and Form 9C are being distributed with this order.

By order of Fire Commissioner
FRANCIS X. COTTER.

JOHN V. STAPLETON,
Chief of Department.

MAYOR HYNES GIVES BUDGET ANOTHER PARING IN MOVE TO EFFECT LOWERING OF TAX RATE FOR THIS YEAR—SUBMITS PROPOSALS FOR RESCISSION TO CITY COUNCIL FOR APPROVAL.

On June 14 Mayor Hynes submitted the following to the City Council:

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN:

In the annual budget submitted to your Honorable Body on February 1 an appropriation in the Welfare Department for Old Age Assistance of $10,500,000 was given approval.

It now appears that $10,000,000 will be sufficient in this appropriation to meet the cost of Old Age Assistance during the year 1954. Therefore, and in order that the tax rate will not be higher than absolutely necessary, I submit an order reducing the appropriation for Old Age Assistance from $10,500,000 to $10,000,000.

I most respectfully request that this rescission order be adopted at today's meeting of your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,

JOHN B. HYNES, Mayor.

MAYOR CALLS FOR LOAN ORDER FOR "CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS" AMOUNTING TO $7,500,000 TO PROVIDE FOR NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS AND 500-BED HOSPITAL AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

The following communication has gone forward from the office of the Mayor:

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN:

I submit herewith a loan order for "construction of buildings" in the amount of $7,500,000. This order, in addition to the loan order for new school buildings, the loan order for reconstruction of streets, and the loan order for the reconstruction of bridges, comprises the Capital Improvement Budget for 1954.

The authorization herein requested involves the construction of a 500-bed chronic hospital at Long Island at an approximate cost of $5,750,000; a new Public Works building to replace the old, dilapidated building at Child street, Jamaica Plain, at an approximate cost of $125,000; two new fire stations to be built in the Dorchester district, to re-

BOSTON'S TAX RATE FOR 1954 IS $69.80 PER THOUSAND, A DROP OF 90 CENTS FROM THAT OF 1953—MAYOR JOHN B. HYNES ACCOMPLISHES AIM IN HALTING CLIMB AND HOPES TO ACHIEVE ANOTHER REDUCTION NEXT YEAR—TASK HAD SEEMED IMPOSSIBLE WITH ADDED BURDENS OF M.T.A. AND EXPENDITURES OVER WHICH HE HAD NO CONTROL—PLEASED WITH COOPERATION OF DEPARTMENTS AND EFFECTS OF REORGANIZATION PLAN.

Boston's tax rate for the year 1954 has been fixed at $69.80, which is 90 cents lower than in 1953 and is the first cut in the rate since 1951. The announcement came in a statement issued by Mayor John B. Hynes on Wednesday evening. The cut is the biggest in recent years. The announcement gave pleasure to property owners and the Mayor alike. The Mayor announced when making the statement public that he hoped this was only the beginning of reductions whereby relief of the tax burden will continue to be achieved. He attributed the reduction to the cooperation of department heads in all branches of the city government and the reorganization that has been put into effect under the Director of Administrative Services.

On June 16 Mayor John B. Hynes announced a 90-cent cut in the tax rate for 1954 in the following statement:

I am pleased to announce that the tax rate for 1954 will be $69.80 per thousand of valuation, a reduction of 90 cents from the tax rate of 1953.

The expenditures of the municipal government for 1954 indicate an increasingly tighter control not inconsistent with good service. In attaining this reduction in the tax rate, I requested and received the cooperation of the City Council, the School Committee, and departmental officials, for which I am most grateful.

The total expenditures for all purposes for the year 1954 amount to $154,845,203.12. The total receipts from all sources amount to $45,557,174.22. The net amount to be raised by taxation is $109,757,412.90.

Despite Burden of Fixed Obligations.

Of this net amount, the Mayor has absolute control over not more than 50 per cent. The other 50 per cent is represented in obligations fixed by law, or by prior commitments such as long-term debt, or charges similar to the annual M. T. A. deficit over which the Mayor and the City Council have no direct control.

One of the substantial factors in the reduction of the tax rate for 1954 is the amount to be raised by taxation for debt requirements. The result of a five-year policy of incurring less new debt than the amount of old debt retired is beginning to be reflected in the tax rate of the city.

I am quite hopeful that this reversal in the trend of higher annual taxes will continue. However, there is no means by which the municipal government can exert a controlling influence over inflationary costs or other items of expense beyond the regulatory authority of municipal officials. In so far as we are able to do so, we shall continue to be watchful over any expenditures which have an effect upon the tax rate.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen.

May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene.

MAYOR CUTS BUDGET TO HOLD TAX RATE AT THE PRESENT LEVEL.

The following communication has gone forward from the office of the Mayor:

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN:

Since the budget appropriations for departmental maintenance were submitted on February 1 and subsequently adopted by your Honorable Body with certain modifications, it has become apparent that, in some instances, the appropriations for personnel requirements can be reduced. It is, I submit, incumbent that advantage be taken of this situation in order that the tax rate will not reflect appropriations not actually needed.

An examination of the personnel cost to date discloses that appropriations for this purpose can be reduced in various amounts totaling $350,000, as set forth in the attached order.

I therefore most respectfully request that your Honorable Body pass the accompanying rescission order at today's meeting of the City Council. I am assured by the Administrative Services Department that the reduction in appropriations for personnel service will in no wise affect the present standing, salaries, or wages of employees.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Ordered, That items in the appropriations and tax orders passed by the City Council on March 29, 1954, and approved by the Mayor on April 2, 1954, and amended by chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954, be, and hereby are, reduced as follows in Item 1, Personal Service:

Administrative Services Department—Purchasing and Printing Divisions.....	$5,000
Building Department.....	5,000
City Planning Board.....	10,000
Treasury Department—Collecting Division.....	5,000
Election.....	5,000
Fire Department.....	40,000
Health Department—Health Division.....	25,000
Hospital Department.....	10,000
Law Department.....	5,000
Parks and Recreation Department.....	40,000
Police Department.....	40,000
Public Works Department—Automotive Division.....	8,000
Public Works Department—Bridge Division.....	22,000
Public Works Department—Paving Division.....	25,000
Public Works Department—Sewer Division.....	15,000
Real Property Department—Buildings Division.....	5,000
Welfare Department.....	70,000
Penal Institutions Department—House of Correction.....	15,000

And that the items so reduced are hereby appropriated in place of the original appropriations, and that all orders heretofore passed by the City Council relating to appropriations, taxes and interest thereon, apply to the reduced appropriations herein provided for.

MAYOR ASKS FOR LOAN ORDER OF $7,500,000.

place old and poorly located fire houses, at an approximate cost of $750,000; and a further appropriation of $800,000 to make possible the construction of a 750-ton incinerator. The communications attached from the Superintendent of Long Island Hospital, the Fire Commissioner, and the Commissioner of Public Works substantiate the need for the above-cited improvements. These improvements are in conformity with the Capital Improvement Program of the City Planning Board.

In order that plans may be prepared and work commenced as quickly as possible on these necessary improvements, I most respectfully request the prompt consideration of the attached order by your Honorable Body.

It is important that the physical plant of the city be kept in good condition. It is equally important that plant improvements be made to meet current and future needs. To defer major repairs or postpone necessary improvements will result in greater, and perhaps prohibitive, expenditures in the years ahead.

I recommend passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT.
Purchasing Division.

BOSTON, June 4, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In accordance with the provisions of the letter approved by your Honor on January 26, 1954, authority is requested at this time to award a contract, without public advertisement, to the following company for furnishing perishable foods to the various city departments, from June 7, 1954, to March 31, 1955, inclusive:

Oscar B. Stone & Sons, Inc., 132 Newmarket square, Boston, Mass.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, June 8, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR:

We are now in the process of making plans for the floodlighting of certain of our night baseball and football games in connection with our recreation program. We plan to have at least one floodlighted game in each section of the city during the baseball and football seasons. It is not possible to floodlight all the areas for which we receive requests, but by scheduling at least one night game in each section of the city, we feel we are making a fair distribution of this recreation feature.

During the years that we have been floodlighting games, the service has been furnished by the Lashua Portable Lighting, Inc., 594 Washington street, Stoughton, Mass. We have tried to obtain bids in the past for doing this work, but on each occasion the only one to submit a bid was the above mentioned company. Their price has been $150 for floodlighting each baseball game and $200 for each football game. This includes the furnishing and setting up of the equipment, floodlighting the entire field, furnishing of all labor necessary, etc.

We have received the same quotation again this year from the Lashua Company. There is no other concern, to our knowledge, located in the Greater Boston area that is equipped to handle an assignment of this kind. This company floodlights practically all night events in the eastern part of the country, even in many Canadian cities where there are no permanent installations for floodlighting equipment.

Our plans call for floodlighting 10 baseball games and 21 football games during the 1954 season. I am of the opinion that nothing would be gained by advertising, for the reasons stated above, and, accordingly, request that we be allowed to award a contract, without publicly advertising for bids, to the Lashua Portable Lighting Company, 594 Washington street, Stoughton, at a price of $150 for each of 10 baseball games and $200 for each of 21 football games, for a total contract price of $5,700, charged to Parks and Recreation Department budget, Item 299.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK R. KELLEY,
Commissioner.

SUFFOLK COUNTY.

REGISTRY OF DEEDS.

BOSTON, June 8, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I hereby respectfully request from your Honor written authority to dispense with publicly advertising for bids and to enter into a separate contract with Field Stationery Company, 414 Highland avenue, Somerville, Mass., for the furnishing of 61 books consisting of 46 1955 grantor indices and 15 1955 grantee indices. Said 61 books having a total of 22,820 pages to be made up of standard paper. Grade A; printed and stamped according to schedule as per contract. The grantor books to be bound in two colors: one set in dark binding and the second set in light binding. The expenditure under the proposed contract is to be $1,641.25.

The aforementioned firm has for five years supplied the Registry with the said indices and their products have consistently been of the very highest quality.

Delivery by September first is essential because the headings have to be entered by the Register.

Respectfully yours,

LEO J. SULLIVAN,
Register of Deeds.

BOSTON, June 9, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Registry of Deeds in need of new photostat machines had requested Mr. Charles J. Fox, Director of Administrative Services, for permission to purchase same. Quotations for the said machines were received from two companies, being the only companies manufacturing same. The Haloid Company submitted a bid of $16,180 for two new machines. Photostat Corporation submitted a bid of $12,000 for two machines. By virtue of the supplementary budget we were allowed $6,000 for the purchase of one new machine from the said Photostat Corporation. It is my opinion that nothing could be gained by publicly advertising.

I therefore respectfully request permission be granted to award a contract to the Photostat Corporation for the purchase of one photographic copying apparatus, model No. 1, recorder, continuous for $6,000.

Very truly yours,

LEO J. SULLIVAN,
Register of Deeds.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, June 7, 1954.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p.m., President WHITE in the chair. Absent, Councillor Hailer. The Reverend John RENEHAN, C.S.S.R., Rector of Mission Church, Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Roxbury, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. JOHN RENEHAN.

O Lord, Jesus Christ, our Savior and Counsellor, look down upon this Council Chamber in one of our greatest cities. We bow our heads and ask this blessing before we take up the duties of another day. Upon our decisions rest the prosperity and happiness of many people. Grant us clean hands and pure hearts and ceaseless devotion to the just claims of our fellows. Help us by Thy unflinching wisdom to administer the power entrusted to us.

We are happy to make this prayer, dear Lord, and hope You hear us. We are neither in church nor in trouble. Usually we speak to You before an altar, but today we ask You to help us by Your presence.

Long years ago, You stilled the waters of a stormy lake and the stormy tempers of the poor fishermen who were leaders also.

Keep our city peaceful, our own minds clear to the common good, our debates gentlemanly, our hearts set on the welfare of all our people so that we will settle the affairs of our city to make right, and be satisfied with ourselves and faithful to Thee, the guiding Savior of us all. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

LEASING OF COMMONWEALTH PIER AND ARMY BASE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 7, 1954.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of the Port of Boston Commission concerning your resolution of May 24, 1954, relative to the leasing of Commonwealth Pier and the Boston Army Base.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Port of Boston Commission,
June 3, 1954.

Mr. Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Mr. Flemming:

I wish to acknowledge your request of May 28, for a report on Councillor McCormack's resolution that the Port of Boston Commission make a report to the Mayor relative to its plans of leasing Commonwealth Pier and the Boston Army Base.

At the present time, we are in the process of modernizing Commonwealth Pier, to make it an up-to-date, efficient pier. We are also negotiating with several interested parties, and as soon as a lessee has been selected and approved, we will be very pleased to report to Mayor Hynes.

In reference to the Army Base—hearings are now going on in Washington, with the idea in mind to have the Army Base Pier repaired and put into usable condition. If negotiations go through as outlined, the Port of Boston Commission will become the lessor of this facility. If, and when, this happens, we will then be able to negotiate with a lessee, or lessees, of this facility.

Yours very truly,

R. I. GOODRICH, Commissioner.

SURVEY OF PHYSICAL STRUCTURE OF CITY'S PLANTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 7, 1954.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Acting Director of Administrative Services relative to your order of May 17, 1954, concerning the advisability of appointing a citizens' committee to make a survey of the conditions of the physical structure of the city's plants.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Administrative Services Department,
May 28, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

I acknowledge for the director receipt of your communication of May 26, 1954, enclosing copy of the following City Council order introduced by Councillor Piemonte:

"Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor consider the advisability of appointing a citizens' committee to make a survey of the conditions of the physical structure of the city's plants and also with a view determining their continued need, and that their findings and recommendations be referred to the Mayor and City Council."

It is the director's opinion, with which I concur, that the appointing of a Citizens' Committee for a project of this nature could not and would not accomplish the purpose for which this order was intended. A thorough and complete survey of this nature would require the services of an experienced and competent building manager, or consultants who have staffs trained in the special fields of analysis and research.

It has been found from past experience that Citizens' Committees, although perfectly willing to cooperate and assist in every way, find their efforts stymied in the early part of their operations when technical problems confront them in endeavoring to apply the most modern and effective techniques of management and administration.

I believe it is the director's intention, provided appropriations will permit, to utilize the services of a consultant trained in this particular field whose recommendations would be of real value, if and when adopted.

Respectfully yours,

LAWRENCE W. COSTELLO,
Acting Director.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS IN ROSLINDALE AND WEST ROXBURY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 7, 1954.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Traffic Commissioner in regard to your order of May 24, 1954, relative to surveying and installing traffic signal lights and traffic signs, e.g., "Slow and Traffic Limit" signs along Washington street, Centre street, and Belgrade avenue, in the Roslindale and West Roxbury areas.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Traffic Commission, June 3, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

With reference to City Council order dated May 24, 1954, requesting the surveying and installing of traffic signal lights and signs along Washington street, Centre street, and Belgrade avenue, in the Roslindale and West Roxbury areas, I submit the following report:

1. Washington Street—On August 27, 1953, a traffic signal at Archdale road and Washington street was placed in operation; at Beech street, Walworth street, and Washington street a traffic signal was placed in operation on November 3, 1953.

During the reconstruction of Washington street, underground conduit for future traffic signals was installed at Cummins Highway and Washington street and at Metropolitan avenue and Washington street. It is intended to install traffic signals at these two latter intersections when additional funds are made available.

The section of Washington street, from West Roxbury Parkway to the Boston-Dedham line is, so far as the control of traffic is concerned, under the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works. The street is to be reconstructed shortly. It may be assumed that the state will install any traffic signals it deems necessary in this area.

2. Belgrade Avenue—On January 6, 1953, a traffic signal was placed in operation at Belgrade avenue and Walworth street. On December 17, 1952, a traffic signal was placed in operation at Belgrade avenue and West Roxbury Parkway. It is our opinion that these are the only two intersections on Belgrade avenue which lend themselves to the installation of traffic signals.

3. Centre Street—On January 12, 1953, a traffic signal was placed in operation at Andover road, Centre street, and Weld street.

At present there are traffic signals at the following intersections:

Centre street and Hillcroft road.
Centre street, at Faulkner Hospital.
Centre street and Allandale street (flashing signal).

Centre street and Veterans of Foreign Wars Parkway.

Andover road, Centre street, and Weld street.
Centre street and Colbert street (Holy Name Church).

Centre street and Corey street.
Centre street and La Grange street.
Centre street, at St. Theresa's Church.
Centre street, Spring street, and Temple street.

We believe that every intersection along this route which should be signalized has been taken care of with the possible exception of Belgrade avenue, Centre street, and Manthorne road. Because of the angle parking and taxicab activities which obtain within this intersection, it is highly moot whether a traffic signal would improve or worsen existing conditions. For this reason we have been hesitant to recommend a signal at this location.

Regarding the request for "Slow" signs, we believe that the critical points along the three arteries are at present equipped with "Slow" signs, but we respectfully suggest that a further survey be made to determine whether it is advisable to erect any additional signs. This will be done.

It would appear that the request for "Traffic Limit" signs is intended to refer to "Speed Limit" signs. The application of speed limit zones with attendant "Speed Limit" signs is properly in areas where incidence of intersections is not great. In streets such as Belgrade avenue, Centre street, and Washington street a great number of intersections make the general speed laws more properly applicable. At present we maintain "Speed Limit" signs in the portion of Centre street, from Arborway to Veterans of Foreign Wars Parkway.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. ARTHUR REILLY, Commissioner.

SWIMMING OR WADING POOL IN ROS- LINDALE MUNICIPAL BUILDING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 7, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Assistant Commissioner, Real Property Department, and Chairman of the City Planning Board relative to your order of April 5, 1954, in regard to the possibility of having a swimming pool built in the basement of the Municipal Building in Roslindale square.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Real Property Department,
May 11, 1954.

Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

Referring to Councillor Hailer's order of April 5, 1954, in which he requests that this department and the Planning Board make a survey to determine the possibilities of installing a swimming pool or a wading pool in the basement of the Roslindale Municipal Building.

In compliance with the above order, this department and the Planning Board have gone over the plans of the foundation and footings together and, noting the type of construction with 6½-inch heavy iron lally columns 13 plus feet apart in the basement, agree that such a project would not be possible and would advise against it.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE P. DONOVAN,
Assistant Commissioner Real Property.

City of Boston,
Planning Board, May 25, 1954.
Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Regarding your request of April 7, and the Council order of April 5, 1954, concerning the possibility of constructing a swimming pool in the basement of the municipal building in Roslindale square, the City Planning Board, in conjunction with the Public Buildings Department, has surveyed the situation and reports as follows: The City Planning Board concurs with the Public Buildings Department in the determination that the project is not feasible or practical to construct. The Public Buildings Department has reported to you in detail concerning the cost and construction aspects of the situation.

The City Planning Board wishes to re-express its general policy concerning the construction of swimming pools. Boston has an outstanding need for many costly capital improvements, but a limited amount of dollars with which to finance them. Extreme care must be taken to build "first things first"; to first construct those projects that greatly affect the safety, health, and welfare of the greatest number of persons. In many instances, certain recreational facilities belong in this higher priority classification. Swimming and wading pools are not so highly rated, however, because (and in contrast to playground facilities) (1) they offer but one specialized type of recreational activity; (2) they are often limited in size and thereby, users; (3) they are found most useful only during the midsummer months; (4) they are costly to construct, and (5) they are costly to operate and maintain.

To conclude, the Planning Board advises that other types of public improvements make a stronger demand upon the available funds. Swimming and wading facilities can not be justified at this time.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS F. McDONOUGH, Chairman.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 1, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

Under provisions of chapter 92 of the Acts of 1953, parking meter receipts may be used to meet principal and interest requirements on debt incurred for the acquisition and establishment of off-street parking facilities.

Since 1947, the city has issued five million dollars ($5,000,000) in bonds and has used the proceeds to establish five parking areas and facilities. According to the records of the Auditing Department, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) must be provided in the current year to meet principal maturities on these bonds as well as eighty thousand four hundred dollars ($80,400) to meet interest requirements.

In view of the authority granted by the Legislature in chapter 92 of the Acts of 1953, I submit herewith an order providing for the appropriation from parking meter fees of three hundred and thirty thousand four hundred dollars ($330,400) to be applied to meet maturing debt on interest payments for the current year on outstanding parking facility bonds.

I respectfully recommend adoption of this order by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

Chapter 92, Acts of 1953, authorizes cities and towns having parking meters to apply the receipts from said meters to the payment of any debt incurred for the acquisition of off-street parking areas and facilities.

According to the records of the Auditing Department, there will be required in the fiscal year 1954, the sum of $25,000 for the redemption of debt and $80,400 for the payment of interest on debt issued by the City of Boston for the acquisition of off-street parking areas and facilities.

Therefore, I recommend that an order be submitted to the City Council to appropriate from parking meter receipts the following amounts for the purposes specified:

City Loans, Redemption of..... $250,000
City Debt Requirements, Interest..... $80,400

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. LALLY,

set forth be appropriated from parking meter receipts for the purposes specified:

TRANSFER OF LAND AT 7 EAST STREET TO COMMISSIONER OF REAL PROPERTY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 4, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication received from Francis X. Cotter, Fire Commissioner, certifying that the fire station located at 7 East street, Boston Proper, is no longer required for public purposes.

I submit herewith an order transferring the land and building to the custody of the Commissioner of Real Property for sale at public auction.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Fire Department, June 3, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes and the Honorable City Council.

Gentlemen:

The Fire Department now has in its custody and control the abandoned fire station and land located at 7 East street, corner of East Street place, Boston, formerly occupied by Engine Company 7, which company is now housed in the new Oliver Street fire station.

I recommend that this property be transferred to the Real Property Department of the City of Boston for public sale, as in my opinion the land and building are no longer needed for public purposes.

Respectfully yours,
FRANCIS X. COTTER,
Fire Commissioner.

Whereas, The City of Boston is the owner in fee of approximately one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (1,893) square feet of land on the southwesterly side of East street, Boston Proper, held by said city for Fire Department purposes; and

Whereas, The Fire Commissioner of the City of Boston has determined that the said parcel of land and building are no longer required for public purposes; now, therefore, it is hereby Ordered, That approximately one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (1,893) square feet of land, together with the building thereon, situated on the southwesterly side of East street, Boston Proper, and numbered 9 East street, be, and the same hereby is, transferred from the care, custody, control and management of the Fire Department to the care, custody, control, and management of the Commissioner of Real Property.

SALE OF LAND TO SEARS ROEBUCK & CO.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 7, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

Chapter 199 of the Acts of 1951 authorizes the sale or lease to Sears Roebuck & Co. of any part or parts, or the whole of the land, in Boston, bounded by Park Drive, Brookline avenue, the Riverway, and the new highway road, provided that the sale is authorized by a vote of the City Council and assented to by the Board of Park Commissioners.

At a regular meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission, held on Tuesday, May 25, 1954, the Board of Parks and Recreation Commissioners assented to the sale of this property to Sears Roebuck & Co. A copy of this vote is transmitted herewith.

Also transmitted herewith is an order for the sale of 92,380 square feet of land, within the area described above to Sears Roebuck & Co. for the sum of $125,000.

I recommend the passage of the accompanying order by your Honorable Body so that this property might come under the ownership of Sears Roebuck & Co. and thus become taxable. This particular site has been used by the public for considerable time as a parking space. Sears Roebuck & Co. will maintain a parking space, open to its customers and to others, and will grade and beautify the location.

In my opinion, the sale of this land is of mutual benefit to Sears Roebuck & Co., one of our largest taxpayers, and to the city itself. In view of the fact that the transfer of this property has been held in abeyance since 1951 because of varied legal actions, I most earnestly request that your Body give prompt consideration and approval to the attached order.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, May 26, 1954.
Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Sir:

At a regular meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission held at the office of the Commission, 33 Beacon street, Boston, on Tuesday, May 25, 1954, the following vote was adopted:

Voted, To assent to the sale to Sears Roebuck & Co. of approximately 92,380 square feet of land, located at Brookline avenue, Park Drive, and Riverway, Boston, at a minimum price of $125,000. Respectfully yours,

Whereas, Sears Roebuck & Co. has offered to pay therefor the sum of one hundred twenty-five thousand (125,000) dollars; now, therefore, it is hereby

CONGRESS VOTES COMPREHENSIVE HOUSING PROGRAM.

Under the new federal housing law signed by the President on July 15 federal funds for slum clearance and public housing are now available to cities that demonstrate a need for low-rent housing. Cities generally must supply proof of blight, a master redevelopment plan for the blighted area, and temporary housing for displaced slum dwellers. The new law provides advance money to help cities map plans. Many cities, especially those that have housing authorities, already have the necessary information and are among the first to qualify for federal aid. Among the cities that are making studies to determine their housing needs are Chicago, Louisville, Miami, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, and Boston. Legislatures of 42 states have authorized local governments to establish low-rent housing authorities, and at least 25 states have laws authorizing local participation in federally supported slum clearance projects. Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Utah, and Wyoming do not as yet have housing-enabling laws that will qualify their cities for federal funds for public low-rent housing.

REORGANIZATION OF BOSTON HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Health Department activities beyond routine functions were unusually numerous during 1950. Reorganization was carried out in accordance with the new ordinance, with consolidation of administrative functions and the clear delineation of responsibility.

The department has four main sections, i.e., General Services, Medical Services, Environmental Sanitation, and Local Health Services. Administration of a section is assigned to the Section Director who is responsible directly to the Commissioner or to the Assistant Commissioner. Three divisions make up the Section of General Services: Vital Statistics, Administration, and Health Education. Four divisions—Communicable Disease, Tuberculosis, Public Health Nursing, and the Diagnostic Laboratory—form the Medical Services Section while the Health Units and Dental Division make up the Section of Local Health Services. All sanitation is concentrated in the Section of Environmental Sanitation and includes the Milk Inspection Division, the Laboratory of Chemistry and Sanitary Biology, Food Division, Housing, and General Sanitation.

BOSTON MAKING READY TO CARE FOR SNOWY AND SLEETTY STREETS DURING COMING WINTER —MAYOR JOHN B. HYNES HAS APPROVED A LETTER OF REQUEST FOR REPAIRS TO SNOW-FIGHTER TRUCKS BOUGHT FROM M.T.A. AND CITY'S OWN MACHINERY — 16 SNOW FIGHTERS IN LIST.

Boston is in the midst of preparations for taking care of the coming winter's snowy and icy streets. Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland, with the approval of Mayor Hynes, has awarded a contract for the repair of the Walter snow-fighter trucks and the FWD trucks so that they will be in shape and condition to cope with any circumstances that winter may produce. There were sixteen snow-fighter trucks purchased from the MTA. These are among those being readied for operation. The letter asking approval of the work by the Mayor reads as follows:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, June 18, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Last fall the City of Boston purchased sixteen Walter snow-fighter trucks and

Francis R. Kelley, Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, has 59 lifeguards working at the various city beaches during these hot and humid days, guarding the lives of citizens who seek comfort in the waters that lave the shores of Boston. These lifeguards are on duty all the time that bathing is allowed. The letter of approval of the appointments was signed by Mayor Hynes before he departed for his vacation trip abroad and contains the following names:

FINANCE COMMISSION PROPOSES CITY BUILD NEW LAUNDRY PLANT TO CARE FOR ALL CITY'S LAUNDRY WORK EXCEPT THAT OF HOSPITAL-INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT—SUGGESTION OFFERS SAVING OF $10,000 TO $15,000 AND SOLVES LABOR PROBLEMS AS WELL—WORK BY CONTRACTOR NOT DEEMED MOST SATISFACTORY—USE AND INCREASE OF PRESENT FACILITIES RECOMMENDED AS BEST.

The Finance Commission has addressed the following communication to Mayor John B. Hynes:

BOSTON, June 22, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

SIR:

You have asked the Finance Commission to give you the benefit of its opinion in regard to the question of whether it is best to let out to a private contractor the work of providing laundering of towels and bathing suits used in the city beaches and baths, or to provide this service in a city laundry.

This is a problem which must be solved at an early date. The city now has a laundry for this purpose, but, because the city does not have a boiler plant to go with it, it is now paying $42,600 per year for steam to the owner of an adjoining property. Until three years ago this steam service was costing the Park Department, which buys it, only the salary of one fireman — about $4,000 per year. Producing steam for the city laundry and bathhouse was only incidental to the operation of the plant for other purposes.

New Equipment Needed.

Now the laundry is in need of much new equipment. Estimates of cost indicate a $30,000 expenditure for this purpose. The plumbing in the bathhouse in which the laundry is located is in serious need of replacement after fifty-six years of service. Estimates indicate an expenditure of $30,000 more here, and this is necessary regardless of what happens in the laundry situation.

Laundrymen have been interested in this situation for some years, viewing the possibility of being able to make an attractive offer to the city to care for the laundry service. On the other hand, Park Department officials have wanted to construct a new laundry to include a boiler plant. A complication in the situation is that the present laundry and bathhouse have been operated as one plant, obtaining steam for heat, power, and hot water from the same source.

To provide a new laundry with its own boiler plant capable of serving both the laundry and the adjoining baths will cost about $200,000.

The Finance Commission has given consideration to the one concrete offer made by a private firm to furnish the service now performed by that laundry. This service consists of the pickup of the towels and bathing suits used at the various beaches and public baths, bringing them for laundering to the city-operated plant on Dover street, and bringing them back to the beaches and baths as needed. At present the city buys toweling, and employees of the Park Department make out of it the towels rented for a penny apiece by the bathers.

FINANCE COMMISSION PROPOSES NEW LAUNDRY PLANT.

It is important to realize that the building known as the Dover Street Baths, in which this laundry is located, was first opened in October, 1898. It was the first established in this country to supply bathing facilities in a residential area to those whose homes were without such facilities. It is in what has always been a highly congested area. The bath section has shower facilities for men and women, fitted for use throughout the year. It has been in continuous operation since it was first opened and has constant patronage.

BUILDING ANTIQUATED.

The building is structurally sound, but it has an antiquated system of hot water supply which, by present standards, is considered to have dangerous possibilities. The laundry section contains five antiquated washers which are near the end of their usefulness. It has a mangle for ironing and drying, two dryer machines in good conditions, and four extractors in poor condition.

There is no boiler plant in the building. Steam supplied from an adjoining property heats the building and the water used in both baths and laundry. This adjoining property is now privately owned, but was used until three years ago by the Fire Department as headquarters and for machine shops. The cost of steam is ridiculously expensive, as stated; much of the laundry machinery must be replaced; and the facilities in the bathhouse are, to say the least, antiquated and in need of replacement.

There are two methods of meeting this situation. The first is to accept the proposition of the local firm which offers to give laundering service (the city continuing to supply the towels) for an estimated $75,249 per year on a three-year contract. This price would cover the cost of pickup and delivery and washing. It would permit abandonment of the present laundry facilities, for which there is a $63,801 payroll chargeable to laundering alone. However, there are other expenses which acceptance of this offer would necessitate, the principal one being to provide a new boiler plant to supply hot water and heat to the bathhouse.

COSTS HIGH.

Therefore, adding to the laundering cost of $75,249 the financing cost of a boiler plant in the bathhouse, the payroll operation cost of this new plant, and the cost of furnishing fuel, and making repairs, and making necessary renovations to the plumbing, etc., in the bathhouse, the cost to the city by this contract method and its attendant expense would be $121,148.75 in the first year and $91,148.75 thereafter.

The other method under consideration is to build and equip properly a new laundry and boiler plant. On the assumption that adoption of the first method would eliminate from city service employees now drawing $63,801 per year, and that the offered laundering price will remain constant for many years, the second method would be the more expensive by from $10,000 to $15,000 per year. Yet the question of which is cheaper for the city is dependent on whether or not the city would eliminate the present laundry staff from city employment entirely. The administration has not had too much difficulty in eliminating positions which become vacant by retirement or death; but attempted elimination of employees for reasons similar to this situation is not so easily accomplished.

SAVE ON STEAM.

To build its own laundry on city-owned land adjoining the Dover Street Baths, to buy necessary new laundry equipment, to renovate the plumbing, etc., in the baths, and to supply heat and hot water to the baths from the new boiler plant would cost approximately $131,852 in the first year and $101,852 thereafter. By this method the present laundry staff (costing about $63,000 per year) would be retained to operate the new laundry. The adoption of either method will relieve the city of the present $42,600 charge for steam.

The breakdown of the two proposals is as follows:

CITY OPERATION IN NEW PLANT.
Capital cost (new boiler plant and new laundry machinery).....	$200,000
Financing cost per year for 20 years ..	19,291
Personnel (present cost).....	72,764
Supplies.....	1,000
Repairs.....	1,000
Fuel.....	6,594
Trucking.....	1,203

Eventual cost per year.....	$101,852
Additional for bathhouse plumbing, etc. (one-year cost in first year of operation).....	30,000
First year total cost in a new laundry building.....	$131,852

CONTRACT OPERATION.
Capital improvement (a boiler plant for the bathhouse alone).....	$30,000
Financing cost (of boiler plant for baths for 20 years).....	2,893 75
Contract payments (by offer now in hand).....	75,249 00
Bath boiler plant staff.....	8,500 00
Fuel.....	4,006 00
Repairs.....	500 00

Eventual cost by contract method ..	$91,148 75
Additional for plumbing, etc. (one year).....	30,000 00
Cost in first year of operation of laundering by contract and installing new plumbing, etc.....	$121,148 75

The cold way of looking at this situation would be to reduce city expenditure by adoption of the contract method. That would reduce general expenditure by from $10,000 to $15,000 per year. However, it would involve abandonment of a city laundry, which would leave the city to the mercy of private laundrymen in the future. In the event the present offered price proved unsatisfactory to the contractor, naturally, in years to come the price would be increased, and what appears at the present time to be a saving might disappear.

The Commission rather would favor the plan of building a new laundry and making arrangements to have it do the laundering for all other city departments as well, except the Hospital-Institutions Department, which now operates laundries at the City Hospital and at Long Island Infirmary. That method would permit savings which would more than offset the difference of $10,000 to $15,000 between contract laundering for the baths alone and laundering in a new plant on Dover street, and, in addition, would solve the labor problem involved.

three FWD trucks, so called, from the MTA for plowing, sanding, and salting the highways of this city during the winter months.

A contract was recently awarded to the authorized local dealer for the repair of the Walter snow fighters, and it is my opinion that another contract should be awarded to the local dealer who is authorized to sell and repair FWD trucks.

Division Engineer McGrath has had a survey made of the latter-referenced units, and it is his opinion that it will cost in excess of $2,800 to effect the necessary repairs. These units are used only during the winter months on snow-plowing and related work, and it is absolutely essential to have them in proper operating condition at such times. Due to the large fleet of mobile equipment that the department has under its jurisdiction, it is impossible for our mechanics to do the necessary repair work on the FWD trucks in addition to repairing the hundreds of other department-owned units.

In view of this, I feel that the work can be done more satisfactorily and more economically by the local authorized dealer, the Boston Road and Equipment Company, Inc., 2262 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester. All charges made by the latter-referenced company in connection with the repair work will be subject to approval by an inspector of the Automotive Division of this department, who will be present at all times during the progress of the work. The above-referenced contractor will take full responsibility for the satisfactory operation of the units, and will guarantee all workmanship and parts used in the repair work.

Due to the nature of the work, it would be most impractical to attempt to obtain publicly advertised proposals, as it is difficult to tell the full extent of the repair work necessary until the various working parts of these heavy-duty trucks are disassembled.

The work of the contractor will be performed in accordance with the provisions of the contract specifications to be prepared under the direction of Division Engineer McGrath, and payments will be made for labor and materials in accordance with the pertinent provisions of the contract document.

I respectfully request your authorization to dispense with advertising, and to award a contract to the Boston Road and Equipment Company, Inc., of 2262 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, in an amount not to exceed $3,000, for effecting repairs to three FWD snow-fighting trucks that are owned by this department. It is understood that only those repairs will be made as authorized by Division Engineer McGrath of the Automotive Division.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT.

Purchasing Division.

BOSTON, June 22, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Authority is requested to award a contract, without public advertisement, to Buck Printing Company for lithographing 200,000 copies of an up-to-date visitor's guide folder, in color, entitled "You'll Like Boston."

Owing to the fact that the Printing Section is not equipped to furnish lithography, it is necessary to engage an outside company to perform this work. The Buck Printing Company furnished these folders last year and has the plates on hand and with minor changes can reprint the folders. These folders will be available through the office of Director of Public Celebrations to guests of the city, including those visiting the city as members of the different conventions who will assemble in Boston during the course of the year.

Approximate total amount of contract not to exceed $9,091, net, 30 days.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

BOSTON, June 16, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

SUBJECT: Relocation of Visual and Radio Education Unit in the Frank V. Thompson School Building.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As you may know, the Visual and Radio Education Unit, now located in the High School of Commerce Building, is to be relocated in the Frank V. Thompson School Building during the summer vacation. The Department of School Buildings is making an extended effort to cooperate with the School Committee so that all required alterations, due to changes authorized by the Superintendent of Public Schools, will be completed and the Frank V. Thompson School Building with the required facilities available for school activities at the opening of the school term in September.

Alterations to the building, changes in occupancy of rooms from paint shop to film storage and repair shop, woodworking shop to photographic dark room, woodworking shop stock and tool room to negative development room, etc., and the work of moving cafeteria equipment, woodworking benches, proof press, electrician's bench, type cases, compositor's bench, presses, etc., are of such a nature that they involve the services of many types of tradesmen, such as carpenters, plumbers, electricians, plasterers, riggers, painters, etc.

It is an impossible task to specify all the work involved under a single heading, for the purpose of obtaining bids by public advertising, and such a procedure would consume practically all the time between the date of this writing and the opening of school to negotiate contracts. It seems pertinent to me that it is necessary to have the work done on order with competent contractors, with the understanding that in each instance, where practicable, the lowest of at least three bidders solicited will be awarded the work.

It is quite conceivable to me that this great volume of work, involving its many trades, might entail an expenditure of $9,500, but this amount would be broken down into a number of items on orders issued to the contractors.

Inspectors of this department will be constantly at the site to direct the operations of the respective contractors, to keep records of expenditures, and to certify to payments, all in accordance with accepted standards of this department.

For the reasons set forth above, I respectfully request that you approve of my suggested procedure of having the work performed under orders issued by this department, without the formality of public advertising.

It is my opinion that the best interests of the city will be served by this procedure.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

BOSTON, June 16, 1954.

SUBJECT: Relocation of English High School in High School of Commerce Building.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As you may know, the pupils and teaching staff of English High School will be moved into the High School of Commerce Building during the summer vacation. The Department of School Buildings is making an extended effort to cooperate with the School Committee so that all required alterations, due to changes authorized by the Superintendent of Public Schools, will be completed and the Commerce Building with its facilities available for school activities at the opening of the school term in September.

The work of moving statuary, works of art, laboratory equipment, filing equipment, safes, science kit assembly units, valuable oil paintings, marble plaques, library furnishings, office equipment, cafeteria equipment, storage book bins, medical supplies, cabinets, wardrobes, etc., some of which by dictates of the Superintendent of Schools must be completed by July 5, 1954, is of such a nature that it will involve the services of many types of tradesmen, such as carpenters, plumbers, electricians, plasterers, riggers, painters, etc.

It is an impossible task to specify all the work involved under a single heading, for the purpose of obtaining bids by public advertising, and such a procedure would consume practically all the time between the date of this writing and the opening of school to negotiate contracts. It seems pertinent to me that it is necessary to have the work done on order with competent contractors, with the understanding that in each instance, where practicable, the lowest of at least three bidders solicited will be awarded the work.

It is quite conceivable to me that this great volume of work, involving its many trades, might entail an expenditure of $30,000, but this amount would be broken down into a number of items on orders issued to the contractors.

Inspectors of this department will be constantly at the site to direct the operations of the respective contractors, to keep records of expenditures, and to certify to payments, all in accordance with accepted standards of this department.

For the reasons set forth above, I respectfully request that you approve of my suggested procedure of having the work performed under orders issued by this department, without the formality of public advertising.

It is my opinion that the best interests of the city will be served by this procedure.

Respectfully yours,

Superintendent of Construction.

BOSTON, June 16, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

SUBJECT: Andrew Jackson School Building.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Progress of work on the basis of drawings and specifications relating to pointing of exterior steps and wall of main entrance, awarded to Donato Antonellis, 15 Sparhawk street, Brighton, the lowest of five bidders, disclosed the fact that concealed brick buttresses supporting granite treads had been laid in sand and were so loose and unstable as to no longer provide the support required.

When this condition was called to my attention by the District School Building Inspector I assigned Deputy Superintendent Edward M. O'Flaherty to corroborate the inspector's analysis of the situation, and Mr. O'Flaherty, in company with Mr. Lester Murphy of the Finance Commission, examined conditions at the site. Mr. O'Flaherty confirmed the opinion of the inspector.

To rebuild the brick buttresses an amount estimated at $465 will have to be expended. This amount added to the original competitive figure of $735 totals $1,200.

As the contractor performing the work originally ordered will be obliged to rebuild the buttresses to complete the setting of granite treads, I ask that you waive the requirement of publicly advertising for competitive proposals and approve my action in ordering the work to completion at a cost not to exceed twelve hundred dollars ($1,200).

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,

Superintendent of Construction.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

BOSTON, June 16, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Your approval is respectfully requested for the award of a contract in the sum of $4,853.75, and without advertising, to H. P. Hood & Sons, 500 Rutherford avenue, Charlestown, Mass., for the furnishing of the following for the children in the various sections of the city, in connection with the public celebration of Independence Day:

8,825 dozen Hoodsies at 55 cents per dozen, $4,853.75.

This firm has satisfactorily carried out similar commitments for this city for a considerable number of years and since the price for this commodity is uniform, it is felt that nothing would be gained by publicly inviting bids.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN D. BROWN,

Director of Public Celebrations.

BOSTON, June 18, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Your approval is respectfully requested to dispense with advertising and to award a contract to the J. L. Sullivan Company, of 1987 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, Mass., for furnishing candy, viz., 105,000 cellophane-wrapped lollypops, of assorted flavors, for the children in the various sections of the city, in connection with the public celebration of Independence Day, in the total amount of $1,575.

This firm has satisfactorily performed this service for a number of years and inasmuch as the price of this commodity is relatively uniform, it is considered that no advantage would accrue to the city by publicly advertising for proposals for the same.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN D. BROWN,

GENERAL SCHOOL PURPOSES

The Secretary read the following communication from His Honor, the Mayor:

City of Boston
Office of the Mayor
City Hall

April 15, 1954

Miss Agnes E. Reynolds,
Secretary,
Department of the School Committee,
15 Beacon Street
Boston, Massachusetts.
Dear Miss Reynolds:

I acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 5, 1954, containing the request of the School Committee that I recommend to the City Council adoption of an appropriation order providing $2,671,226.10 for General School Purposes.

Compliance with this request would mean that I was in agreement with an over-all program which provided for appropriations that were $884,327.47 in excess of those adopted last year, $1,-385,588.37 in excess of actual expenditures in 1953 and which would cause, of and by itself, an increase of sixty cents in the tax rate.

In view of the fact that the budgets adopted for city and county departments will not affect adversely the 1954 tax rate I feel that all concerned should endeavor to establish school appropriations for the current year at a level close to that of 1953. To this end, I request that the School Committee review the several appropriations proposed for General School purposes in your letter of April 5 and submit a revised schedule that will lessen the impact on the tax rate.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) John B. Hynes
Mayor

Placed on file.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That the Secretary be and she hereby is authorized and directed to draft a letter requesting the Mayor to recommend to the City Council an appropriation for General School Purposes for $2,214,226.10.

On roll call the order was passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Mr. Lee, and Mr. Musco—4.

NAYS—0.

ABSENT—Mr. Ward—1.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, while I realize that debate on this motion may be superfluous because of the many, many conferences we have had, I still would like to state to the other members of the Committee why I favor this motion and at the same time I hope that the public will take cognizance of my reasons for going along with this motion.

It is apparent that the motion substitutes a smaller amount for General School Purposes than we had in mind and had appropriated originally a month ago; and when you appropriate a smaller amount for General School Purposes, you are appropriating a smaller amount for the salaries of teachers because they make up the larger part of that appropriation, and in particular the money that that motion calls for will not be extensive enough to pay any further increases to teachers this autumn.

In arguing that we should go along with this more modest appropriation as a result of the Mayor's suggestion, I want to bring out these points.

I think that after all we are talking here and we have been talking for almost two months about budget and about use of the citizens' money.

I think that dollars are the most charming and gracious thing in our civilization. I agree with the teachers on that. I think they are the way we say thanks for good things people do for us. I think that dollars enroll each of us who helps in a circle of help, the American family round.

I think dollars are the approvals of America. You give your dollars only to those whose good work you approve. They hand them on only to those whose good things they approve until all Americans are joined in an endless chain of approved service. You might say dollars are the ballots by which we elect each other into the jobs we hold.

Now in the case at hand the citizens have come forward, and this appropriation is the evidence that the citizens are coming forward with a number of dollars in the direction of teachers, and our teachers in turn are coming forward with extremely valuable and very patient and very understanding and very well trained service to meet those dollars.

The proposal before us is that teachers shall meet dollars at the rates which this budget provides for and which this budget is big enough to take care of.

Personally, speaking for the taxpayers, as I must, and for the citizens as a whole, I would not want to take more dollars away from the taxpayer in order to give more dollars to the teachers because that taxpayer has many needs of his own which he wants to send dollars to meet, and we are already meeting the services of our excellent teachers at the current levels and at the current amount of salaries.

I would not want to see fewer dollars taken from the taxpayer and given to the teachers because if we sent fewer dollars forth to meet teaching talents, I think teaching talent might look elsewhere and not come forward to meet our dollars. It seems to me, therefore, that the amount we are appropriating is going to work out very well in the meeting between teachers' services and dollars.

On the particular question that has been raised about the so-called single salary schedule, I have always been open-minded on that personally. I think I am the father of the movement that has blossomed in recent years to pay the lower school teachers more nearly what the high school teachers are receiving.

As a matter of fact, the proceedings of the School Committee of 1940, on pages 125, 126, and 127, show that I elicited opinions from all the assistant superintendents at that time in favor of paying the lower school teachers more nearly what the upper school teachers are being paid.

However, I do not like to see a rigid commitment to exactly similar salaries for those who teach in lower schools and upper schools because economic weather varies. You sometimes have to set larger salary sails to catch a light movement of teachers approaching the teaching profession. Sometimes you have so many teachers coming at you that smaller salary sails will be better.

The day might well come—and I might be on the Committee at that time—when it would seem to me we would have to send more dollars forth to engage the services of teachers in the lower schools than in the high schools.

I like to retain enough flexibility so as to adjust as circumstances warrant and so that if at some time it seems wise to give more dollars toward the lower school teachers than for the upper school teachers, then precisely that could be done.

So I am not against seeing the lower school teachers receive more dollars than the upper school teachers if that should some day be warranted. As it is now we find that the moneys we have been giving, and that is what the present appropriation perpetuates, seem to meet the services of teachers in all the grades of our schools.

I am also cognizant that the men have undergone almost exactly a 25% reduction. I should not say men but I should say the high school teachers, who are perhaps predominantly men, have undergone a 25% reduction in salaries since before the war because the Federal Reserve Bank tells me that our present dollar buys only what 53 cents would buy before the war; and if you figure out the present salaries and multiply by the 53%, you find that high school men are now getting what would be less than $3,000 in the old money, when before the war they got $3,888 in money.

So I think we have made tremendous steps since I first talked about this fifteen years ago in the direction of not paying such an excessive number of dollars to the teachers in high schools and in the direction of paying a greater number of dollars to the teachers in the lower schools.

In short, gentlemen, I feel that we are in a very happy way sending forth our moneys to meet a very fine group of teachers.

Mr. Musco: On this important question of General School Purposes, I would like to make myself clear. I, too, believe that our school children should receive the best possible education by the most efficient method at a fair and nominal cost to the taxpayer of this city, and the true economy in school operation costs can be maintained by careful and expert study by the administrative staff, and so right now it is their responsibility to do so.

Surely a $29,000,000-plus school system is big business, and it must be approached in a practical manner of dollars and cents for public school education.

We were confronted with the financial problem of arriving at a reduced ceiling in our present budget so as not to increase taxes, and we are still at the present time on that problem.

There is now a need to re-adjust and rectify the salary schedules of many groups, both academic and nonacademic as well as in the executive levels or administration. It has always been my policy to sit down with individuals or representatives of groups to discuss objectively the overall picture in the salary question and also the burden that it imposes upon the budget.

I am interested in a fair and equitable salary schedule for all types of personnel. If there can be an improvement in the automatic salary increases or the single salary rates, then naturally I am for it.

The recommendations and suggestions for increases and reductions in the budget recently submitted by the administrators were followed wherever possible in submitting the record 1954 preliminary budget.

The School Committee has discussed improvements and curtailments with the officials and the Mayor to determine the best educational needs and a reasonable salary advancement for all school personnel in various classifications.

Therefore, this action must still be accomplished before the final acceptance of the budget in order to allocate sufficient funds for further salary allowances.

Now there will be no loss of salaries or curtailment to any personnel during this current academic year and those people now on the payroll.

We can be sure, with the help of the administration, that all personnel will benefit by our businesslike approach before August in effecting savings and economies in the General School Purposes budget in the whole system.

The Mayor has approved our figure of revised cuts amounting at the present time to a figure of $2,214,000. We can now plan a thorough reduction of the five items on the School Purposes budget which include Administration, Instruction, Auxiliary Services, Operation of Plant, and Fixed Charges.

In each of the departments, so that we may not be too expansive and tight, we can curtail certain itemized figures. It is my hope that we will carry out a streamlining and an efficient paring of cuts where it won't hurt the operating efficiency or morale of personnel but still keep our standards up to date and to still keep the tax rate low.

In reference to the hullabaloo that was created, I think it was a little too premature.

I am in the position of not having changed my particular thinking. I am interested in keeping the tax rate down, I am interested in the problems that are before us at the present time, and I frankly state that it is the responsibility of the administration to allocate its particular funds in the next week or two in order to find sufficient moneys within our ceiling budget so that the items of Administration, Instruction, Auxiliary Services, Operation of Plant, and Fixed Charges can be dealt with fairly and reasonably.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I did mean to bring out, in favor of the motion here, that the money designated is sufficient to include a survey by an outside firm of consultants of our non-academic personnel—our custodians, our secretaries, our cafeteria workers and so forth—which I think is a step toward making a very wise use of dollars in those directions.

So, if I might summarize both my thoughts, I would say that life on the School Committee, as in most of America, is a battle of kindness. The School Committee battles to give dollars to the teachers. The teachers battle to give their services to us, and I think we have arrived at a very favorable outcome of that battle of generosity.

On roll call the four orders passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Mr. Lee, and Mr. Musco—4.

NAYS—0.

ABSENT—Mr. Ward—1.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, before we adjourn I would like to state for myself—and I know the other members will agree with me—that the conference which you, Mr. Carr, and the Superintendent and the Business Manager had with the Mayor was worked out in the most co-operative and effective manner possible.

In other words, you went to the Mayor in a spirit of cooperation, and he has been as generous as he could have been in the circumstances in granting us the limit of money which he could allow us over our appropriating power, I think that we owe that attitude on his part to the way that the school budget was presented to him on Friday by you, by the Superintendent and the Business Manager. I just wanted that to be on the public record.

Chairman: Thank you very much, Miss Fitzgerald. I am grateful for those remarks.

Mr. Lee: I just want to affirm that I had a sense of deep admiration for the Chairman's skill and that of the Superintendent in so favorably presenting our views to the Mayor. I thoroughly concur with Miss Fitzgerald's feeling of gratitude.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, in order that we may clarify a situation, may I say that at the present time we have agreed that all salary increases are being temporarily curtailed until such time as the Superintendent's office and the Business Manager's office can present to us five items as I mentioned under General School Purposes which will allocate sufficient savings in funds and therefore may warrant a particular increase in the salary schedule.

Chairman: Thank you, Mr. Musco. For the information of the School Committee, I might just summarize the budget as it has been passed.

The total appropriations by the School Committee on Apr. 30, 1953, for all school purposes was $25,094,465.39.

The total appropriations made by the School Committee on Apr. 26, 1954, was $25,273,740.66.

On June 8, 1953, an additional appropriation was made by the City Council in the amount of $1,949,065.55.

The present School Committee is asking the Mayor to recommend to the City Council that an appropriation of $2,214,226.10 be made in 1954.

The credits for 1954 are $223,826.69 less than those for 1953.

The amount of money to be raised by taxation for all school purposes in 1954 is $668,262.51 more than in 1953, which means an increase of approximately 45 cents on the tax rate over last year.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Superintendent, what was the reason for the benefit of fewer credits this year by some $200,000 as compared to last year?

Superintendent: Mr. Lee, we had a very heavy unexpended balance in Alterations and Repairs last year. Isn't that true, Mr. Smith?

Business Manager: That is so --$500,000 approximately.

Superintendent: We did not have that amount this present year.

Business Manager: No.

Superintendent: And so, having a smaller unexpended balance in Alterations and Repairs this year than the previous year, our total credits were less this year than last year.

The Committee adjourned.

Attest:

AGNES E. REYNOLDS
Secretary

SUSPENSIONS OF SESSIONS ON HOLY THURSDAY

On the request of Mr. Musco, it was agreed that the following excerpts from the Conference notes of Apr. 12, 1954, pertaining to the closing of schools on Holy Thursday, be printed in the minutes of this meeting:

Chairman: Do you want to read that bulletin?

Mr. Musco: Yes, Mr. Chairman. I had this problem three weeks ago. It was presented to me because of some parents and teachers who wished to travel in the earlier part of the week. It was brought to my attention also on last Wednesday through the Secretary's Office. A poll was taken, and I was the fourth person contacted. It was agreed at that time that the schools would remain open until 12:30 on Thursday instead of a full day.

It was my contention that if it did not violate the State regulation, the schools might be closed on Thursday and the extra day added at the end of the year, which would be June 24th plus two additional days. That brought it up to the 26th, I believe, and at that time I talked with Mrs. Lorgan and said that the elementary and junior high schools should not be penalized because of the State law relating to high school pupils.

A circular dated Apr. 7, 1954, was sent out by the Superintendent ordering an early closing on Holy Thursday. The School Committee has agreed to dismiss all schools on Thursday, April 15th, at 12:30 o'clock.

Another circular went out from the Superintendent's Office on April 8th stating that an early closing of kindergartens on Holy Thursday would be in effect.

I don't see how we can reverse our position on this particular thing.

In voting on the proposal of Mr. Ward to close all schools all day on Holy Thursday, Mr. Musco voted "No, because a poll was taken last week which determined the particular factor."

The Committee adjourned.

May 12, 1954

A special meeting of the School Committee of the City of Boston was held in the Administration Building, 15 Beacon Street, Boston, at 5 o'clock P. M., the Chairman presiding.

Present: Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Messrs. Lee and Musco.

Also present: Superintendent of Schools, Dennis C. Haley; Assistant Superintendent in charge of Secondary Education, Mr. D. Leo Daley; and Assistant Superintendent in charge of Curriculum Development - Instruction, Mr. Frank J. Herlihy.

TEXTBOOK INVESTIGATION

Chairman: The purpose of this meeting today is to hear the report of the committee appointed by the Superintendent to look into the content of a book on which there was a question about whether it was pro-Soviet Russia or against Soviet Russia—anti-Soviet Russia.

This report has been compiled by a committee appointed by the Superintendent consisting of Assistant Superintendent Herlihy; Assistant Superintendent Daley; Mr. Reid, the head of the History Department at Hyde Park High School; Mr. Pearson, the head of the History Department at Boston Latin School; and Mr. Dullea, the head of the History Department at Roxbury Memorial High School (Boys).

The members have the report before them; and if the Superintendent will, I would like to have him read the report.

Would you submit the report, Mr. Superintendent?

Superintendent: Mr. Chairman, I will be very glad to. This report is signed by Mr. Frank J. Herlihy, Assistant Superintendent, who is Chairman of the committee that I appointed, and he is the Assistant Superintendent in charge of Curriculum, which includes textbooks.

THE REPORT

The report of the committee, Mr. Chairman and Members, is as follows:

The committee has thoroughly examined Part 18 of Story of Nations (dealing with Russia), by Lester B. Rogers, Fay Adams and Walker Brown, published by Henry Holt and Company in 1947.

The committee agrees that the content of the chapters relating to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics taken as a whole does not exalt the Russian way of life. It is also agreed that in no sense can the authors be charged with propagandizing the Communistic system.

The authors point out the material progress made by the U. S. S. R. and explain the political framework of the Communistic state. They contrast conditions in Russia with the rights and privileges which we enjoy in our democratic society. The committee is of the opinion that the dangers of Communism to our democratic ideals and security are not emphasized as strongly in this edition as today's conditions demand; and unfortunately the Communistic threat to religious freedom is omitted.

The committee believes that these possible deficiencies and those in any textbook are more than balanced by the scholarly preparation and competent instruction of our social studies teachers. In addition to textbooks, supplementary materials, such as Handbook of the Principles of American Democracy, a Boston School Department publication, and The Isms and You, published by the Civic Education Foundation, Cambridge, Massachusetts, are used by students and teachers. Activities such as forums, current events and history clubs, school assemblies, patriotic exercises, and field trips all serve to augment classroom methods and textbook presentations. In view of the above, the committee does not feel that this book is unsatisfactory for use in the Boston schools.

The committee, however, respectfully points out that in the present day atmosphere of ideological conflict, highly intensified in recent years, many readers are more critical in their evaluation of Russian history. Therefore authors of textbooks in history, government and economics should frequently revise their materials in order to keep pace with the march of events and a more informed public opinion.

The committee has examined seven other social studies textbooks used at the Girls' Latin School and has found them unobjectionable for classroom use.

Under the changing and dynamic conditions of our modern society the committee recommends that the most recent editions of all social studies textbooks should be constantly made available to pupils in the Boston School System.

The report is signed by Frank J. Herlihy, Assistant Superintendent.

AUTHORIZING TEXTBOOKS FOR PURCHASE

Chairman: Mr. Herlihy, was there any difference of opinion among the members, or was it more or less a unanimous opinion?

Mr. Herlihy: We finally agreed to a unanimous report. In other words, these three historians, specialists in history, reviewed these books from Wednesday noon through Monday. Monday, all day, Mr. Daley and I sat with them and we discussed their findings pro and con; and we finally arrived at this report: and this report was not made by me or Mr. Daley or any one member of the committee. It was a report that was made by the entire group of five members.

We sat and went over it sentence by sentence. Each individual contributed to the discussion, and, when we got through, it was agreed unanimously that it was satisfactory to every member of that committee.

Chairman: There was no talk of filing a minority report or anything else?

Mr. Herlihy: No.

Miss Fitzgerald: May I ask Mr. Herlihy: Was the edition of the Story of Nations the 1947 edition?

Mr. Herlihy: That is the one we were concerned with, yes—the 1947 edition. As a matter of fact, the books that they examined were ones that I had gone to the Latin School to get and had taken out of Latin School. In fact, I must return them after this report is filed. We did not examine any books that we have here at 15 Beacon Street. They are all Latin School books.

Miss Fitzgerald: Do they use this text in any other school?

Mr. Herlihy: Oh, yes. This particular text was, I think from the information I have, put on the list of textbooks eligible for purchase sometime in 1948, and it was removed in 1949. The 1947 edition was removed from the list in 1949, because the 1949 edition was put on to take the place of it. That is the general practice. When the latest edition comes out, we always remove the old edition from the list of books eligible for purchase. There was no reason for removing it other than that.

As a matter of fact, I think that the 1949 edition closely resembles this. There are not too many changes.

Miss Fitzgerald: There is not much difference, then, from this one?

Mr. Herlihy: That is right.

Chairman: Any further questions?

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, at the previous meeting when the question of authorizing textbooks came up, I stated I thought it was a very important matter; and certainly in these times the question of what we accept on books which deal with molding the convictions and beliefs of our youngsters in regard to the institutions under which they will live is doubly important.

We know there is a worldwide duel going on between this country and other free nations on the one side, and the Soviet Union, on the other. We know it is a struggle as to whether the Communist peoples will inherit the earth in coming years or whether the free peoples will.

I think perhaps we all agree that it is important through what sort of lens our youngsters look out at the world and at their future. I would therefore like to say several things on this important matter.

First, I want to make sure that the teacher, whose report, coming through a student, I brought to your attention last week, does not seem to stand rebuked by this report. As you recall, she was quite disapproving of this particular textbook.

The report seems somewhat less disapproving, if it is disapproving at all. I would be sorry to think that this report served as a rebuke to what seems to me a very vigilant teacher.

Miss Fitzgerald: May I interrupt just briefly, Mr. Herlihy? I wanted to ask: If a teacher has objection to material in a textbook, can she not have it channeled whereby she can talk to you about the book and tell why she objects to it?

Mr. Herlihy: As a matter of fact, she is supposed to. This is a circular of general information relative to the selection of textbooks. This is a page and a half circular that is entitled: "General Information Relating to Changes in and Additions to the Authorized List of Textbooks," and it contains many factors which every teacher is supposed to know. Every teacher was supposed to have a copy of this when it was put out and to read it as well as those who select the textbooks.

There are just two sections I would like to read.

Miss Fitzgerald: Every classroom teacher who uses a textbook?

Mr. Herlihy: Yes. There are just two sections which I would like to read and which I feel are pertinent to this particular question.

The first one is this: "The Board of Superintendents asks that each book recommended for adoption be very carefully read by the council or a committee of the council in order that no book shall be recommended which contains material that in any way may be objectionable. Particular attention should be given to the textbooks in history, civics, economics, literature, and science."

And then on the last page: "Councils and others concerned will very carefully examine the authorized list with a view to recommending to each association the deletion of obsolete books, those not in general use, or those undesirable for further purchase."

I do not have the numbers, but I do know that at the last meeting you removed 140 textbooks at one time. We put on at the last meeting 143. We probably have some more right now that we are going to remove for various reasons. Either they are obsolete or they are out of print.

We are continually deleting that list, and in the past two or three years we have reduced it so that we have most of the books that are outdated or outmoded off the list, and we still are working on that.

If a teacher is using a book, we will say, that is outmoded or outdated—

Miss Fitzgerald: Which in her opinion is outdated?

Mr. Herlihy: Yes, in her opinion. She should in that case, according to our general procedure, report that to the head of her department who in turn should take care of it in his council.

If she does not get action from that standpoint, she is supposed to report that to me, and then I will carry it to the council and examine it from there on. In fact, we do that all the time. If we have a report on a book that is outmoded—or they can't get modern books—we take it up with the head master and the high school council, the principals and the council in the junior high schools, and the elementary book council, and follow it through very carefully.

In fact, we feel a little proud about the way we do it.

Miss Fitzgerald: Could you tell me about how many such reports you have had from teachers who object to a book?

Mr. Herlihy: Not many. We don't confine it to teachers. If a member of the public or anyone in the Home and School Association or anyone else—any citizen, or even if you are not a citizen—wishes to report the book, we are only too glad to get that information because we want to take that book off just as much as they want to have it off.

Miss Fitzgerald: Now if this same edition of this same book, Story of Nations, is in use not only in Girls' Latin School but in other general high schools, have you had any complaint?

Mr. Herlihy: No, this is the only one I have had, and in answer to what Mr. Lee said a few minutes ago, I don't know and I am sure the Superintendent does not know who the teacher was or who the pupil was. I am certain that none of the members of the committee that examined this book know who the individuals were, with the exception of Mr. Lee.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I cannot but believe that Miss Fitzgerald and I see eye to eye on the particular point she raised. There was no occasion conceivable why the teacher should have reported shortcomings in this book, because the School Committee had already acted and had already replaced this book on the authorized list of purchasable books with a more modern version.

I know that I want any teacher to correct errors which she finds in a book when she teaches her class, and I would be almost sure Miss Fitzgerald wanted any teacher to correct errors she found in a text as she went along.

"STORY OF NATIONS"

I want to point out some of the errors—just three of them—that I think the teacher very wisely did correct—or I presume she corrected. Anyway they are errors that stand right out in this text.

Now right in the first paragraph you come to this sentence at the close. This is describing the modern conditions in Russia. It says: "Extreme class distinctions have been swept away."

Miss Fitzgerald: What page would that be on, Mr. Lee?

Mr. Lee: That is page 609 of the Story of Nations, the 1947 edition, and it is just below the half-way mark going down the first column in the first paragraph.

Miss Fitzgerald: Yes, I see it. Mr. Lee: Now if any statement could be untrue, that statement is untrue—for there never has been any nation which has such class distinction as modern Russia.

On the one hand, the very small elite Communist Party, who rule the country, go to special stores. They associate only with each other. Many of them live in palaces. They are unapproachable. They are guarded by armed troops.

At the other extreme there are some sixteen million persons so abject that they live in concentration camps in remote places.

Now even under the caste system of India the Untouchables don't suffer such extreme hardship as those at the lower end of the Russian social structure suffer in the concentration camps, nor is the most wealthy nabob of India who ever was any more exalted than those who live in the Kremlin with an army for an usher. So surely if any statement that we can think of could be untrue, that statement is untrue.

Now, I am not trying to say—Chairman: Would you read the statement again, Mr. Lee?

Mr. Lee: "Extreme class distinctions have been swept away." And as for the words "swept away," far from being swept away or diminished, they are much more extreme than under the Czars.

For instance, this very textbook points out that under the Czars people were sent into exile to Siberia for holding independent opinions by the scores, and in another place it says they were exiled by the hundreds, but under the present system they are exiled by the millions.

So I am just saying that I think the teacher had good reason for making certain corrections. I am not going against statements in this report by the committee of teachers that the other passages in this section do round out the picture, but it's always good to have each statement truthful if possible.

Now the second part of that same sentence goes on, and it says: "And the people, many of whom were formerly ignorant, are being educated so that they can govern themselves."

Now that is the end of the quotation mark: "So that they can govern themselves."

Now, they are being educated so that they can be governed. To govern themselves is exactly what they are not being educated for and to prevent which the education is given them.

So now we come to another statement. It couldn't be more backward: and those two statements really are all part of one sentence at the end of the first paragraph.

But now just dip into the next paragraph at the top of the next column, still on page 609. It says: "Today many Russian communities have excellent schools and libraries."

Now, after all, this book is written in the English language to an audience of Americans. Is it the idea of excellent schools if the schools exist to teach the youngsters to worship their Communist masters, the Great Stalin and the Immortal Lenin, and to hate everything American? Other textbooks our children read point out that that is exactly the purpose of Russian education and also to exclude any knowledge of the Western world and to have the schools nothing but an indoctrination in the point of view of their rulers. Is that enlightenment or is it endarkenment?

And therefore I read this sentence, "Today many Russian communities have excellent schools and libraries."

I am sure that gives an impression to our youngsters which is very much at variance with the basic purpose of Russian schooling.

Now the last point I will mention in this book occurs much later, on Page 629. I am purposely not taking many things I might mention. I am taking certain things, and again I realize there is much material in this section that does try to give various sides of Russian life, both the light and the dark. I am just saying the teacher had good reason to want to make certain corrections.

Miss Fitzgerald: Page 629?

Mr. Lee: Page 629, and this is a quarter of the way down the first column on page 629, and it reads as follows:

"Great wealth and hereditary wealth have, of course, been abolished."

Now I am a little puzzled as to why we need the extra phrase, "of course." But since the basic statement is not true, I think the teacher, if she noticed it, as I presume she did, was quite warranted in correcting it.

The fact is great wealth is inherited in Russia. I think probably the Committee members themselves realize that. If they don't, another book that is studied in Girls' Latin School points out very clearly that the right of inheriting wealth is protected by law in Russia.

So not only have you my word—and I made quite a point of studying these matters—and probably your own information, but you have another textbook used in the schools saying that by law the inheritance of wealth in Russia is protected: and so I think you can be pretty well assured that this book's statement is wrong.

And I will read it again: "Great wealth and hereditary wealth have, of course, been abolished." The nature of the statement sort of suggests the picture of a monastic renunciation of worldly blessings, and there seems little warrant for it.

So I could think the teacher was merely alert and helpful in trying to give the youngster a true impression of the world he is up against.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, I agree that the teacher was being alert in objecting to false pictures, as you have pointed them out; but did that teacher call this book to the attention of the persons in the administration or in her school who could help remove the textbook if she felt that it should be removed?

Mr. Lee: I didn't quote the teacher on that, so far as I know. I did not say she thought the book should be removed. The book was already on its way out by the action of the council which selects textbooks, and there was little further action she would probably want or could take. She was glad to correct the errors, so to speak.

Chairman: As I remember it, Mr. Lee, that night you did say, in studying that particular passage, that we were fortunate in having a vigorous teacher who explained the deficiencies of the book or the errors of the book and urged the children to supplement it. Isn't that right?

Mr. Lee: Yes.

Chairman: Here when you speak about this report of this committee being a rebuke, I think they are in agreement with the action the teacher did take where they say: "The committee believes that these possible deficiencies and those in any textbook are more than balanced by the scholarly preparation and the competent instruction of our social studies teachers."

I think they recognize the method by which she attempted to offset any false impressions that the pupils might get from the perusal of the text. It is on the first page, Mr. Lee. They recognized those possible deficiencies.

Mr. Lee: I am glad you brought that out, Mr. Chairman. I see what you mean now that you have brought it out. As it was read to me I didn't think that the words "scholarly preparation and competent instruction" emphatically covered the case, but I think you are right. It does, and I am glad it is in there.

Chairman: They felt very much as you did about how the teachers supplement the textbook.

Go right ahead, Mr. Lee.

"WORLD HISTORY"

Mr. Lee: Then they reviewed certain other books: and now I would like to bring to attention a situation which I think we could do more to remedy in a book entitled "World History" by Smith, Muzzey, and Lloyd, and there on page 665—

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Herlihy, did your committee investigate that book?

Mr. Herlihy: Yes. They investigated all social studies books that are used in the Girls' Latin School. That was one of the books on which they spent a great deal of time.

Mr. Lee: Now under a paragraph at the bottom of the first column on page 665, the paragraph headed: "The Constitution of 1936," it speaks as follows in the course of the paragraph:

"The new law abolishes the early restrictions against certain classes and extends the right to vote to all citizens of eighteen years of age."

I merely point out there might be some question—

Miss Fitzgerald: Is that again in reference to Russia, Mr. Lee?

Mr. Lee: Again in reference to the Soviet Union, and I merely say in passing that some people might question whether the right to vote is indeed the right to vote when you don't have a choice of candidates.

But going on to the next paragraph at the top of the same page, at the top of page 665, it says this:

"Certain fundamental rights of the people are recognized in the Constitution. These include the guarantee of work and payment, rest and leisure, annual vacations with pay, support in sickness and old age, medical care, education, the equal status of men and women, equality of citizens irrespective of race and nationality, freedom of worship and of anti-religious propaganda."

Let me come to the next sentence: "Freedom of speech, of the press, and of assembly and organization are assured as well as the security of persons and their homes and the secrecy of correspondence."

I want to read that key sentence again: "Freedom of speech and organization are assured as well as the security of persons and their homes and the secrecy of correspondence."

Chairman: That is in the Russian Constitution, Mr. Lee?

Mr. Lee: No, this is not a translation of the Russian Constitution.

Chairman: In describing it?

Mr. Lee: In describing the Russian Constitution. Now it seems to me if I were to tell this Committee: "I assure you I will be at the next meeting," it would mean I would be here, and it wouldn't mean that I am only giving the assurance without any intention of carrying it out. The word "assured" to me, I think—and I am sure to any reader—implies not only are those freedoms of speech and assembly and security of persons written in the Constitution but that they carry it out in fact. If they didn't mean they were carried out in fact, they wouldn't have used the word "assured." They would have used the word "promised" or "claimed" or "asserted," and any child reading the present text would get the impression that those freedoms are in the Constitution and are in fact carried out, which is contrary to the way the Russian rulers themselves admit they run elections and manage the press and fail to give security to persons.

Now at this point I am mentioning an isolated sentence. There is more coming later, as you will see.

Now so far from the whole trend of that whole paragraph on the Constitution the child could only have gotten the impression that those freedoms are just as much a reality under their Constitution as under our American Constitution.

So then the text goes on to talk about the organization of government and the Supreme Council and the two chambers like our two chambers and how they propose laws and enact laws and how the Presidium comes in, and they go on and describe how laws, as I say, are voted by two elected chambers—elected by the citizens, mind you, in the Soviet Union, and you think: How very much like our country that is!

And then there is another paragraph about the Third Internationale and the efforts of the Bolsheviks to carry their message and their movement into other countries, and then it talks about the foreign relations of the U.S.S.R. and how they have at times had cordial relations and tried to get technicians and whatnot to help out in Russia.

And then there is a paragraph called "Marvelous Progress in Education" in a great big black headline; and my points on that are the same points I made before: that there is a kind of education that we don't think is marvelous in this country. It is a kind of education that is to conceal and protect the student from knowing about the world and to make him a willing and obedient servant of the rulers of that state.

And yet we come to this quite glowing adjective: "Marvelous Progress in Education" and it goes on to tell how nice it is.

And then there is a paragraph on the attitude toward religion, and then we come to a final paragraph called: "Is Russia Democratic?" And now we find out that many things that were said under the description of the Constitution are not carried out.

First I should say that it tells about the exiling of thousands of intellectuals and scientists and others who were opposed to the regime, and it tells how it deprived the property classes of their wealth and liquidated the well-to-do peasants, and then this same paragraph goes on to say:

"The Constitution of 1936 granted freedom of speech and the press. Nevertheless books and newspapers were strictly censored, and education was under party supervision. In 1933 the Chekar, a commission to combat counter-revolution, was reorganized into a body of secret police known as the GPU which had almost unlimited power in searching out and punishing suspected enemies of the government."

So now we are given the picture that corresponds more nearly with our knowledge and the knowledge of any student of life in Russia. But two things seem to me odd. One is that that information comes under a very prosaic paragraph heading—namely: "Is Russia Democratic?" Yet when they speak of the Russian educational system, they use an emotionally favorable adjective: "Marvelous Progress in Education."

You'd think they would balance it off by a disapproving emotional adjective like "Appalling Violations of the Constitution" or "Sad Lack of Liberty" or something that would be just as much aroused in regret at unhappy conditions as they are pleased with what they regard as happy conditions under other headings.

But my second point is this: That I think it is a strange way to do—

Chairman: Mr. Lee, may I ask you this? What is the heading of that paragraph?

Mr. Lee: "Is Russia Democratic?"

Chairman: Don't you believe that that paragraph more or less would correct the impression that you would get from the Constitution—and believed that these things were actually carried out, and then if you went on to take this paragraph where it actually points out how things are in reality in Russia, it would more or less correct any impression that you would get from it?

Mr. Lee: Yes, I think it goes a long way to correct.

Chairman: Then this gives a fairly good presentation of the picture—don't you believe so?

"DEATHBED CONFESSION"

Mr. Lee: I think this last paragraph by itself gives a good presentation. It is headed with a question mark: "Is Russia Democratic?" and it gives a pretty good argument showing some pros and cons which some people might disagree with, but on the whole is a pretty good argument.

But my point is this: Here we start life or start the chapter with statements which in themselves are extremely misleading, and then as the chapter is ready to expire we have kind of a deathbed confession in which the text repudiates that which it has said before.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Lee, don't we always remember the last thing we read more than we remember the first thing? I mean isn't it true that the last impression which we get is the one which stays with us so that when they say that Russia is a democracy in form only and in actual institutions it is not, that is the impression they are leaving with the student who is reading the paragraph?

Mr. Lee: Possibly I might agree with you, but I think teachers would not agree with you. Teachers tell me it is the first impression that counts, and if the child once learns the multiplication table wrong or gets something wrong in it like what seven times eight is, it is very hard to get it out of his head.

Miss Fitzgerald: Reading a story or a consecutive presentation, they are leading up to a climax.

Mr. Lee: No, there is no indication whatever where it first describes the Constitution that they are leading up to a climax or that there is any qualification or reserve or that anything whatever is coming later. It gives the impression as I read it you—slap, dash, bang, bingo—perfectly unqualified, and with that impression the child must think that is how Russia is, as far as his reading up to that point is concerned.

Now you are quite right that he comes to the final stage here—

Miss Fitzgerald: Then in answer to the question: "Is Russia Democratic?" he presents facts to show Russia is not.

Mr. Lee: That is quite true; and so, having read one thing on one page, he reads what certainly is and must strike him as contradictory at the end.

I think that is a poor way of teaching. I don't see why we say what is wrong in one place and then say what is right in another. We don't say the sun is shining and then without any change of weather say the rain is raining.

It's much better to tell the truth in the first place.

Chairman: Not when it's snowing out!

Mr. Lee: As I say, the chapter reminds me of Billy Sunday. You burn the candle of life to the devil and blow the smoke in God's face. That is how he described a deathbed confession, and that is the sort of way in which this chapter runs. I think it would have been perfectly easy, and any normal person—and I certainly include every member of the School Committee—

Chairman: Thank you.

Miss Fitzgerald: That's nice.

Mr. Lee:—even myself, would not have written the first part of that chapter that way. They would say that the constitution claims freedom of speech or it promises it or it asserts it. They wouldn't say it assures it and give the wrong impression.

Miss Fitzgerald: In other words, you are saying that "assures" implies guarantees?

Mr. Lee: Yes. I think it's bad writing and is needlessly misleading, and any other deductions that you want to draw I leave to yourselves.

I come to a last point from this same book, "World History" by Smith, Muzzey and Lloyd.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN

This speaks as follows. This is on the same page as the other matter began on. This is on page 665, and it is right near the top in the first column. It has been talking about the new economic policy. Well, anyway, it goes on to say:

"The class of well-to-do peasant kulaks who had prospered under the system of private enterprise permitted by the NEP objected to joining the collectives."

I should have said the paragraph is on "collective farms," I think. It is certainly talking about them. Well, anyway it is talking about the collective farms. So resuming the quotes—I had better begin again.

"The class of well-to-do peasant kulaks who had prospered under the system of private enterprise permitted by the NEP objected to joining the collectives. As a result they were heavily taxed, and in 1930 this group was 'liquidated.' That is, the government seized the lands, houses, tools, and livestock of the kulaks and thousands were arrested or banished to hard labor in distant places."

That is the end of that paragraph. Then it goes on:

"On the whole, however, the plan was so successful that the government undertook a second five-year-plan," and then it goes on to say it proposed a third.

Now I say that that sentence—and it's more than a sentence—that point of view could only be the point of view of a writer who thought that a totalitarian economy planned from the top down was better and more productive and hence more successful than the kind of economy we have here, where farmers voluntarily supply other people with food-stuffs, who in turn voluntarily reciprocate with a payment.

Now the fact is, of course, that it wasn't at all successful in the way of providing Russians with food.

If this idea of state management, which is the great issue dividing the world today, were successful in the sense of relieving poverty and making for prosperity, then Russia would be at least somewhere near as prosperous as we are.

Chairman: Well, Mr. Lee, on reading that paragraph where it says that "on the whole, however, the plan was so successful," and so forth, doesn't he mean in the eyes of the Russian government it was successful?

Mr. Lee: Well, now, that may be. I think he may mean that, but then what he is saying is this.

Chairman: "She undertook a second five-year plan and proposed a third." Well, I think it's understood that there might be a reservation there, but he is speaking about the government, and it is in the eyes of the Russian government that it was successful. It might not be in the eyes of the rest of the world. There is no question about it.

It would not be where he says that "They arrested and banished to hard labor and seized the lands, the houses, tools, and the livestock of the kulaks."

However, evidently in the eyes of the Russian government at that time they thought it was successful, and I think that is the impression you get from reading this.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, the paragraph preceding this is headed by the term "The Five-Year Plan," and it says, "In 1928 a five-year plan was inaugurated to increase production along all lines."

Now that might mean that the Russian rulers thought it would increase production or it might mean the author thought that it was for that purpose, but anyway as far as I am concerned the statement is there that "the five-year plan was inaugurated to increase production along all lines," and I believe the truth is the contrary.

I just got through saying that they had to use the new economic policy under Lenin in the early 1920's. That was a reversion to freedom of individuals to produce and to buy, because they were starving, and they had to keep it running long enough till they got back to a reasonable degree of prosperity, and then they inaugurated these five-year plans of state management because independent kulaks are something that cannot be tolerated—independent farmers and independent citizens can't be tolerated by a totalitarian state; and the five-year plans were inaugurated, setting up collective farms, so as to have party machinery for directing people and making them subordinate to the will of the rulers.

The heading of the next paragraph is: "Success of the Plan." That is the paragraph we are talking about; so when we come to the phrase "On the whole, however, the plan was so successful that the government undertook a second five-year plan," I would be led to think that the writer of that believed that prosperity was increased and he was giving the impression to the child that prosperity was increased and on the whole giving the impression it was a pretty good idea to proceed in that method.

If what you say is true, that he merely means that the rulers were successful in liquidating or allowing starvation to come to the farmers and in banishing and arresting them—

Chairman: I don't think any author intended to give a wrong impression in writing this to be read in schools. He precedes that particular paragraph with a description of a result that they were heavily taxed, that the group was liquidated, the government seized the land, the houses, the tools, the livestock, and thousands were arrested or banished to hard labor and then he goes on to say that the plan was so successful.

I don't believe that he intended that anyone in this country would believe that it was successful when it was founded on actions such as those that he relates in the previous paragraph, and I don't think the author would differ on that, if he was asked; but then he goes on and says that on the whole, however, the plan was so successful that the government—that's the Russians again.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, on the contrary it looks like this to me—that the word "however" settles the matter. It says: "On the whole, however, the plan was so successful that the government undertook a second five-year plan."

Now the "however" is a way of paying his regrets to the liquidation of so many people and to the cruelties of imposing the scheme. He concedes that as being something bad by the word "however," but then on the phrase "on the whole" he comes back with the conception of a planned economy and says: "On the whole, however, the plan was so successful that the government undertook a second five-year plan."

I am sure that that man thinks that that kind of straight-jacket economy and regimented transactions is a good way to increase production and prosperity and that he gives that impression to the classroom child and to the teacher.

I can't see how a person who knew that you can't run a race with your leg in a plaster cast and that you can't, as Jefferson says, look to Washington for directions, would write that. As Jefferson says: "Were we directed from Washington when to sow and when to reap, we would soon want bread."

A person who knows you can't conduct transactions under the heavy foot of bureaucracy and regimentation and that you can't conduct transactions unless each supplier is left free to engage in business and to seek out his customers and every customer is left free to seek out his suppliers—such a person like myself and, I think, most people in America—couldn't write that sentence. They just couldn't use the word "success" as applied to that government method, when the judgment of such a person with a native American point of view—and I think an enlightened point of view—would immediately see that such kind of governmental regimentation in fact was not successful or productive and that it logically cannot be, whereas our contrary system is productive both in theory and in practice.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Lee, have you read, in that section which deals with the United States and seen how the authors pointed out just what you have said—that in our view here in America the most successful form of economy is a free economy such as we have—a free enterprise system?

Mr. Lee: If that is in the book, I haven't read it. I missed it, but I point out the book has three authors.

Miss Fitzgerald: But is there a section on the United States in the book?

Mr. Lee: I didn't think so. Maybe there is.

Mr. Daley: There is one in there.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Herlihy, would you be able to tell us, or would Mr. Daley, whether there was a section in the book on the United States?

Mr. Herlihy: I might make this observation if I may, Miss Fitzgerald and Mr. Chairman.

Chairman: Go right ahead.

CIVIC EDUCATION IN BOSTON SCHOOLS

Mr. Herlihy: In reviewing the section on Russia or any other country, anybody who is reviewing that for content and so forth first reads the entire article in its complete form. They must do that in order to get the sense of the entire article.

Usually the next procedure of anyone who is reviewing a section in a textbook, is to go back and go through that article and check to see if the facts listed in that article are historically correct. Then they finally go through and pick out individual paragraphs or sentences, and with their previous reading of the paragraph, and having a knowledge of the entire section, they can almost at once tell the meaning of the author in that particular statement.

Now the American Association of Textbook Manufacturers brings that out very clearly in one of its publications that in evaluating a textbook or any section of a textbook you cannot lift from that textbook any sentence or any paragraph and comment on it independently of the remainder of the section. These men who review these books are experts in their field of history. I believe that in their approach—and I think Mr. Daley will agree with me—they follow along the line that I have described here.

Am I right, Mr. Daley?

Mr. Daley: Yes.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Daley, did you have something that you could add?

Mr. Daley: Well, I want to say to Mr. Lee that no teachers in the Boston system as far as I know reached the impressions which you mentioned about these particular sections of Russia.

May I augment what Mr. Herlihy said, and this is agreed upon by teachers of social science about these United States.

We can never get complete agreement on interpretation of history. It is practically impossible for anyone to write a social studies textbook which in all its emphases and opinions is completely satisfactory to everybody; and as Mr. Herlihy said, readers of textbooks, those who evaluate them, oppose lifting from context particular fragments of the entire picture.

We examined that particular book, Mr. Lee, and we found nobody and heard of nobody in the Boston system who was dissatisfied with that particular chapter on Russia.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Daley, may I ask you one further question?

Mr. Daley: Yes, Miss Fitzgerald.

Miss Fitzgerald: There is a mention made, in this report on these two texts, to the supplementary materials, such as the "Handbook of the Principles of American Democracy," which is an official School Department publication, and "The Isms and You," which is published by the Civic Education Foundation in Cambridge.

Mr. Daley: Yes.

Miss Fitzgerald: Aren't there more materials developed on both those fronts which are used in the schools?

Mr. Daley: Yes.

Miss Fitzgerald: Some of which are produced by the Civic Education Foundation, and don't we cooperate with the Division of American Citizenship of the State Department of Education?

Mr. Daley: Yes, we do.

Miss Fitzgerald: I don't know whether it goes below the high school youngsters, but I know the senior high school pupils participate, and they learn, from direct participation and direct observation, the institutions of government — how our legislature works and how our City Council works and how the other town governments operate.

Could you describe a little bit about what we try to do on that side of the situation?

Mr. Daley: Yes, Miss Fitzgerald. In 1951 and since then the Superintendent has received several inquiries about what the schools are currently doing on the formulation of attitudes of future service by our young people who are attending our schools. He requested me to prepare a reply. This is a summary of that reply.

The following materials are used in the Boston school system to supplement all textbooks which are employed in our various social science classes:

A Handbook for Teachers on the Principles of Democracy. This entire document deals with Americanism versus the various kinds of totalitarianism. I think you are acquainted with it, Mr. Lee.

Mr. Lee: If I am not mistaken, that was started when I was on the Committee before.

Mr. Daley: That was started in 1941.

Mr. Lee: Yes, and I always like to think it was because—

Mr. Daley: It has been revised and is in great demand throughout the country. It is one of the best of its kind, prepared by a group of teachers in the system.

Mr. Lee: If our textbooks are written by our own people, I would be the strongest cheerleader.

Mr. Daley: I agree with you, but the perfect textbook, Mr. Lee, has yet to be written, particularly in this field.

Mr. Lee: Well, we live in hopes.

Mr. Daley: We also have a Course in Community Economics and Civics for Grades IX. and X., and that has been revised and brought up to date by the acting coordinator of civic education, Mr. William J. Reid, head of the history department in one of our high schools. I understand Mr. Reid participated in the examination of these textbooks.

He was allowed by the previous School Committee, and was given sabbatical leave, Mr. Superintendent, for a year, to attend and take part in the civic education program sponsored by Dean Holmes and Professor Mahoney.

These outlines deal with totalitarianism and contain sample tests, comparisons, and a bibliography.

Now all teachers use newspaper clippings, magazine articles, and editorials, and these are used commonly to promote democratic ideals and to study the effects of Communism upon the personal life of the individual; and as Miss Fitzgerald has mentioned, we use material published by the Civic Education Project, 5 Chauncy Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Dr. Mahoney has sent to each city and town in the Commonwealth the list of these various isms, comparisons with totalitarianism, and the various pamphlets which have been prepared, and he complimented me last Thursday night at a dinner, stating that the Boston school system was in the forefront in the program.

I think we were the first to have pilot teachers to prepare for this program under a project suggested by Miss Fitzgerald.

Last year in a program conducted by the State Department of Education over 100 of our teachers attended regularly every Thursday for two hours to study material on the general topic of American ideals.

We also use these methods of presenting the threat of Communism as applying directly to the personal life of the individual student, and I think they have been used effectively.

Class discussions and projects based upon the materials which I have already listed are used. There are forums patterned after the radio program "Town Meeting of the Air." There are panel discussions followed by a question period. There are talks by students who are displaced persons and who have experienced the ruthlessness of Communism. There are dramatic programs worked out by our students.

All teachers with whom I consulted said that any good social studies teacher is constantly on the alert to bring up a discussion on the evils of Communism and the blessings of democracy, not in a social science class but in any part of our school system, when an opportunity arises from the study or discussion of other topics.

We find our high school youngsters extremely idealistic and firmly devoted to our American ideals.

AREAS OF AGREEMENT

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I agree wholeheartedly, I think, with everything that the last two speakers have said. As far as I am concerned, they and I are going in the same direction.

Certainly I made no reproach of our schools. I have raised the question of whether some dubious textbooks are not good enough for our schools, but in particular I agree with the two statements made. With one I agree with pleasure, and on the other I agree no less strongly, but with unhappiness.

The statement with which I agree with pleasure is the one made by Mr. Herlihy and re-echoed by Mr. Daley—namely, that a book should be judged by its entirety, in its whole impression, and not by one passage. That is what I am concerned with here—what was in the mind of the author, in his whole mind, on this subject, and what whole impression did he give to the youngsters.

Unfortunately, I can't read a thousand words in one. I have to take words one at a time; but anyway I am trying to find out what the author had in the back of his head and what he imparted to the youngsters.

Now what I am unhappy about is the statement by Mr. Daley that no teacher reached the impressions that I did or no teacher reached adverse impressions on the passage that I am talking about.

Now that to me is somewhat alarming. We have got to decide whether we are going to have a centralized master state or whether we are going to continue to look for happiness and mercy and prosperity through individual transactions. That is the issue that is dividing the world and dividing this country and the issue these youngsters are going to decide.

It is the greatest decision they are going to be up against; and the fact that Mr. Daley reports the teachers didn't find anything alarming in that sentence, I think, is disturbing, as typical of a certain point of view.

Now to be very concrete, let us notice this—that in so far as this country has already gone the same way, toward a centralized government, it has to that extent already been impoverished. And notice how far it has gone—with Washington's control even on questions over working hours and what we pay each other here in Massachusetts for the work that is done.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Lee, I think you are bringing in an issue of minimum wages and other things which have no relevance to this subject. That is my opinion.

Mr. Lee: That disturbs me even more, and therefore I will ask—

Mr. Daley: Mr. Lee, I think you misconstrued my remarks. No teacher received an inference from that particular passage that you read which made him teach the content absolutely as written in the book. We all interpret what we read. No teacher follows slavishly the content of a history book.

I could take almost any history book, Mr. Lee, or in any field and find fault with it; but as we said in our report to you, we think that any errors or deficiencies in any textbook are more than balanced by the scholarly preparation and competent instruction of our social studies teachers. I think the social studies teachers in the Boston schools have their feet on the ground and do not accept statements which are contrary to the American way of life

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I remind you I have said many times, and I have shown by my words and actions, that I am very wholeheartedly on the side of the teachers. I have raised doubts about what comes into the system from other sources.

Now to point out further what I mean, I think it is tremendously important, and I want to quote from Karl Marx and what he said in his Manifesto when he was trying to give his workers the procedure that would bring about his ideals.

Before quoting him directly I think he said that workers must break down local government and that the democrats—with a small "d"—will strive for a plan of local government but this is not to be tolerated under any circumstances.

Now for his direct quote, from Karl Marx, in his Manifesto:

"The workers must strive against this plan. (That is, the plan of local government). They must work not only for a German Republic one and indivisible, but within it for a more decided centralization of power in the hands of the central government. The Socialists must not let themselves be misled by democratic talk about freedom of municipalities, self-government, and so forth. It is not to be tolerated in any circumstances that every village, every town, every province, should be a new obstacle in the path of the revolutionary activity which can emanate in full strength only from the center.

"As in France in 1793, today in Germany (That was in 1850) the carrying through of the strictest centralization is the task of the genuinely revolutionary party."

Now that is the end of the quote. That centralization has been carried out to a large extent in this country, as everybody knows.

Miss Fitzgerald: Are you talking about minimum wages and hours laws, Mr. Lee?

Mr. Lee: I am talking about regulation of persons' lives—yes, those things, like that, through the Federal government.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, I don't believe any employer ought to be able to pay a person less than 75 cents an hour, and that is what the minimum wage is in Massachusetts. That is less than $40 a week, and I don't see any American family today which can live on $40 a week, and I don't call that centralization of power and regulation of individual lives. It is just seeing that no one is paid less than he can live on. It's social justice in my opinion.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I haven't said but what I favor a minimum wage of a thousand dollars a week. I am pointing out that my great respect for Miss Fitzgerald makes me wish that question of minimum wages and other social matters be left in the hands of local government, as they were first placed by our respective constitutions and not taken out of the hands of local citizens and put into the hands of a central government. I am talking only about the centralization of our government in Washington.

Let me direct your attention to the food situation. Every housewife in Boston is paying twice as much for milk and butter and bread as she would without the government in Washington reaching into the back pocket of everyone who goes to the store; and every time that person goes to the store and spends a dollar for milk or butter or bread, about half a dollar is taken out of that shopper's back pocket through Federal taxes, through his withholding tax and his income tax, and goes to pay a subsidy to the farmers to produce surplus food that goes to rot.

Now again I am not against the farmers being paid, but it's too bad that those moneys paid to the farmers go toward putting foodstuffs into warehouses where they spoil, and are not used to pay the farmer for doing something that would be useful.

Now, as it is, we spend $14,000,000 a month just for paying the storage on surplus butter. We have 270,000,000 pounds of butter now that is about to go rancid. We have 400,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat deteriorating in warehouses. We have 1,000,000,000—not 1,000,000 but 1,000,000,000—pounds of surplus dried milk.

Now the result of centralization in this country, which has gone as far as it has, means that we impoverish ourselves to those huge extents; tons and tons and tons of material for which our money goes through taxes and subsidies never get into our hands.

So that for the dollar we spend at the store, a half dollar is taken by taxes in order to take food off the shelves of the store and put it in storage warehouses where it spoils and no one can get it.

Now I just point out, Mr. Chairman, how far we have gone in this country toward a centralized government, and like all centralized plans, it does a great deal to impoverish our people.

So I say it is very important. The child will be faced with decisions whether to continue with such plans as we now have which make the cost of living double what it should be in Boston here. That is, as far as food is concerned, it is a very important point, and you should be interested, too, Miss Fitzgerald, in that point.

Miss Fitzgerald: Wasn't it the credit financing of our defense program and our aid to foreign, free nations—which fought with us as allies during the second World War and which are helping now to fight against Russian totalitarianism—isn't that the reason why the cost of living has risen so—in short, the current world conditions which are involved in our fight with totalitarianism?

Mr. Lee: I am not talking at all about the rise in the cost of living owing to those factors. I am perfectly well aware that the amount of money in the country is about double and therefore two dollars have to cross the counter to buy the merchandise that one dollar did. I am talking about present dollars as they are. You only get two-thirds as much bread or milk or butter as you ought to get because one-third is put away in storage warehouses and you pay for it through your taxes.

Chairman: Mr. Lee, will you tie that in with the acceptance or the rejection of this report?

Mr. Lee: Yes. So I think when you have a sentence like this: "On the whole, however, the plan was so successful that the government undertook a second five-year plan," the author ought to jolly well stop and say there was nothing successful about the plan except, as you inferred, Mr. Carr, that it gave power and control to the rulers of Russia. The author should stop and point out that any five-year plan—or no-year plan—but any managed, handcuffed economy, operated from the top down, always inhibits the free exercise of free individuals' efforts and always impoverishes any nation.

I don't think those passages should be passed by in a textbook and leave the child to absorb an indifferent feeling that: "Oh, well, you can do it either way; it was successful in Russia, and we do it our way in America, and there is not much difference there." That will leave us right where our friends in Russia want to leave us.

Chairman: I don't have that copy before me now, but just prior to that paragraph doesn't he go to the extent of pointing out how all this was accomplished—by the slaughtering and the imprisonment of the kulaks and by the confiscation of the homes?

Do you think if his interest was in putting over an impression on the students of our schools that this five-year plan was a success he would bother to point out what it was based on—based on these intolerable conditions or acts committed by that government?

If his interest was to paint a picture of Russia that would be acceptable to our students, he wouldn't have gone ahead and printed in the preceding paragraph and pointed out how the end was obtained, would he?

Mr. Lee: Perhaps not. My personal opinion is that the writers of this book are men who write in perfectly good faith. I think they are writing in perfectly good faith.

I think they have been so fueled up on ideas of persons who perhaps don't act in good faith and who think that a regimented, totalitarian state is productive that when the writers came to this part of their text, they didn't see that they were in effect countenancing and speaking well of this regimented economy of Russia.

Now it is perfectly true that they point up the cruelties of starving the independent farmers to death, but when they come to the economic parts of the plan, "the plan on the whole," they pay their respects to it, and say that on the whole the plan was so successful that the government undertook a second five-year plan.

I think when they come to the economic part they are absolutely misled—absolutely taken in by false literature in the past that has been going around for twenty years; and therefore, instead of taking that as a chance to point up an object lesson to our youngsters and show that these five-year plans and this regimented economy has led Russia only to cruelty and impoverishment to its people and that the reverse in our country has led the other way—, instead of pointing that up, they gloss it over; and I think we have got to exercise a vigilance on those economic points.

In other words, I grant you that the child gets the impression that it's a beastly and horrible thing to murder or to let farmers starve, but the child gets the impression that apart from that, "on the whole," the economic and the productive side of the plan was a successful one.

Chairman: And so the government instituted another five-year plan.

Mr. Lee: Yes.

Chairman: Well, I think the implication there is that in the eyes of the government the plan was a success—the Russian government. Now if he presented it any other way, it wouldn't be true.

Mr. Lee: If he means that, OK; but it's funny to consider murder and the starving of thousands of people as a kind of success. I suppose if you ran for state treasurer by murdering your opponents and succeed you might say it was very successful, but it wouldn't be our American ideal.

Chairman: Of course not.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, we don't substitute teachers with textbooks.

Mr. Lee: We don't do what, please?

Miss Fitzgerald: We don't substitute teachers with textbooks. In other words, the object of a text is to assume that it is going to be used in connection with live teaching and that the teacher is not going to teach it in a vacuum.

I presume the authors were going to allow that object lesson of the comparison between our democratic form of government and the Russian form of government to be brought out. That kind of object lesson would be brought out by the teacher. Otherwise there would be no need for a teacher. We could just put a lot of textbooks in a room with children and they would be expected to learn.

Chairman: Mr. Lee, I think this book presents the facts as they are. It's the history part of it. But also it is comparable to some of our reporters who rather than report—not many of them, but some of them—the facts, they take it upon themselves to editorialize.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, being an ordinary and possibly alert layman in the field of education and not a doctor, historian, or even a professor of social studies, it is not too difficult to pass judgment on a book that has already been accepted by the school system, and it is not objectionable to the executives of that particular system.

Even now our differences of opinion vary, and the points of view are different. Interpretations may be different even between authors and readers of these books.

So it will create discussion on the subject matter as it is presented even in the classroom; but today in American instruction, delivery to the students will vary by individual teachers; and they, of course, leave an impression upon the students.

Now I would like at this particular time to say that from the result of the administrators' thorough and objective examination of the 1947 book, "Story of Nations," it does not unduly praise the Soviet Union.

I concur with the report of the book review committee on all the social study textbooks used in Girls' Latin School, and I would like at this particular point to ask for the question in accepting that particular report from the book review committee.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I hope you will allow further debate because I think it is an important subject. I will conclude references to this in one minute more and then make a summary which I think will be very relevant. I would like to say a little more on the matter.

Chairman: Go right ahead.

Mr. Lee: In leaving this text here I will refer to a poem I used to hear when I was a youngster. If I can remember it right, it went like this:

Willie poisoned Mamma's tea;

Mamma died in agony;

Willie's Papa was extremely vexed;

"Willie," said he, "what next? what next?"

And I think there is a good deal of that attitude here. It calmly tells about the liquidation of the peasants and then talks about "on the whole" how successful it was. If production that lives by murder and slavery and impoverishment is successful, then we will abandon the prosperous mercies of this country and all its standards.

Oh, for a modern Cervantes to smile Russia's chivalry away!

That is all I have to say about that text? Mr. Chairman. Now I would like to conclude my presentation in the following summary.

NEED FOR PLAIN LANGUAGE

I don't think that ever in my life—at least certainly not on the School Committee, either in a previous term or this—have I made a point where I thought there was room for improvement, in something we did, without indicating where that improvement might be. I would like in brief form, and then in more scholarly form, to say how I think we could have presented particulars about Russia and particulars about America. After all we are engaged in a comparison. That is the great decision.

Now for the American version of what these textbooks might have said, they might have had somewhere in these passages about Russia these simple paragraphs:

"No one in Russia has any rights at all. No one in Russia has any rights at all against the Communist Party.

"They do not have the right of life or property. The Party may confiscate property with no trial whatever. They can enter your home and take what they want. There are no rights to your person. You can be seized and clapped into jail and sent away without any trial.

"There is no right to life by the same token. There is no right for your children. As you know, the confessions in all the trials at Moscow have been wrung on threats to persecute the children of those who hesitated to confess.

"Your children have no rights. You have no right to a trial. Never mind the fact you have no right to vote—that is, no choice of candidates—and no right to read what you want except what they want you to, and no right to worship. But you have very little right to work or to income, because those things again are fixed by the state."

So I think there should be a forthright statement, in these texts, that in Russia you have no rights at all. That is putting the thing in clear language, and is the absolute truth, and what the youngsters want to know. I have no doubt that in many of Mr. Daley's texts that he speaks of they show just that kind of thing, because I heard him definitely emphasize tying up life in Russia with the personal life and experience of the youngster as though the youngster lived there.

Mr. Daley: That's right, sir.

Mr. Lee: So I do know the schools do tremendous, good work. I am interested in pioneering and going further along these lines. I am a little bit upset by things which I think pull back instead of going forward.

Mr. Daley: Mr. Chairman, sincere criticism of textbooks is our best hope for making better textbooks. I agree with Mr. Lee.

I wish to reaffirm, Mr. Lee, that if a teacher in the front of the room is the interpreter, he doesn't accept verbatim what is written for him.

Mr. Lee: I realize that. We have seen, Mr. Chairman, that France is on her knees and England half-way on her knees, because they did go in both cases for the idea of having the state step in and prevent people from doing good things for each other and receiving the other fellow's financial reciprocation. For that and no other reason are those countries weak and tied up and fetter-bound in their economic life, and that is why I think we should be very, very vigilant, especially where we see we have gone half way by adopting this centralized government as shown in the food situation.

I didn't mean to get back to that. Let me conclude now with what I would consider a scholarly presentation of the Russian way of doing and our way of doing.

THE NATURE OF COMMUNISM

I think it should be pointed out that the Communist movement is essentially an aristocratic movement. In Russia, for example, a small group of nobles, less than one in thirty—less than one in forty of the population, the textbook says—constitutes the Communist Party.

They revive the ancient feudal nobility that ruled Europe from before the time of Charlemagne to the French Revolution. Even their titles are the same. Communists call each other "count," Count Stalin or Count Malenkov or Count Molotov or Count Sarnoff or whatever Party member they are talking to.

We prefer to translate their salutation by our English word "comrade," rather than "count," today. But I am sure our Latin School girls will notice that "count" originally meant "comrade." The words are synonymous.

The word "count" comes from the Latin "comites," and you can see that that comes from the two Latin words: "cum" meaning "with" and the participle form of "ire" meaning "go."

A "comites" or a "count" was a "go-with-er"—one who went with you. And when men banded together in the chaos of those early times in Europe, they established a powerful group that gained ascendancy over others, and those who were members of the group were "counts." We see the same title among the Communists toward each other in Russia today.

Then the Communists refer to some of their members as "overseers of collective farms;" and that is the same title we have, in Anglicized form, in the European nobility—in the English nobility, I mean.

In England they refer to the guardian or warden of the bread or, as they say, the "loaf ward," and now they say it fast and the word is "lord."

The word "lord" was originally "loaf-ward," the man who was the overseer of producing bread in England, on the local estate.

We all know, moreover, that the Communists have their cell leaders and their block leaders; and we know, of course, that our word "dukes" is simply the Latin word for "leaders." I have given the plural there.

Our title of "baron"—the English title of "baron" and "earl"—are simply words that mean "man," but imply the man who has an "in"—who is in with the ruling powers. Today the Russians speak of "Bolshevik," a word which merely means "a man who is in with the majority."

So that they have the same kind of titles in this elite nobility of the Communist Party; and those titles that I speak of were not hereditary in Europe originally; and they are fast becoming hereditary in Russia now.

Now this nobility imposes its will on everybody in Russia. It tells them how to live, what to do, what to have, what to read, and so forth.

There are much sharper distinctions in income in Russia than there are here. That was noticed by our soldiers who met the Russians at the fall of Berlin. They saw how poorly the privates lived, and how well the lieutenant or captain lived. The Russian leaders make no secret of it. They give very high incomes to some people, and then bonuses beyond that, — and leave very low incomes for others.

So we should get out of our minds any illusion that Russia has done other than create vastly more inequalities in wealth than we have.

I have already mentioned that you could inherit wealth over there, whereas here there is a 90% inheritance tax, often with the state tax put on top of it, if you own a large amount of property.

Therefore the appeal here of the Communist movement is a snob appeal. The average little guy abhors it because he doesn't want to see certain nobles ascend to power over him and to dictate how he shall live and tread him down under foot and send him off to Alaska and to a concentration camp.

But other people—and I have got to say some of our good intellectuals in the colleges — are rather irked at the equalitarianism of American life, the fact that we are all on an even footing. And the ideal of a master state run by brain trusters with a small aristocracy such as exists in Russia is very, very appealing to them; and it appeals to some who attend our colleges and who come from fine families.

It's a little hard for these to realize that now every youngster goes to high school, thanks to our Boston schools and their effectiveness, and the young lad whose folks came over from Poland or from Czechoslovakia has just as good an opportunity in life as a young man whose folks have been distinguished in prosperity for many generations in the Commonwealth.

And so we find some of those who attend our colleges find an almost irresistible snob appeal in Communism, because if they can take part in a movement to assign subsidies and fix pay ceilings and quotas on production and give directions as to where people can work; if they can take part in the formation of such a master state—and they themselves as its architects will be the master state—they look forward to that very happy condition of elevation.

They want to be patricians and to maintain a patrician status for themselves in the face of an intensely democratic America. I think that is the appeal of Communism put in a little more lengthy and scholarly form than what I mentioned first.

In other words, it is a reactionary, old-guard movement where a small nobility has the express purpose of imposing its will on everybody else.

THE NATURE OF OUR REPUBLIC

And lastly I mention our Republic as the antithesis. We are set up for the express purpose of preventing anyone from imposing his will on anybody else. We don't have any titles. We are all free to offer our services or dollars as we choose.

In America we pass the sovereignty out into everybody's hands. Here if anyone is the sovereign, it is the customer. It's only the customer who places orders, and any one of us here can become a customer by the simple process of doing something good for somebody else and winning their financial gratitude.

So that America is the culmination of man's struggle against government. What we have here is "leave to live by no man's leave." We tend to believe that mankind cannot be governed. It can only be let alone.

So, instead of having government governing us, we here govern government. Power here has descended from the hands of the few to the hands of the many through the circulation of our dollars.

As Emerson said: "Money, which represents the prose of life, and is hardly spoken of in parlors without an apology, is, in its effects and laws, as beautiful as roses."

I expressed that myself with some different thoughts somewhere in "Time" magazine, if I can find the clipping. Yes, right here. Time magazine, on May 26, 1941, quoted me as saying this, or speaking this way about how this country had exploded the old tyrannies and nobilities and how it came into being. The quote is as follows:

"The people who were in America took cannon, powder, and shot and buried them in King George, and King George went up in the air in a million pieces, and came down in flakes called dollar bills; and the people went out and grabbed the dollar bills, and then they began to act like kings up to the amount that each had dollar bills."

So the power of the old aristocracy has been split up among all people who are customers, and everybody is a customer who does a good turn for the other fellow and comes by a payment for it.

So we notice here in America that nobody thinks of doing things for himself any more. He thinks only of doing things for others: and he receives their pieces of appreciation called "dollar bills" for doing so.

Each citizen here is a sovereign, and he makes treaties with other sovereign citizens which he calls contracts. They may be unwritten, as between you and the shoeshine boy at your feet, or there may be a written contract between you and the furniture salesman or the expressman or somebody else. But our contracts are our treaties between two citizens each of whom is a sovereign and can't be pushed around by the other.

I think I pointed out the other night that our dollars are the approvals of America. We give our dollars only to those whose good products we approve of. They pass them on only to others whose products they approve of. All of us are engaged in an endless chain of approved service. So, our government is lodged in the hands of each citizen, and is passed around in that method that I described.

Another way of putting it is to say that all we can do in America is to give. We have no power to slap or grab or snatch or break into somebody's house and hit him over the head or take his property. But we can give our services and we can give our dollars. We can give our services to those who give us dollars, or give our dollars to those who give us services.

That is the only weapon we have. American life is just a battle of giving. A battle of generosity.

If you graduate secretaries out of our high schools this year, in greater numbers than before, they will battle to give their services to the business houses of Boston; and if there are no more dollars coming back in return, they will all have rather fewer dollars than if not so many girls had come out battling to give their services, but more dollars had come forward battling to meet their talents—in which latter case there would be a higher salary for secretaries. American life is always a battle of giving between givers of dollars and givers of services.

So, in short, we go around in this country doing good things for others and receiving thank-you notes, called "dollars," for doing so.

Dollars are ballots by which we elect each other into the jobs we hold.

We are all hired men. The President is a hired man—legislators, big executives of big automobile companies, are hired men. The housewife is usually the boss. If she doesn't choose to open her pocketbook to buy that kind of automobile or that kind of package of puffed rice, that automobile and that puffed rice goes out of business.

In this way we have multiplied our mercies upon one another in America. We deliver much more to each other's doors, over welcome mats of dollars, than any other nation ever did.

Our financial reciprocation is the plebian instrument of human relationships here, and in that way we clothe each other's nakedness and wash each other's feet. It is this service-swapping, dollar-swapping, civilization of ours — brilliant and vivid and compassionate — with its gentle dollar thanks, its tireless giving, its tumultuous dollar balloting, its unjailed, unimprisoned, unbossed unkenneled, uncooped culture that is the civilization of the common man for which we fight today.

I wish some of those thoughts could be heeded or looked over by those who are interested in the same field.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Chairman: Thank you, Mr. Lee. Mr. Herlihy: Mr. Chairman, I would like to make one observation before you vote on this.

Chairman: Go right ahead.

Mr. Herlihy: Something has been said about the make-up of the committee that reviewed these books. They mentioned them by name. I would like to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Reid has already been mentioned here and brought into prominence because of his leadership in the Civic Education Program which he is carrying on.

I would also like to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Pearson, who is at Boston Latin School, is a quiet, unassuming man, but perhaps one of the most successful history teachers in the United States. I make no reservations on that.

Mr. Pearson has been more than successful in preparing students for the College Entrance Board examinations, and that is a matter of record.

Mr. Dullea was recommended to the committee by Assistant Superintendent Daley, and is an outstanding man in the history field.

There is one other member of the committee that I think has been neglected. We have mentioned him as the assistant superintendent in charge of secondary education and I would like to call your attention to the fact that Mr. Daley is also an expert in the history field. We really have four experts in that field.

Mr. Daley also has the advantage for the past number of years of visiting all the teachers in our secondary schools, including all teachers of social science, advising them, counselling them. He has checked and approved of textbooks that have been approved by school committees since he has been the assistant superintendent in charge of secondary education before they are sent to the School Committee for final approval.

I know Mr. Daley won't like to have me say this, but I consider him the real expert on this committee. I just want you to know that, because the make-up of the committee should be known to the School Committee.

Chairman: Thank you very much, Mr. Herlihy.

Mr. Daley: Mr. Chairman, I am very grateful to Mr. Herlihy. May I add one sentence to what Mr. Lee has just described about Communism?

I am in agreement with you, Mr. Lee. The greatest menace in the Soviet system—and we find it omitted in most of our textbooks—is atheism, Mr. Chairman. The greatest danger to the world is the threat to religious freedom carried on in the areas controlled by the Soviet system of government.

ACTION

Chairman: Would you care to comment, Mr. Superintendent?

Superintendent: No, Mr. Chairman, just to thank the committee for its services, and I await your decision.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, may I recommend that the remarks and the dissertation given by Mr. Lee be directed to the Superintendent so that he in turn can relay it to the authors of those specific books that have been examined by this committee?

Superintendent: Do you mean these authors, Mr. Musco?

Mr. Musco: Yes, sir.

Superintendent: Will this be a matter of public record? It will, won't it? Apparently this is a public meeting.

Secretary: Yes, it is a public meeting.

Superintendent: Then that will be a matter of public record, and we will be very glad, Mr. Musco, if you wish to have us do that. This committee is to send a copy of the minutes of this public meeting to the publishers of these books. They would be the ones that we would deal with, not the authors.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Chairman, I think Mr. Musco's suggestion is excellent, and I think it will help to point out some of what both Mr. Lee and Mr. Daley agree is lacking in the presentation of the story.

Mr. Lee: I would certainly appreciate it.

Chairman: The question now comes on the acceptance of the committee's report.

Mr. Lee: Can I raise a point of order on that, Mr. Chairman?

Chairman: Mr. Lee.

Mr. Lee: If we don't take action on the committee's report at all, the books still stay in their present condition of use—one on the authorized purchase list and one still used but not on the authorized purchase list. Taking no action would preserve the present situation.

Now I would be very happy to see a letter of appreciation go to this council, this committee of review, for their conscientious and very valuable work; but if the motion should be in the form of accepting the report, I suppose I would be in a position of almost having to vote No, and merely because I am opposed to some small part of the report which a little too easily glossed over, as I thought, one out of several books; and I rather hate to see the committee act with a lack of unanimity when a different parliamentary procedure would give more of a show of unanimity.

Now, of course, Mr. Musco's motion—I don't know whether he would want to modify it or not. I don't know whether I am on good ground or not.

Mr. Herlihy: Mr. Chairman, I feel you have either to accept it or reject it because if you reject this report I feel that I will have to ask the School Committee what it wants to do with those books in our system.

By the fact that you reject the report, I would say that you would want them removed from the system; and if you reject the report, I don't see how you could possibly keep those books in the system any longer; and all the books, not only in the Girls' Latin School but in all other schools in the City of Boston, will have to be recalled and destroyed.

Chairman: In this report they went on the assumption that either the Committee or members of the Committee were dissatisfied with the use of these textbooks; and, as a result of reviewing, they say: "In view of the above, the Committee does not feel that this book is unsatisfactory for use in the Boston schools."

That was one particular book. That is the top of page 2, Mr. Lee, and then further down in the second last paragraph it says: "The committee has examined seven other social studies textbooks used at the Girls' Latin School and has found them unobjectionable for classroom use."

Mr. Herlihy: There is no endorsement in that report for either book. The committee merely says that they do not find them objectionable for use in the Boston schools. That is all.

I think you either have to take positive or negative action. If you take negative action, then we have to ask you for an order to remove the books from the schools.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, may I again ask for the question on accepting the book review committee's unanimous report as it stands?

Mr. Lee: Mr. Musco, will you allow me to read over again just what it says?

Chairman: Go ahead.

Mr. Herlihy: Mr. Chairman, I would like to make an observation here if I may. I feel—and I know the Committee feels—that we are all in perfect agreement with many of the things that Mr. Lee has said. We are just as anxious as Mr. Lee to keep out of the Boston public schools any book that is undesirable. In fact, that is our job, and I think that every person involved in the selection of textbooks from the classroom teachers up to the Superintendent is just as anxious to clarify the situation.

We in no way oppose anything that Mr. Lee has said. I think, Mr. Lee, you are in agreement with us in all things. You were busy with Mr. Daley. I just made a statement that the Committee and I and everyone is in agreement with many of the things that you have said tonight concerning textbooks, we are just as anxious to clean up any textbooks that are undesirable as you are, and I know every teacher in the City of Boston is, too. I know that regardless of how you yourself view this situation, you are in perfect agreement with us and we are in perfect agreement with you on textbooks.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, I do hope it is clear, though, in view of what Mr. Herlihy has said a couple of minutes ago, that if we take no action the textbooks will remain in their present condition of use, some authorized and some previously authorized. However, of course, it is up to Mr. Musco. He has again brought up his motion.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Lee, Mr. Herlihy has already pointed out that he felt the Committee should take positive action because if by some chance this report were rejected, he would feel that positive action regarding the removal of the books would have to be taken as a result of that action. Isn't that true?

Mr. Herlihy: For the protection of all teachers and anybody involved in the selection of textbooks I feel that I would have to ask to have the books withdrawn.

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, could I bring one more point of order to Mr. Musco's mind? Would he be willing to divide his motion in half, the first part referring to the book that first came to our attention, Story of Nations, where the meat of the report ends on the top of page 2: "In view of the above the committee does not feel that this book is unsatisfactory for use in the schools," and then make a second motion out of the other seven books?

Would you be willing to do that?

Chairman: The question comes on the acceptance of that part of the report relating to "Story of Nations."

Mr. Musco: That is the prime question that you are interested in at the moment?

Chairman: No, we had better break it down into two motions. Any objections to that?

Mr. Musco: No.

Chairman: Question comes on the acceptance of that part of the committee's report that pertains to the book in question, "Story of Nations," by Rogers, Adams and Brown.

Mr. Lee: A second point of order, Mr. Chairman. I believe, Miss Reynolds, that the School Committee rules and regulations provide that a member may state his reasons, or should state his reasons, for his vote?

Secretary: He may if he wants to. There is no objection.

Mr. Lee: I think that is provided in our rules of procedure, when you call the roll.

The Secretary was directed to call the roll and the members, as their names were called, respectively voted as follows:

Miss Fitzgerald: Yes.

Mr. Lee: In view of the fact that the book is no longer on the authorized purchase list and everybody is working together toward a more helpful text, I will go along with the present report.

Chairman: So you vote Yes?

Mr. Lee: Yes.

Mr. Musco: Yes.

Chairman: Yes.

Absent: Mr. Ward.

Chairman: The question now comes on the acceptance of that part of the committee's report pertaining to the seven other textbooks used at Girls' Latin School.

The Secretary was directed to call the roll and the members, as their names were called, respectively voted as follows:

Miss Fitzgerald: Yes.

Mr. Lee: Because I do feel that there was a lack of clear thinking in regard to just one of the seven books and yet because I don't want to seem to impugn all the rest of that book or all the other six by voting no, I abstain from voting on this part of the motion.

Mr. Musco: Yes.

Chairman: Yes.

Absent—Mr. Ward.

The Committee adjourned.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, June 14, 1954.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p.m., President WHITE in the chair. Absent, Councillor Hailer. The Reverend Robert D. O'Brien of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Jamaica Plain, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. ROBERT D. O'BRIEN.

O God of men and nations, and our Heavenly Father, we pray Thee to give us a real and practical appreciation of the priceless blessings we enjoy as free American citizens.

Let that appreciation find expression in our willingness to give generously of ourselves, of our experience, and of our talents to the perpetuation of the principle of personal initiative and American democratic way of life.

Bless the members of this Council who have been elected by the free will of the people under the ultimate authority of God. Help them to be courageous and conscientious in their holy responsibilities to the children of men and God. Remove all selfishness and jealousy in their relations with one another so that they may decide every issue that comes before them with fairness, honesty, and impartiality.

Give to the world the peace it so ardently desires and which comes only from Thee. Heal the disorders that tear nations asunder and which so often disrupt our industrial and domestic relations here in our own city and nation.

We ask Thee, Almighty and Eternal God, to guide and protect us in these troubled days so that our times by Thy protection may find that peace and happiness that all men and women of good will so strongly desire.

Through Christ, Our Lord, Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

APPOINTMENT BY THE MAYOR.

Subject to confirmation by the Council, the Mayor submitted the following appointment for the term ending April 30, 1955:

Weighter of coal: Horace Paisner, 110 Norfolk street, Dorchester.

Referred to Committee on Confirmations.

REDUCTIONS IN APPROPRIATIONS FOR PERSONAL SERVICES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, June 14, 1954.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

Since the budget appropriations for departmental maintenance were submitted on February first and subsequently adopted by your Honorable Body with certain modifications, it has become apparent that, in some instances, the appropriations for personnel requirements can be reduced. It is, I submit, incumbent that advantage be taken of this situation in order that the tax rate will not reflect appropriations not actually needed.

An examination of the personnel cost to date discloses that appropriations for this purpose can be reduced in various amounts totaling $350,000, as set forth in the attached order.

I therefore most respectfully request that your Honorable Body pass the accompanying rescission order at today's meeting of the City Council. I am assured by the Administrative Services Department that the reduction in appropriations for personnel service will in no wise affect the present standing, salaries, or wages of employees.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Ordered, That items in the Appropriations and Tax Orders passed by the City Council on March 29, 1954, and approved by the Mayor on April 2, 1954, as amended by chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954, be, and hereby are, reduced by the following amounts in Item 1, Personal Services:

 Referred to the Executive Committee.

REDUCTIONS IN APPROPRIATION IN WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, June 14, 1954.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

In the annual budget submitted to your Honorable Body on February first, an appropriation in the Welfare Department for Old Age Assistance of ten million five hundred thousand dollars ($10,500,000) was given approval.

It now appears that ten million dollars ($10,000,000) will be sufficient in this appropriation to meet the cost of Old Age Assistance during the year 1954. Therefore, and in order that the tax rate will not be higher than absolutely necessary, I submit an order reducing the appropriation for Old Age Assistance from ten million five hundred thousand dollars ($10,500,000) to ten million dollars ($10,000,000).

I most respectfully request that this rescission order be adopted at today's meeting of your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

Ordered, That the item in the appropriations and tax orders, passed by the City Council on March 29, 1954, and approved by the Mayor on April 2, 1954, as amended by chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954, be, and hereby is, reduced, as follows:

Welfare Department, Old Age Assistance, from ten million five hundred thousand dollars ($10,500,000) to ten million dollars ($10,000,000) and the item so reduced is hereby appropriated in place of the original appropriation, and that all orders heretofore passed by the City Council relating to appropriations, taxes and interest thereon, apply to the reduced appropriation herein provided for.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LOAN ORDER FOR CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, June 14, 1954.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I submit herewith a loan order for "construction of buildings" in the amount of seven million five hundred thousand dollars ($7,500,000). This order, in addition to the loan order for new school buildings, the loan order for reconstruction of streets, and the loan order for reconstruction of bridges, comprises the Capital Improvement Budget for 1954.

The authorization herein requested involves the construction of a 500-bed chronic hospital at Long Island at an approximate cost of five million seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($5,750,000); a new Public Works Building to replace the old, dilapidated building at Child street, Jamaica Plain, at an approximate cost of one hundred twenty-five thousand dollars ($125,000); two new fire stations to be built in the Dorchester district, and to replace old and poorly located fire houses at an approximate cost of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($750,000); and a further appropriation of eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000) to make possible the construction of a 750-ton incinerator. The communications attached from the Superintendent of Long Island Hospital, the Fire Commissioner, and the Commissioner of Public Works substantiate the need for the above-cited improvements. These improvements are in conformity with the Capital Improvement Program of the City Planning Board.

In order that plans may be prepared and work commenced as quickly as possible on these necessary improvements, I most respectfully request the prompt consideration of the attached order by your Honorable Body.

It is important that the physical plant of the city be kept in good condition. It is equally important that plant improvements be made to meet current and future needs. To defer major repairs or postpone necessary improvements will result in greater, and perhaps, prohibitive expenditures, in the years ahead.

I recommend passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Hospital Department, Long Island Division,

June 7, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,

Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I have been advised by Mr. John M. Gray, architect, that the working plans for the new 500-bed hospital at Long Island will be ready on July 15, 1954.

The estimated cost was originally $5,000,000. On the advice of several hospital engineers and consultants it has been decided that it would be advantageous to the City of Boston to appropriate $6,000,000 for this construction. The reasons for this increase in the estimate is shown in the attached letter of John M. Gray, architect.

Doctor Rubenstein, Director of Hospitals for the Massachusetts Public Health Department, has advised me that before he can authorize any government money for the erection of the new hospital, the City of Boston must have its own funds available.

I therefore respectfully request that $6,000,000 be provided so that the construction of the 500-bed hospital at Long Island may begin immediately following the completion of the plans on July 15, 1954.

Sincerely,

JOHN R. MCGILLIVRAY, Superintendent.

John M. Gray Company.

June 7, 1954.

Mr. John R. McGillivray, Superintendent, Long Island Hospital.

Re: Proposed New Hospital Building, Long Island Hospital, Boston Harbor, Mass.

Dear Mr. McGillivray:

In the survey and report on conditions at Long Island, submitted November 18, 1953, our hospital consultants, James A. Hamilton Associates of the University of Minnesota, made certain recommendations as to procedure on the Long Island Hospital program.

It was recommended first to proceed with the 500-hundred bed hospital building, using present facilities such as boiler plant, kitchen and dining areas, and when funds are available, construct new facilities as part of the new unit.

It was suggested that a new building should be provided as soon as possible, for doctors' quarters.

After investigation with engineers and hospital advisors, we found that the amount of $5,000,000 figured for construction was reasonable, following program of using the existing facilities.

Our program was set up as follows:

Scheme No. 1:

Hospital building, 2,380,000 cubic feet at $1.85.....	$4,403,000
Alterations and additions to present kitchen.....	145,000
New tunnels from kitchen to new building.....	60,000
Tunnel to Mary Morris Building.....	50,000
Renovations and additions to boiler plant.....	235,000
Sewerage system—new water mains.....	110,000
Total.....	$5,003,000

Under this program the main kitchen, after alterations, will not be up to standards recommended by our hospital consultants, and there will be no increased storage facilities badly needed and recommended, and the present employees' dining facilities, which are poorly located, will remain as at present. Doctors' quarters are not included.

The present boiler room facilities must be revised, and our engineers recommend that for a long-range program, a new plant should be installed for the new building, with provisions for expanding and eventually doing away with the existing plant.

To sum up, as proper procedure, our hospital advisors recommended a new kitchen wing and storage facilities to serve the entire hospital plant, also a large central dining room directly connected to kitchen area, for all employees.

We feel that if doctors' quarters are to be built within the next few years, a saving could be made by including this unit as part of the hospital building, instead of a separate building.

A new boiler plant is recommended by our engineers.

Based on average construction figures as published by the Turner Construction Company, if the above program is carried out, we estimate the construction cost for the entire project, as follows:

Scheme No. 2:

Hospital building, 2,380,000 cubic feet at $1.85.....	$4,403,000
Kitchen, storage, and dining room area, 500,000 cubic feet at $1.60.....	750,000
Doctors' unit, 84,000 cubic feet, at $1.75.....	147,000
Boiler plant.....	530,000
Sewerage system—water mains and tank.....	135,000
Tunnels.....	50,000
Total.....	$6,015,000

In accordance with our agreement, we are completing the working drawings following Scheme No. 2, and will have alternatives called for in bid proposals, omitting the new kitchen, storage and dining areas, doctors' quarters, and new boiler plant, and having the work done in accordance with Scheme No. 1.

We trust the above report meets with your approval.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN M. GRAY COMPANY.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
June 8, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

For many years, this department has been occupying an area of land located on Child street, Jamaica Plain, at the intersection of South street, as a district yard, for the use of the Water, Sewer, Sanitary, and Highway Divisions. This area, comprising 43,024 square feet, contains many dilapidated and antiquated buildings reminiscent of the Civil War era and not in keeping with the residential character of the neighborhood or with St. Thomas' Church, which is located on the opposite side of South street.

On many occasions in the past, we have been desirous of abandoning this location as a site for a district yard, but we have been precluded from so doing, due to the substantial cost involved, and also due to the fact that there were few, if any, locations in the West Roxbury or Jamaica Plain area that were properly zoned and available for use as a district yard. However, this condition has changed, as two years ago we purchased from the M.T.A. approximately 55,000 square feet of land, located on Forest Hills street, at the Arborway, adjacent to the large yard area used by the M.T.A. for bus and streetcar storage and repair. Under the circumstances, therefore, we are planning to abandon the South Street yard as soon as satisfactory facilities have been provided at the new Forest Hills Street yard.

During the past winter, the latter-referenced yard was used as a dispatching area for the twelve Walter snow fighters assigned to plow, sand, and salt bus routes and main highways in the West Roxbury-Jamaica Plain area. It proved to be a very satisfactory location, and the site could not be improved upon as a district yard to serve that section of the city. At the present time, it is being used as a temporary district yard by employees of the Sanitary Division, who formerly were quartered at Child street. Large quantities of salt and sand are presently stored at Forest Hills street for next winter's use, and two abandoned voting booths are used as quarters by the Sanitary District foreman and his men.

As stated, such an arrangement is only temporary, as our plans provide for the construction of a combined modern office building and garage, to store approximately 15 snow fighters, a snow loader, and other equipment. It is our present intention to utilize the second floor of the garage as offices for the various district foremen. It is difficult at this time to estimate the cost of the garage and office building, fence, necessary paving, drainage facilities, etc., but I am limiting our expenditure to $125,000, which I feel is a bare minimum. Incidentally, an office building was constructed by the department on the site of our new South Boston district yard, on Second street, two years ago, and it cost close to $50,000. The latter-referenced building is much smaller, however, than the one needed at the Forest Hills Street yard, but, based on the cost of the South Boston building, I feel that the amount of $125,000 can be considered as a minimum to provide modern yard facilities at the Forest Hills Street site.

After said facilities have been constructed at Forest Hills street, it is our intention to abandon the Child Street yard, and transfer it to the jurisdiction of the Real Property Board, for disposition. Incidentally, I have received two inquiries concerning the sale of the land at Child street within the past 15 months; one from the pastor of St. Thomas' Church, and the second from a representative of a large corporation desirous of constructing a supermarket at this location. In view of the circumstances, therefore, we should have no trouble in disposing of the Child Street site.

I respectfully request that the sum of $125,000 be provided immediately and made available for the construction of a modern combined office and garage, and other necessary facilities at the Forest Hills Street yard, which, as stated hereinbefore, will be used as the local district yard by all divisions of this department operating in the West Roxbury, Roslindale, and Jamaica Plain areas. Incidentally, the above-referenced project has been included for construction in the Capital Improvement Program prepared by the City Planning Board. The construction of the facilities, at a total estimated cost of $125,000, is scheduled for 1954 and 1955.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
June 8, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Under date of April 10, 1953, I directed a communication to your Honor requesting, in substance, that the amount of $4,000,000 be provided for the construction of refuse incinerators.

Subsequently, the amount of $2,700,000 was allocated to this department from the "Construction of Buildings" Loan; the order for which was passed by the Honorable City Council, and approved by your Honor. It was assumed at the time that the latter-referenced amount would be sufficient to construct the so-called central incinerator, which is a 750-ton unit, to be constructed in the South Bay area, adjacent to Atkinson street. The above-referenced estimated amount for construction was based on the construction of the incinerator alone, without any provisions being made for the utilization of waste heat for conversion into steam for use at the City Hospital. To provide for all facilities needed to furnish steam to the hospital, it would cost approximately $750,000, and I do not feel that this cost is justified at this time, in view of the fact that we are not in any position to know the precise amount of steam that we will be able to develop from the waste heat of incineration.

Therefore, it is not my intention to provide for such facilities in the original incinerator construction work, although I feel that the incinerator building should be designed so that the steam-generating facilities for the City Hospital may be installed at any time after the incinerator has been operated for at least one year. The one-year period will give us an opportunity to observe the amount of steam that we can develop, and it is my intention to provide for the installation of one boiler in the original construction work, in order that it may be used as a test boiler to determine the volume of steam possible to develop from the waste heat. In addition, the steam from this boiler will be used to heat the building and for conversion to electricity to light the building and operate the electrical equipment.

In addition to the necessity of providing a waste heat boiler, it will be necessary for the department to acquire in excess of 90,000 feet of land from the New Haven Railroad, to insure sufficient area for the construction of this incinerator. For the past 15 months, we have been waiting for the State Department of Public Works to determine the location of the Central Artery and connections in the Atkinson Street area, in order that we could make arrangements to transfer from the state to the City of Boston state-owned land that has been selected as the site for the incinerator. The effect of the new highway on this site was not finally determined until about 10 days ago, at which time Commissioner Volpe informed me that some of the taking for the highway would encroach on the state-owned land that we had selected. Therefore, it becomes necessary for us to take, as stated hereinbefore, approximately 90,000 feet of land from the New Haven Railroad, to offset the area in the original site that will be taken by the state for highway purposes in connection with the construction of the artery and connections.

I feel that we should now provide a minimum of $3,500,000 for the construction of the incinerator. This increase of $800,000 over and above the money that we have now available may be attributed to various factors, such as the increased construction costs since the original estimate of $2,700,000 was made, the necessity of providing in the initial construction work for the eventual conversion of all waste heat into steam, and also the necessity of taking approximately 90,000 feet of land from the New Haven Railroad, in order to provide sufficient area for the incinerator. Frankly, last year's appropriation of $2,700,000 was too tight, and I would feel much better if the amount provided were liberal, as the construction of a modern, up-to-date incinerator is very vital to the future of the city, and I do not feel that we should be required to skimp in any way.

This morning, I had a conference with Harrison Eddy, of the firm of Metcalf and Eddy, our consulting engineers, on the design of the project, and he informed me that he felt that we would be able to advertise for the incinerator equipment in August, and for the construction of the building some time in the latter part of this year. Under the circumstances, I am very hopeful that the incinerator will be operating by January 1 of 1956.

The delays we have encountered heretofore in going forward with this program have been unavoidable, because it has been absolutely impossible for me to get a fixed commitment on a site for the incinerator, except within the past week. I hope, however, that this matter has now been adjusted satisfactorily, and that we can proceed with the preparation of the plans and specifications and the awarding of contracts for the incinerator equipment and for the construction of the building before the end of the current year, on the site adjacent to Atkinson street and South Bay avenue, now owned by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the New Haven Railroad.

In view of the circumstances, I respectfully request that an additional $800,000 be provided for the construction of this incinerator, in order that we may have available the sum of $3,500,000. Incidentally, the latter-referenced amount has been included by the City Planning Board in its Capital Improvement Program, which provides for the expenditure of $3,500,000 for the incinerator in the current year and in the year 1955.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

MAYOR HYNES PROPOSES PLAN FOR $4,000,000 PARK ZOO.

Many other items are contained in the Mayor's proposal, such as fencing the entire area at a cost of $31,000; a children's zoo, separate from the rest, which would cost $37,500 to build and $21,700 a year to operate; a $20,000 pool for penguins with an annual operating cost of $2,750; a raccoon pit which calls for $12,500 to construct and a $2,000 annual operating cost.

Pointing toward some relief on the cost of the project, the report of those who conducted the survey suggested that concessions might be given out for fees that would be returned to the city.

Many other plans are contained in the report, including the possibility of an amphitheater which would feature the antics of trained animals; the purchase of many more animals and birds, which range in price from $5,000 each for a hippopotamus, or $4,500 for a giraffe, down to vultures and hawks at $50 each or otters which come to $50 a pair.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEEMAN LOUIS F. MUSCO.

policies and purposes for the local Massachusetts School Committees:

The objectives of the corporation are:

1. To provide closer cooperation among all the school committees of the several cities and towns of the Commonwealth.

2. To study the problems of organization, administration, and operation of the public schools, and to work for the adoption of the best methods, practices, and procedures in public school administration.

3. To encourage the enactment of legislation deemed beneficial to the public schools, school children, and all the citizens of the Commonwealth.

4. To sponsor, develop, and encourage all projects, programs, and matters deemed necessary or desirable to promote better public education in the Commonwealth.

The discussion on "Quackery in the Public Schools" by the author of the book of the same title, Mr. Albert Lynd, created a mild tumult by his conviction of the Schools of Education with their own words. Education, Mr. Lynd says, is a huge enterprise which has been taken over by the "Educationists," a group of superprofessionals who, without visible public sanction, are remodeling our schools according to theories of education which are largely unknown to the parents and the public. He opposes their theories, but it is for the "Educationists" themselves and their "copper-riveted bureaucracy" that he reserves his strongest indictment. In his forthright attack upon malpractice in public education, he joins a battle of ideas that has been raging for many years.

In challenging the remarks of Mr. Lynd in a rebuttal, school committee members pointed out ill effects and detrimental comments which labeled the controversial book as a "quack" in itself.

Dr. Lloyd H. Elliott of Cornell University, Mrs. Sara Woodward of Winchester, and Mr. Louis F. Musco of Boston, refuted his arguments that the published book was definitely to the advantage of the nation's schools. Instead of placing the schools and its administrators in a positive light, he has created confusion by his personal unfounded opinions; aroused questions about the integrity of the school systems that are clear-cut in their philosophy of education; and caused undue concern to the faculty, children, and parents in his negative public relations attack.

Listed also for discussion at the convention were timely topics of:

I. Materials and Methods for Planning and Maintaining the Classroom.

II. Curriculum in our Public Schools.

III. School Legislation.

IV. School Board in Action.

Panels were presented with the subjects:

I. "The Strategy of Effective Superintendent-School Board Relationships," with Dr. Neal Gross of Harvard University.

II. "Civic Education for Adults," with Dr. John J. Mahoney and Miss Mary K. Fitzgerald.

III. "Regional Schools," with William Buker.

IV. "Interscholastic Athletics," with Starr King.

The principal address was delivered by Henry Toy, Jr., Executive Director of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, on the subject "The School Boards of Tomorrow."

When the number of persons and the amount of cost involved are taken into account, public education on the elementary and secondary levels collectively constitutes one of the largest enterprises in the United States. All school personnel directly connected with public education have a tremendous investment in its future. Nearly all of the country's population are connected with the schools as patrons or taxpayers. No private business or industry of any kind comes as near as does public education to enlisting the support and the activities of the nation's entire population. Its ramifications are as wide as those of government itself. Schools are truly the public's business.

The financial statistics also, as in Boston, put public education well up among the country's "big business" enterprises. Therefore, today's school committee must accept these responsibilities to conduct it on a businesslike basis.

Changes from peace to war and, following an unprecedented depression, back to peace again, and changes from a declining to an accelerating birth rate have cooperated to change both the enrollment and budget records of our public schools from year to year.

The public schools' appeal for greater financial support has been directed mainly to the better-citizenship motive and to the desire for parents to equip their children for success in life through the medium of qualified teachers with up-to-date methods and procedures, housed in more modern facilities.

I wish to express my appreciation to the Boston School Committee for the opportunity to attend this informative and educational convention.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT.

Purchasing Division.

BOSTON, June 15, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On August 6, 1953, a contract was executed with the Marbelite Company, Inc., for furnishing four Eagle Signal Corporation traffic signal controllers, Type EF13, three dials, noninterconnected, at a total sum of $2,540, net.

Subsequently, on April 23, 1954, this contract was canceled as a result of the Marbelite Company's failure to comply with terms of contract as to delivery date.

Inasmuch as the Traffic Commission is still desirous of obtaining said signal controllers, your permission is requested to award a contract to R. W. LeBaron, Inc., the next lowest acceptable bidder on the publicly opened bid of June 5, 1953, in the total sum of $3,678.80, net.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

BOSTON, June 15, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Boston City Hospital has submitted requisitions for Cardiette paper and 4-Channel paper. Sanborn Company, the manufacturer of the paper requested, has submitted informal prices and can make immediate delivery to the hospital.

Inasmuch as Sanborn Company is not only the manufacturer of the materials requested but is the only source of supply, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to Sanborn Company. It is my opinion that, in this way, the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $1,170, net.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

BOSTON, June 22, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The Water Division of the Public Works Department has submitted a requisition to this office for three new Model T-4000 TR trailer-type tool houses.

Inquiries have been made of several body builders relative to this type of equipment. With the exception of one company, James A. Kiley Company, all other companies canvassed would be required to custom build these units, thus making the cost of manufacturing out of proportion to the use of the units.

James A. Kiley Company specializes in utility-type bodies of a standard type, built on a production-line basis. In view of the foregoing facts, authority is requested to dispense with publicly advertising for prices and award a contract, without public advertisement, to James A. Kiley Company. It is my opinion that, in this way, the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $4,680, net.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN V. MORAN,
Purchasing Agent.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

BOSTON, June 18, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

By order of Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dennis C. Haley, I am obliged to cause the interior and exterior of the Sophia W. Ripley School building to be painted during the school vacation period. I could not conscientiously authorize an expenditure for painting the building in its present condition, as I am certain a condition, which superficial examination indicates is caused by leaking walls, must be corrected before paint is applied to wall surfaces.

I am not convinced that the walls, in general, are sufficiently porous to admit the large quantities of water that are evident on the interior of the building after heavy rainfalls, but feel quite confident that most of the water enters the building through the stone work incorporated into the masonry walls as architectural design.

Through the agency of the National Waterproofing Company I can have made available to me a material of coating, used extensively and satisfactorily in many parts of the country, but never used in Boston to date. This material, known as Transyl, applied in successive coats by air gun, eventually forms an elastic waterproofing coat capable of bridging discernible cracks and crevices and filling minute openings, and the application of this material, together with lead weather capping and some ordinary caulking, will, I am convinced, correct the leaky conditions which now exist.

Normally, to correct such a leaky wall condition, this department would publicly advertise for competitive proposals on the basis of the department standard specifications, entitled "Sealing of Masonry Walls, etc.," a specification that has proved its worth on all the buildings to which its specified work has been applied. Under such specification, however, it is necessary to treat every stone and brick joint in the wall area that shows apparent leaking, and I estimate that competitive proposals, on the basis of standard specifications, as applied to this particular building, would be in the vicinity of $11,000.

My recommendation is to apply Transyl treatment to the stone and brickwork above the second-story windows throughout the perimeter of building. Such work could be accomplished by the agent for the Transyl materials, National Waterproofing Company, at a cost not to exceed $4,500. I am quite convinced that such treatment to the stone and brickwork, plus the caulking of window frames, will correct the leaking wall conditions.

As the Transyl materials are available only through the National Waterproofing Company, and must be applied only by men employed by that company, it is not possible to obtain competitive bids on the work. However, if I am correct in my analysis of the situation, and I feel reasonably certain that I am, the saving to the city by permitting the National Waterproofing Company to do the work would be approximately $6,500.

Consequently I ask that you waive the requirement of publicly advertising for competitive proposals and authorize me to negotiate a contract with the National Waterproofing Company, 1077-1081 Columbus avenue, Boston, Mass., in an amount not to exceed $4,500, for the purpose of correcting the leaky condition of the walls.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, June 21, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR:

Your approval is respectfully requested to engage the services of John Guarino, an architect of high repute, in order that he may survey, recommend, and supervise repairs in the various health units of the Health Division of the Health Department of the City of Boston.

A supplementary budget in the amount of $22,000 has been allocated for such work. Because of the exceptional ability of this architect, his familiarity with the various procedures, and the amount of detail required, it is recommended that Mr. Guarino be selected.

It is further recommended that this assignment be made without advertising and that the fee for the services rendered be in accordance with the current professional fee for architects engaged in this type of work—not to exceed 10 per cent of the sum required to complete the work performed.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN H. CAULEY,
Health Commissioner.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, June 22, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR:

The Board of Overseers of the Public Welfare respectfully requests your permission to award a contract for a period of twelve months from July 15, 1954, for expert services as consultant to the Board.

For the past year Miss Hardwick has served as consultant to the Board, and her services have been of inestimable value. Miss Hardwick has been actively engaged in social work for many years, and her ability and reputation in the social work field is widely recognized.

The amount of the contract will not exceed $3,000 for the 12-month period. Due to the nature of the services to be performed, public advertising would not be advisable.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM G. O'HARE,
Secretary.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Approval has been given for the extension of the time of completion of the contract dated November 25, 1953, with John F. Shea Company, Inc., 41 Hollingsworth street, Mattapan, for furnishing and erecting street signposts in various locations throughout the City of Boston, from June 30, 1954, to August 15, 1954. This extension was requested because it has been necessary to order additional pipe to be used in this contract, and this pipe will not arrive in time to complete the work within the present expiration date.

Approval has been given for the extension of the time of completion of the contract dated October 13, 1953, with Cronin & Horigan, Inc., 111 Woodhaven street, Mattapan, for bituminous concrete pavement in Milton avenue, Ward 18, from Highland street to Summit street, from June 15, 1954, to June 30, 1954. This extension was requested because the contractor was delayed by inclement weather.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Let us pray, O God, Who by the light of the Holy Ghost dost instruct the hearts of Thy faithful, grant that by the same Holy Spirit, we may ever relish what is right and always enjoy His divine consolations. Through the same Christ our Lord, Amen.

RAISING OF FUNDS FOR LIBRARY FROM PRIVATE SOURCES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 21, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith additional communication from the President of the Board of Trustees of the Boston Public Library relative to your order of April 5, 1954, in regard to fund raising by donation from private sources for building or other purposes.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Library Department, June 11, 1954.
Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

At the last meeting of the Board your letter of May 13 together with the enclosed order adopted by the City Council on April 5 was considered. As I stated in my letter to you on May 6 the expense of professional help employed in connection with the raising of a centennial fund for the library was met from funds within the control of the trustees and not from tax money of the City of Boston. Professional services were engaged to establish the groundwork organization for the raising of a permanent building fund for the library through a drive that is not to be restricted to the centennial year of the library. With the groundwork laid by the fund-raising organization which has now terminated its connections with the library the trustees intend to go forward with members of their own staff to continue the solicitation of funds for this most worthy project.

Yours respectfully,

PATRICK F. McDONALD, President.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS IN FRONT OF TEMPLE B'NAI MOSHE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 21, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Public Works Commissioner in regard to your order of June 7, 1954, relative to making a survey of the conditions of the sidewalks in front of the new temple, B'nai Moshe, now being completed and to replace the gas light at the same location with new and modern lighting.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
June 15, 1954.

Harold B. Flemming,

Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Mr. Flemming:

This is in reference to the following order that was passed in the City Council under date of June 7:

"Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to direct the Public Works Department
"1. To make a survey of the conditions of the sidewalk in front of the new temple, B'nai Moshe, now being completed, with a view to reconstructing certain portions of the sidewalk where needed.

"2. To replace the gas light at the same location with new and modern lighting."

Arrangements will be made to effect whatever repairs are necessary to the sidewalk located in front of the temple on Sidlaw road, and consideration will also be given to removing the gas light and replacing it with a modern electric street light.

I trust, therefore, that these matters will be adjusted satisfactorily.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SURVEY OF PEDESTRIAN TRAFFIC TUNNEL AT FRANKLIN STREET AND LALLY SQUARE, ALLSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 21, 1954.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Public Works Commissioner concerning your order of June 7, 1954, relative to making a survey of the pedestrian traffic tunnel at Franklin street and Lally square, Allston, with a view to eliminating the tunnel and constructing a pedestrian overpass.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
June 14, 1954.

Mr. Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's office.

Dear Sir:

This is in reference to the following order that was passed in the City Council under date of June 7:

"Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor direct the Public Works Department to make a survey of the pedestrian traffic tunnel at Franklin street and Lally square, Allston, with a view to eliminating the tunnel and constructing a pedestrian overpass."

You may be assured that immediate steps will be taken to make a survey as requested under the provisions of the above-referenced order, but my first thought is that an overpass at this location would be most impractical. I feel that the most sensible thing to do is to effect whatever improvements are necessary to the existing underpass.

In any event, the department will make a survey of the conditions and take whatever steps are necessary to remedy them to the satisfaction of the residents of the community affected.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE G. HYLAND,
Commissioner of Public Works.

June 15, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,

Signal Lights at Everett Street and Western Avenue, Allston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

With reference to the above-mentioned Council order, requesting the Traffic Commissioner to install automatic traffic signals at the intersection of Western avenue and Everett street, Allston, I wish to report that similar requests have been received from Captain Donovan of Division 14 of the Police Department and the Reverend Timothy C. Up to the present time this year, no appropriation has been made available to us for traffic lights and we are still in process of installing signal lights under the appropriation granted to us last year.

Respectfully yours,

ORDINANCE CONCERNING ASSISTANT COLLECTOR-TREASURERS.

The following was received

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 21, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

By chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954 the Collecting Department of the city was abolished, with its powers and duties transferred to the Treasury Department. Prior to that time, there had been in the Treasury Department a first deputy city treasurer and a second deputy city treasurer and in the Collecting Department an assistant city collector. (See Rev. Ord. of 1947, ch. 14, sec. 6, and ch. 36, sec. 11.) It was also the practice of the City Collector to have another subordinate in the Collecting Department designated at all times to act in the event of the absence of both the City Collector and the assistant city collector. (See Rev. Ord. of 1947, ch. 3, sec. 22.) Section 64 of chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954 made provision for three assistant collector-treasurers. Experience has shown that until such time as the Collecting and Treasury Divisions of the reorganized Treasury Department can be housed together, the public would be better served if there were a first assistant collector-treasurer and a second assistant collector-treasurer for each division so that in the event of the absence of the assistant collector-treasurer assigned to the Collecting Division there would not be the inconvenience of going from the Collecting Division in the City Hall Annex to the Treasury Division in the City Hall for an assistant collector-treasurer. Transmitted herewith is an ordinance providing for this improvement in the public service. I recommend its adoption.

Respectfully,
J. B. HYNES, Mayor.

City of Boston.

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-four.
An Ordinance Concerning Assistant Collector-Treasurers.

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter 36 of the Revised Ordinances of 1947, as appearing in section 64 of chapter 2 of the Ordinances of 1954, is hereby amended by striking out section 2 and inserting in place thereof the following section:—Section 2. There shall be in the treasury department a treasury division and a collecting division; and the collector-treasurer shall, with the written approval of the mayor in each instance, appoint for each division a first assistant collector-treasurer and a second assistant collector-treasurer, each of whom shall be sworn to the faithful performance of his duties. The first assistant collector-treasurer for each division, and in the event of his absence or disability or of vacancy in his office the second assistant collector-treasurer for such division, shall have charge under the collector-treasurer of such division. Each of said assistant collector-treasurers shall perform under the direction of the collector-treasurer such other duties as shall from time to time be assigned to him by the collector-treasurer, and may, at such time as he shall have been so authorized by written designation signed by the collector-treasurer, approved by the mayor and filed with the city clerk and such authorization shall not have been revoked in like manner, exercise the powers and perform the duties of collector-treasurer in relation to such matters as may be specified in such designation; provided, that a second assistant collector-treasurer may be authorized to exercise all the powers and perform all the duties of the collector-treasurer only when there is absence or disability or vacancy in office in the case of the collector-treasurer, the first assistant collector-treasurer for the treasury division and the first assistant collector-treasurer for the collecting division.

SECT. 2. Section 1 of said chapter 36, as so appearing, is hereby amended by striking out the last sentence.

SECT. 3. Every person holding an office or position subject to the civil service laws and rules shall, if the office or position is abolished by this ordinance, be reappointed without civil service examination or registration to a similar office or position with similar status in a new department or agency, or division of either, created, or a department or agency, or division of either, not abolished, by this ordinance; and every such person shall, upon such reappointment, retain all rights to retirement with pension that shall have accrued or would thereafter accrue to him; and his services shall be deemed to have been continuous to the same extent as if such abolition had not taken place. As used in this section, the term "agency" shall be construed as defined in section 5 of chapter 486 of the acts of 1909 as amended by section 1 of chapter 473 of the acts of 1953.

SECT. 4. This ordinance shall be deemed to be made under section 5 of chapter 486 of the acts of 1909, as amended by section 1 of chapter 473 of the acts of 1953, and shall be so construed that no person holding, whether under general or special law or otherwise, an office or position subject to the civil service laws and rules shall, by reason of the adoption of this ordinance, be without a similar office or position or be reduced in rank or compensation.

SECT. 5. This ordinance shall take effect on the Wednesday next following its approval by the mayor.

RELEASE OF NEW ENGLAND PRISONERS HELD BY CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN offered the following:

Whereas, Nine hundred forty-four soldiers of the United States are now prisoners of the Chinese communist forces in Korea, many of these men highly trained technicians skilled in the handling of the latest and highly secret instruments of war; and

Whereas, Of this number, 27 men are residents of the New England States and have not been heard from by officials of the United States, or their families, since their entry into the Korean area; and

Whereas, It has been stated by the United States military authorities that they are confident that these 944 men are still held captive in the hands of the communist forces; and

Whereas, It is the sentiment of the public that every possible step should be taken to effect the release of these men; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, desire to urge all members of the New England Delegation in the United States Senate and the House of Representatives, to initiate and carry out an organized effort to demand of the highest authority of our administrative and military branches to bring into being immediately whatever effort or action necessary to accomplish the release of these New England citizens and soldiers who have imperiled their lives to serve our country; and be it further

Resolved, That it is felt by the Boston City Council that any action, no matter how drastic, is worth-while and necessary to erase this blainish and insult to the honor of our country; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the Boston City Council desire to commend the Boston "Post" and its reporters, Clark Nichols and Joseph McLaughlin, for the untiring efforts to bring about the accomplishment of this worthy and humane undertaking, which, up to the present time has apparently been abandoned by all others, except the American Prisoners of War Association; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be promptly forwarded to all members of the New England Delegations in the United States Senate and the House of Representatives.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

PROPOSED BOSTON NAVY YARD LAYOFF.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN offered the following:

Whereas, Over the greater part of our national history the Boston Navy Yard has been looked upon as one of the finest shipyards in the world, both from a standpoint of skill and the quality of the work turned out; and

Whereas, Throughout the years the men of the Charlestown Navy Yard have responded valiantly to every emergency calling for speed and perfection of production, and for this effort have received many awards; and

Whereas, The announced layoff of another 750 men, to be added to previous drastic cuts in personnel, has been publicly termed "discrimination" and "favoritism"; and

Whereas, There seems to be no sound reason for the lack of work contracts to the Boston Navy Yard, while other areas have been awarded contracts which will keep men employed full time for a period of five years, or more; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, urge the Massachusetts members of Congress to thoroughly investigate the charges of "favoritism" attributed to the authorities of the Navy Department, which has resulted in the reduction of contract awards to the Boston Navy Yard and the firing of large numbers of skilled men, many of whom have long periods of faithful service; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the Massachusetts Delegation in Congress be requested to make every effort to have canceled the proposed Boston Navy Yard layoff, by having emergency work awards allocated to the Boston area promptly.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

UNDERPASS AT CENTRE STREET AND ARBORWAY.

Coun. McLAUGHLIN offered the following:

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the authorities of the Metropolitan District Commission for the purpose of formulating plans for the construction of an underpass at the Traffic Circle at the junction of Centre street and the Arborway in Jamaica Plain district.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

COMMENDATIONS TO DORCHESTER DAY COMMITTEE.

Coun. WHITE offered the following:

Whereas, The recent celebration of Dorchester Day was one of the most outstanding and well ordered events ever to be presented in the Dorchester area; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, desire to commend and congratulate all the members who served on the committee who directed the activities and made possible this outstanding celebration of Dorchester Day.

The resolution was passed under suspension of the rules.

CONGRATULATIONS TO "IRELAND'S 32 COUNTIES ASSOCIATION."

Coun. WHITE offered the following:

Whereas, It has been the practice for some time of the communist leaders of the Soviet Government to divide the unity of peace-loving countries by infiltration, causing strife and civil war in these countries without the communist leaders becoming involved in direct conflict; and

Whereas, It is the purpose of such infiltration to keep the governments of these peace-loving countries in constant turmoil, thereby bringing about the weakening and ultimate collapse of their civil governments, and thus their becoming the prey of stronger foreign governments; and

Whereas, It is a well recognized fact that the freedom-loving country of Ireland as now partitioned can never be at peace, and that Ireland's

Thirty-two Counties Association recognizes the fundamental difficulty that the partition of Ireland causes disunity in that country; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, wishes to congratulate Ireland's Thirty-two Counties Association and their officers in the message of the danger of the partition of Ireland and the greater danger of disunity which this organization brought to the attention of the people in Boston in the recent Dorchester Day parade.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

There being no objection, the motion was withdrawn.

BON VOYAGE TO ARCHBISHOP CUSHING AND MAYOR HYNES.

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in meeting assembled, extends its best wishes for a bon voyage to the Most Reverend Richard I. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, and to his Honor Mayor John B. Hynes, and the three hundred (300) pilgrims who will accompany them on the pilgrimage to the eternal city, and other religious shrines in Europe, starting next Wednesday; and be it further

Resolved, That the prayers of the members of the Boston City Council will accompany them, that they may have a safe journey and a healthy and happy return home.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

WARNS COUNTRY TO GUARD MORE SACREDLY, AND WITH GREATER APPRECIATION, THE PRECIOUS JEWEL OF FREEDOM THAT IS OURS — HERBERT A. PHILBRICK, CITY'S INDEPENDENCE DAY ORATOR, WARNS OF DANGERS THAT MENACE THE NATION'S SECURITY AND FREEDOM IN THE FORM OF SUBVERSIVE, UNDERGROUND, AND CONCEALED ENEMIES SPREADING COLD WAR LIES AND DISTORTIONS AIMED AT CONFUSING CITIZENS FOR PURPOSES OF CONQUEST.

BIG SHIFT IN FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERED BY COMMISSIONER FRANCIS X. COTTER—THREE COMPANIES ARE DEACTIVATED AND 83 MEMBERS OF FORCE ARE SHIFTED TO EFFECT ECONOMIES AND MAKE FOR MORE EFFICIENT OPERATION OF FORCE FOR BENEFIT OF CITIZENS — TO CONSOLIDATE BOTH MANPOWER AND EQUIPMENT.

As part of the reorganization plan being worked out by Fire Commissioner Francis X. Cotter for the Fire Department, the commissioner has announced some changes that are aimed at making the department more streamlined and provide greater efficiency at less cost.

Three companies have been deactivated, Engine Companies 6, 15, and 23, and 83 members of the organization

TRAFFIC COMMISSION MAKING CITY-WIDE COUNT OF VEHICULAR ACTIVITIES—159 INVESTIGATORS HAVE BEEN ENGAGED IN WORK FOR ABOUT A WEEK—AIM OF STUDY IS TO FACILITATE MOVEMENTS AND TO LESSEN CONGESTION WHERE SUCH MAY OCCUR.

The text of the annual July 4 oration, delivered at Faneuil Hall, July 5, 1954, by Herbert A. Philbrick, reads as follows:

Across the nation, from sea to shining sea, on this beautiful week end, the Fourth of July represents to many people little more than a welcome opportunity to enjoy a much-needed vacation at the beach, mountains, and ball parks. It is, of course, right and proper that we utilize these days for relaxation and for the enjoyment of the fruits of our labors in the uniquely free nation of these United States under God.

It is more than tradition, however, which calls us together in this sacred hall in Boston, Massachusetts, for the Fourth of July, 1954. In our time it has become increasingly important that we devote a portion of time to review the real meaning and startling significance of this holiday. Too often in the past, I fear, we have been inclined to forget or to disregard the precious jewel of freedom which we enjoy in this great and wonderful country. Today there are events throughout the entire world and within the borders of our own nation which force us to review the wisdom and foresight of our founding fathers.

From many lands a tiny trickle of emaciated, hungry, homeless refugees have been fleeing to the haven of the United States of America. From these people—Latvians, Estonians, Russians, Poles, Czechs, Rumanians—from such as these, we, who have taken our freedom for granted, are discovering anew the real meaning and value of freedom.

Real and Present Danger.

It was not difficult for our Revolutionary forefathers to recognize the real and present danger to the security and freedom of this nation. The enemy fought in the open, in clear and distinct view, and could be seen and identified.

Today the enemy is subversive, underground, concealed, and his weapons are the weapons of a cold war: lies, distortions, and the organization of confusion for the purposes of conquest. Our enemy today is taught that the way to capture a fortress is from within; he seeks to create splits in our ranks and dissention among our people. And although the enemy is akin to the barbaric hordes during the era of the Roman Empire, he utilizes the most modern techniques of science, psychology, and cybernetics.

It is a typical trait of the enemy that in every nation, including our own, a vast network has been established to aid in the accomplishment of the overthrow of the free peoples. It is impossible to deny that in our country today there exists the most highly organized and skillfully operated espionage and sabotage apparatus that has ever existed in the history of our country. It is, of course, nothing new in history that in each period of crisis there were those who turned traitor and became Tories, quislings, and collaborationists.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean;
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam
With light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

FOURTH OF JULY ORATION GIVEN BY HERBERT A. PHILBRICK.

It is new, however, and the fact should cause us some concern, that for each of the trained agents of the Kremlin in this country, today numbering more than 25,000, there are ten others—fellow travelers who stand ready to defend and to serve the enemies of our nation and who would sell out our birthright of freedom for the dictatorship of a foreign power. There are fellow travelers in Boston today who would have us believe that freedom is being suppressed, not behind the iron curtain, but in the United States; that there is no danger to our nation from the communist criminal conspiracy, but that a real threat lies in the attempts of growing numbers of Americans to combat the Red menace; they would have us believe that freedom of speech includes the right to conspire to teach and advocate the violent overthrow and destruction of the United States Government; and there are those in Boston today who state that, for reasons of expediency, the United States should recognize, deal, collaborate, and trade with the most ruthless and bloody dictatorship in world history. Moreover, the collaborationists, quislings, Tories, and fellow travelers of today are armed with new and fearsome weapons. The world has faced the threat of barbaric hordes in the past, but never before has it been menaced by the educated barbarian.

FUNDAMENTAL BLESSINGS.

Let us consider the very simple and fundamental blessing of food, for example. In the free nations it is the desire and aim of the peoples to see that food is provided for all the people in sufficient quantities and variety for the health and well-being of all. In the United States today there exists a vast organization of free enterprises, competing and striving constantly to provide a greater and better variety of food at lower cost to the public.

But the communist criminal conspiracy has found that food can be used as a means of control and intimidation. This is particularly so in the iron curtain countries and in the slave labor system of the Soviet orbit, wherein thousands upon thousands of enslaved peoples are imprisoned behind barbed wire, with little or no hope for the future. Yet it has been observed that these slave laborers work as though their lives depended upon it.

In all of history it has been proven that a slave economy cannot compete with a free economy of individual enterprise, because the slave lacks the incentive to produce. Why is it, then, that behind the iron curtain has been undeniable progress in the building and development of vast mining, electronic, and industrial expansion? It was pointed out to us that it is a dubious tribute to the NKVD that the communists have discovered how to make slave labor pay. As a substitute for any real incentive, the criminal conspiracy has utilized the most primitive incentive of all—self-preservation. The food rations of the slave laborers are fixed at a point just above or at the starvation level. Furthermore, the rations are geared to cruel and unusually severe work norms. Failure to meet the work norms means a cut in rations. Less food means less strength; less strength, less work; less work, less food; thus, unless the laborer maintains the level of production, he finds himself on a descending spiral—the bottom of which is death.* In this way the God-given blessing of food is utilized as a weapon and as a means of control.

Another example of the utilization of a legitimate and useful science is that of cybernetics. As a pure science, cybernetics has a most valuable function. It has to do with the improvement and development of electronic circuits and of the flow of information and communication, such as in telephone lines, conduits, and cables, or in the simultaneous transmission of many messages on a single coaxial cable.

But to the communist criminal the science of cybernetics can also be twisted and subverted to a frightening degree. Since (according to the communist) man is but a machine; since he is not a sacred being with a soul which is God's, but is only a somewhat higher form of chemical and material ingredients; and since human nerve centers and nerve routes correspond to electronic circuits, the science of cybernetics can be applied not simply to machines but to human beings. To the communists, therefore, cybernetics is the pragmatic technique of scientifically devised propaganda, involving the manipulation and control of information. Human beings, the communist propagandist is taught, respond in Pavlovian patterns to word symbols and phrases, even as dogs respond to sound-symbols, such as the ringing of a bell.

Therefore, one simply needs to manipulate and control the flow of information, by simply pouring into the channels of communication, such as the radio, the press, literature and music, only those word symbols and phrases which will cause the people to respond in certain desired patterns. Furthermore, information which would tend to create an undesired reaction is withheld from the people. Thus a nation or groups of nations, according to the communist concept of the use of cybernetics, may be controlled like puppets.

Another weapon used by the communist conspiracy and the fellow travelers is that of logocide—the destruction of the meaning of words. Thus, "academic freedom" is interpreted to mean the concealment of truth and information; "freedom of speech" is twisted to mean the refusal to speak openly and honestly; "people's democracy" is the term used to describe a fascist dictatorship; and "liberalism" is used to describe complete conformity to the communist party line.

ACADEMIC ANARCHY.

Similarly, "progressive education" is used to describe academic anarchy. Walter Lippmann has said: "There is an enormous vacuum where until a few decades ago there was a substance of education. And with what is that vacuum filled? It is filled with the elective, eclectic, the specialized, the accidental and incidental improvisations and spontaneous curiosities of teachers and intellectual discipline. Yet the graduates of these modern schools are expected to form a civilized community. We have established a system of education in which we insist that while everyone must be educated, yet there is nothing in particular that an educated man must know."

Perhaps the major facet of the "progress" in "progressive education" has been the systematic elimination of spiritual and patriotic values from school and college curricula. Thus, in the state of Connecticut recently, a public protest was registered when a good woman of the community endeavored to present the school with a plaque reading "In God We Trust." It took two years of struggle for her to win that battle. In Long Island schools some school boards fought a simple statement of faith and acknowledgment of God as the Father of mankind. In New Jersey the Gideon Society was successfully prevented from distributing copies of the Holy Bible outside of the school buildings—although distribution of communist literature would, of course, be defended on the grounds of free speech.

In some New York communities school children have been prohibited from presenting simple Christmas pageants. To our founding fathers, in whose eyes the very cornerstone of American democracy and independence rested upon belief in God and dependence upon Him for strength and guidance, these developments of "modern" society would indeed seem incredible. Perhaps, however, they would also find in them a clue as to why communism, which denies the existence of God, has been able to find some recruits and allies within the borders of this free nation.

Is this matter, therefore, a subject of concern to us who are gathered in this hallowed hall today? Are we winning the battle against the communist criminal conspiracy today? I believe that for the answer to that question we need only to "take a look at the record." And what is the record of the Soviet Imperialists?

They began their conquest for world power about 37 years ago—a short period of time in world history—with only 40,000 hard-core, commando-troop communists. And in 37 years they have grown and expanded until they have seized and established absolute and bloody control over 800,000,000 of the world's population.

In the same period of time they have been taking over the territory of the world at the rate of 1,000 square miles a day, day in and day out.

And let us remember one thing, ladies and gentlemen—to this very moment, we, the free peoples of the world, have not won back one single inch of that territory which we have lost. And as we very well know from the headlines this very day, we are in serious danger of losing even more of that world which we have already lost.

The fact, therefore, is that we are not winning today. We have not yet begun to roll back the Red tide. And not until all of us become more thoroughly committed to the principles for which this very meeting is being held, shall we begin to win.

If we recognize the danger and menace of the communist criminal conspiracy, however, I believe that we should also recognize their weaknesses. And they have one tremendous weakness. That weakness lies right behind the iron curtain itself, and the clue to that weakness comes from those very people I spoke of in my opening remarks—the refugees from behind the iron curtain.

SPARK OF FREEDOM UNDYING.

We know from them that despite every torture and device the Red fascists have been able to devise, despite the liquidations, the slave labor camps, the jails and prisons and the brain-washing in concentration camps, the communists have not been able to destroy the spark of freedom—the same spark of freedom, if you will, which first brought the bright flame of liberty alive in our nation.

* ROGER BALDWIN, A New Slavery, Ocean Press, 1953.

Last year a small number of these refugees met in Upper Manhattan in New York City. They met on a very peculiar day—on November the seventh, the day of the great victorious Red revolution.

But they did not meet to celebrate that victory. They met for a very special purpose—to compose a message, which they called a "manifesto." But I believe this to be a little more than a manifesto. I believe it might properly be called a new Declaration of Independence—a Declaration of Independence for our day and our time. Let me read it to you:

On November 7, 36 years ago, the communist conspiracy to conquer the world seized power over the peoples of Russia. Today, 800,000,000 human beings are in slavery, and everywhere the communist dictatorship rules, the unhappy citizens are compelled to celebrate the eclipse of their human rights.

We, former political prisoners, victims of nazi and communist concentration camps, have proclaimed November 7 the Day of the Unknown Political Prisoner. Together with those throughout the world who love freedom, we have consecrated November 7 to the honor of all those who have perished in the past, or still survive today, in concentration camps created to torture the human body and to enchain the spirit and mind of man. We resolve today and henceforth to honor the Unknown Political Prisoner and to awaken the conscience of all men everywhere—to inspire them to fight against slavery, persecution, and unjust imprisonment, wherever it may be found.

To the victims of communist dictatorship we say: As you march on November 7 in mock obedience to your temporary Bolshevik masters, you can honor with us in your minds and hearts your suffering fellow countrymen, of whom the Unknown Political Prisoner is a symbol for all mankind. In your hearts let your salute be for the oppressed, not the oppressors. The power of your numbers is invincible, for you are the people. In this knowledge, march on November 7, the Day of the Unknown Political Prisoner, with the determination that each of you contributing his share makes that force which tyranny cannot withstand.

As you raise your fist in mock salute to despised tyrants and their lackeys, repeat to yourself this solemn oath: "I swear that I will never betray the memory of those who have perished or still languish in concentration camps and prisons for their beliefs. I swear never to reconcile myself to any tyranny over the mind of man. Let me be counted on the side of human rights and freedom. May God give me strength to do my share."

Ladies and gentlemen, my fellow Americans, I say to you that we as Americans should be proud and humble to join with these people who are fighting so desperately for the freedom and independence of their country even as we fought for the freedom of this nation. For theirs is the same fight as our fight; the battle for truth and for justice; a battle not of atomic bombs but of atomic ideals—the revolutionary concept that free men in a free nation can live in peace and in brotherhood for the welfare and benefit of all. Let us leave this hall today, therefore, rededicated to those great truths which we as Americans hold to be self-evident. Let us pledge to join with the little peoples in this vast struggle for liberation, so that this world, under God, may have a new birth of freedom.

CITIES' RELIEF ROLLS RISE.

General relief case loads showed an increase of 9 per cent from January 1 to March 1 in a representative group of 15 major cities, as compared with an increase of 5.6 per cent during the first two months of 1948 in the same cities, according to a recent survey by the American Public Welfare Association. General relief case loads do not reflect all unemployment because many newly jobless are drawing unemployment compensation and are not on general assistance rolls. Cities where case loads have mounted included Boston, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, and Philadelphia. General assistance means relief to the indigent, as distinguished from the three major categories of federal aid given under the Social Security program—aid to dependent, to the aged, and to the blind.

DECISION OF SUPREME COURT BARRING SEGREGATION IN THE NATION'S SCHOOLS

The following statement was read by the Chairman:

Chairman: I was thrilled on Monday to read the United States Supreme Court decision barring segregation in the nation's schools. The old theory of separate but equal schools, held for 58 years, now gives way to the more democratic and American ideal of indivisible opportunity for all.

We, in Boston and Massachusetts, may well be proud of the part the city and state have played in this momentous question. The first school segregation case was fought right here in Boston over 100 years ago, in 1849. Lawyers refer to it as Roberts vs. City of Boston. Although Charles Sumner, later United States Senator from Massachusetts, argued brilliantly for a Negro girl excluded from a white school, Chief Justice Shaw of the Massachusetts Supreme Court ruled against him, but in 1855 the Massachusetts Legislature corrected the inequity prohibiting, by statute, segregation in the state's public schools, so we in Boston and Massachusetts have had educational freedom for 100 years. Even progressive New York State outlawed segregation only 15 years ago, in 1938.

It is only fitting then, that we take cognizance of the history-making decision of last Monday. It will do much to weld the nation into a single informed unit for our national development and a bulwark against the common enemy—world-wide Communism. Racial discrimination has been dealt a deadly blow which was too long in coming, and America has taken another long step toward freedom of opportunity for all.

I, therefore, move that the Boston School Committee go on record as being in whole-hearted agreement with the Supreme Court's decision. The nation has finally caught up with Boston, cradle of political liberty and pioneer in the fight for equal educational advantages for all.

On roll call, the motion passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Messrs. Lee and Musco—4.

NAYS—0.

ABSENT—Mr. Ward—1.

Miss Fitzgerald: I wish to commend the Chairman for his resolution on the decision of the Supreme Court on segregation in the schools.

As a staff member of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, I wish to be recorded as wholeheartedly in favor of the resolution.

IN MEMORIAM

The Superintendent regretfully reported the death of John W. Corcoran, Assistant Superintendent, on May 12, 1954.

Placed on file.

The following preamble and resolutions were offered:

WHEREAS, God in His Mercy, has suddenly taken from us John W. Corcoran, Assistant Superintendent of the Boston Public Schools, and

WHEREAS, The School Committee is shocked at his untimely death, at his great loss to education, to the Boston School System, and the citizens and children of Boston, be it, therefore

RESOLVED, That the Boston School Committee, in meeting assembled, enter upon its public record, a statement of genuine sorrow at the early demise of our dearly beloved and honored Assistant Superintendent of Schools John W. Corcoran.

From the moment his teaching career began in 1919, at the Mary Hemenway School in Dorchester, the Boston School Department has been the recipient of his many unselfish and untiring hours of devotion to duty. Such faithfulness and loyalty brought him in 1941 to the principalship of the Lowell School in Jamaica Plain, and in 1951 to the high position of Assistant Superintendent of Schools.

During these years he has been always the public servant, who was a master of his trade, and who was accepted by those whom he advised as one who possessed an accurate and a complete knowledge in his chosen educational field. His willingness to share, to direct, and to advise will be always a source of strength and courage to us. His kindly manner, his patience, and his eternal standards of truth and justice will always be remembered.

As a devoted husband and father, a civic leader, a man of God, past president of St. Theresa's Holy Name Society, past president of the West Roxbury Catholic Men's Club, and as a member of the Catholic Alumni Society, we count not his years, but his accomplishments. As his loving acts go passing by we stand in humility at his perseverance. Full well we know that he gave his all—perhaps, at times—too much! By his benevolent associations he made the world richer in goodness and honor.

As the poet, Tennyson, stated: "Forgive, Oh Lord, our grief for one removed, Thy creature whom we found so fair."

Therefore, be it further

RESOLVED, That the Boston School Committee, in public meeting, extends its deep sympathy to the devoted wife, and children of John W. Corcoran and directs that a copy of this resolution be sent to his family as an expression of the great loss that has come to them, to the citizens and schools of Boston.

MAYOR JOHN B. HYNES WINS PRAISE OF FINANCE COMMISSION FOR SUCCESSFUL EFFORTS TO REDUCE TAX RATE — FINANCE COMMISSION POINTS OUT THAT SUCCESS ACHIEVED FOR 1954 AUGURS WELL FOR FUTURE REDUCTIONS — SCHOOL DEMANDS, M.T.A. DEFICIT REQUIREMENTS, TAX ABATEMENTS, PENSION AND ANNUITY REQUIREMENTS, AND REMOVAL OF TAXABLE PROPERTY BY STATE FOR HIGHWAY PURPOSES ALL CONSPIRE TO PREVENT GREATER RELIEF FROM HEAVY BURDEN BORNE BY REAL ESTATE — OPTIMISTIC NOTE SOUNDED, HOWEVER, IN REPORT PRESENTED TO MAYOR AND COUNCIL.

On July 10 the Finance Commission made public the following communication:

BOSTON, July 9, 1954.

To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council.

Examination of the 1954 tax computation figures reveals a pleasing trend in a downward direction in many of the items of this important calculation. Though substantially lower taxes are not "right around the corner" yet, a beginning has been made to bring the rate back to the less awe-inspiring levels of years ago. Total real estate valuations increased a few millions, but a personal property valuation reduction offset the gain.

Illustrations of the new trend are found in a reduction in 1954 from the figures of 1953 for general city maintenance; for debt service; for county expenditures. The assessments for Metropolitan purposes and for the State are likewise less than a year ago.

Disturbing Elements.

Nevertheless, there are disturbing elements. Two are well-known and have been much publicized — the Metropolitan Transit Authority deficit and the City Overlay (tax abatement) deficits. The first of these is entirely beyond city control; the second is distinctly within city control. It is the natural result of the long-followed policy of municipal administrators to fix untenable valuations on real property in order to establish a lower rate than might otherwise be necessary.

Boston's 1954 share of the Metropolitan Transit Authority deficit was not greatly out of line with the 1953 assessment for the same purpose and there is nothing the City can do about it anyway; but the penalty the City is paying for having kept the rate down by inflating the property valuations becomes annually greater. Already it is a menace in city financing. It is likely to be no better for some time to come.

Demand by property owners for relief from the exorbitant valuations of past years is not yet fully satisfied, as the records in the State Appellate Tax Board disclose. As forecast early in the year by the Finance Commission, the 1954 rate computations contain a total figure of $9,662,816 to be provided on account of abatements of assessments already made. This is approximately 9 per cent of the 1954 tax levy. The major portion of it is on account of the return to property owners of tax money previously collected from them.

FINANCE COMMISSION PRAISES MAYOR HYNES FOR HIS EFFORTS TO REDUCING TAX RATE.

In so far as these refunds refer to past years, the figures are those of the deficits in the overlay accounts set up in the tax rate computations of those years. Yet before each account became a deficit account, approximately $3,000,000 which had been included in the levy of the year had already been refunded or assessments within that amount had been determined to be insupportable. In relation to the account this year, in the $9,662,816 accumulation of "overlay" figures, $6,420,042.25 represents abatements made in 1953 alone of earlier years' assessments.

There is a third disturbing element in the tax picture. Boston is no exception in the fact that the amount necessary to meet pension and annuity requirements for retired employees is becoming a monster in the financing of governments everywhere. In the local rate computations, pension requirements have increased $1,650,943.55 in the last year. In the 1954 appropriations they are $7,300,764.60. On city account the increase has been from $5,226,820.91 in 1953 to $6,726,764.46 in 1954; on school account from $303,000 in 1953 to $409,000 in 1954; and on county account from $120,000 in 1953 to $165,000 in 1954.

To those who contend that many properties were overvalued in 1953, it will appear that overvaluation was used again in 1954 to hold the rate in check. However, city administrators will not concede that this deduction is fair. Yet in the face of loss of more properties to public improvements, and of the absence of a building wave which would produce new valuations, the total property valuation was still $1,010,000 more in 1954 than in 1953. This result came out of an increase in real property valuation of $4,064,900 and a reduction in personal property valuation of $3,054,900. The figures of the so-called downtown valuation total approximately the same as in 1953. Nevertheless, the rate was reduced 90 cents per $1,000 of valuation.

In the determination of future assessments, there is hope of results more satisfactory to the taxpayers when the reorganization of the work in the Assessing Department is in full effect. The new organization of the departmental structure became effective after the 1954 tax rate was promulgated. A single Assessor now directs the preliminary work of establishing valuations, and a Board of Review (three members) will now pass on applications for abatement. This form of organization will allow the single Assessor to devote his full time to the establishment of an orderly system of fixing valuations, from which, it is expected, correction of many of the deficiencies of the old practices will eventuate.

Debt service in 1954 for city, county, and schools cost appreciably less than in 1953 and in many previous years. A large new debt authorized in 1954 called for on account of new schools, a new chronic hospital, and an incinerator (at last) will swell the debt in future years, but does not affect the 1954 tax rate.

SCHOOL APPROPRIATIONS.

The school appropriations in 1954 total $284,000 more than in 1953, and despite consolidations, reorganizations, etc., which confuse present picture, there appears little hope that this element of tax rate making will give comfort in the immediate future.

A new item appears for the first time in the rate calculations—the appropriation of $130,616.85 as a metropolitan assessment for the maintenance and operation of the Boston Arena.

The total 1954 requirements for Warrants and Appropriations is about a million dollars more than in 1953, the reductions in the city accounts above referred to being lost in the increased Metropolitan Transit Authority assessments, the increased need on account of abatements, and the greater pension payments which statutory law directs. The cent, which for many years has provided less than one half of the eventual need.

CREDITS AND REVENUES.

The largest item on the revenue side of the ledger is the estimate of general city revenues—mostly departmental revenue. The figure used is $1,058,914.08 greater than the corresponding figure in 1953, and the estimate is $800,000 more when this latter figure, listed in the 1954 computations as receipts from the Printing Department and the Rent Board, is added. In previous years, the Printing Department account was treated as a revenue account, i.e., a self-supporting account, and expenditures and receipts were not included in the so-called tax accounts. In 1954 both are included in the tax accounts. The Rent Board receipts consist of a payment by the State directed by statutory law toward the expenses of the local board. From the Printing Department it is estimated that $750,000 will be received in 1954; and $50,000 from the State on account of the Rent Board.

Now it is a question if the high estimate figure of $24,710,800 (City general $23,910,800 plus Printing Department and Rent Board $800,000) will materialize in actual receipts. In 1953 comparable receipts were $21,209,487.06 against a 1953 estimate of $22,851,885.92. It has been the overestimate of possible receipts in the city revenue accounts which has been largely responsible for the operations deficits of the last several years; and by that overestimate the rates were held to lower figures than would otherwise have been possible.

The State has helped materially with generous estimates of the taxes it will turn over to the City. The State Tax Commission has certified a figure, as the Boston share of the Income Tax, which is about $200,000 higher than the corresponding estimate in 1953, and has done even better in the Corporation Tax item—an increase of about $400,000.

CONCLUSION.

On the whole, the computations of the 1954 tax rate cause mixed feelings. Obviously, the volume of abatements from last year's and preceding years' assessments must be accepted as evidence that many taxpayers believe that certain valuations were set too high. Yet the total 1954 valuation, in the absence of any substantial new developments, and in the face of more losses of taxable properties to the Central Artery and other public improvements indicates that there has been no change in this respect. As a result there will be a certain dissatisfaction with this 1954 determination. While, as in every previous year, time will tell whether or not the Assessors' judgment is correct, the growing volume of abatements would seem to indicate that the Assessors have not previously been right.

The expenditures for the City, except schools, and the County for this year at least are, comfortingly, less than in 1953. The Metropolitan Transit Authority deficit and the abatement situation continue to be sore spots, and to them is now added the appalling cost of pensions and annuities.

As stated previously the total valuation in 1954 of real property increased $4,064,900 over the 1953 figure and total personal property valuation declined $3,054,900, thereby producing a net increase in total valuation of $1,010,000. In accounting for the real property valuation increase the above table shows that losses in Wards 1, 3, 4, 5 and 21 were offset by gains in other wards. The reduction in personal property valuation is found principally in Wards 1, 3 and 5 although 12 other wards showed a drop in 1954.

A comparison of valuation figures of recent years is interesting. Percentage-wise since 1950 the total change has been small; yet the dollar amount of the increase in that period, $2,352,300, does not reveal certain internal changes which have taken place.

For instance, since 1950, Ward 3, representing downtown Boston, has declined in real estate valuation by $12-625,000; Ward 4 (Back Bay, South) by $7,022,300. However, more than $19,000,000 of the $19,647,300 decline represented in these two wards was offset by increases in eight other wards during this period. See page 889, for table.

The losses besides those in Wards 3 and 4 occurred in Wards 1 and 10.

Looking back over the period of the last twenty-five years it may be seen that Ward 3, though it continues to carry its traditionally heavy valuation load, is constantly declining in weight. Its total of real estate and personal property valuation is 33.4% of the City's total in 1954 as against 38.8% in 1930. Within this period the trend in real estate valuation was downward while its personal property valuation was increased. In detailed figures, its real estate valuation declined from the 1930 high point of $687,435,800 to a 1954 figure of $437,798,000. Yet the personal property valuation increased from $78,425,400 in 1930 to $84,336,800 in 1954. It is significant that in 1930 Wards 3, 4, 5 and 6, the commercial and industrial heart of Boston, represented 61.9% of the total real estate valuation of the City; in 1954 these wards represented 54.3%. In personal property

Upon July 7 the Acting Mayor approved a contract with bidders as indicated in the following letter:

BOSTON, June 29, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In response to an advertisement in the City Record of June 19, 1954, the following list of bids was received and publicly opened and read aloud on June 28, 1954, for furnishing and installing manholes and machine plates and fusible plugs on steam boilers in various schools:

District 1.—Eugene Ricciardelli, $1,963; Powers & Mehegan Company, $2,100; Joseph F. Dwyer, $2,145; Joseph P. O'Hearn, $2,185.

District 2.—Eugene Ricciardelli, $2,233; Powers & Mehegan Company, $2,290; Joseph F. Dwyer, $2,240; Joseph P. O'Hearn, $2,315.

District 3.—Eugene Ricciardelli, $2,141; Powers & Mehegan Company, $2,120; Joseph F. Dwyer, $2,135; Joseph P. O'Hearn, $2,040.

Please note that Eugene Ricciardelli is the lowest bidder in two districts, however, the policy of the department for many years is to solicit proposals in three districts for the reason that our experience has proven that no one concern employs sufficient mechanics to do all the required work in the three districts within the extremely limited time available between the final inspection by insurance boiler inspectors and the opening of the school system heating season. I believe it advisable and in the best interest of the city to select a separate contractor for each district as has been the practice for many years.

Therefore, subject to your Honor's approval, I am awarding a contract to the following bidders:

District 1, to Eugene Ricciardelli, 856 Salem street, Lynnfield, in the sum of $1,963.

District 2, to Joseph F. Dwyer, 103 Park street, West Roxbury, in the sum of $2,240.

District 3, to Joseph P. O'Hearn, 9 Columbia place, Dorchester, in the sum of $2,040.

Very truly yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

Upon July 7 the Acting Mayor approved a contract with contractors as indicated in the following letter:

BOSTON, June 25, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In response to an advertisement in the City Record of June 5, 1954, the following list of bids was received and publicly opened and read aloud on June 21, 1954, for alterations at the High School of Practical Arts:

D. Antonellis, Inc., $76,870; Michael Racioppi, $81,322; M. Solimando, $82,119; Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., $94,159.

The proposal submitted by D. Antonellis, Inc., contained a price for plumbing work in the name of Henry J. Lyons, as subcontractor, in the amount of $11,938. Upon opening the various subbids as filed with the Awarding Authority, it was ascertained that the subbid proposal of Henry J. Lyons for the plumbing work was in the amount of $12,938. Subsequently written information was submitted from Henry J. Lyons to this department to the effect that the figure of $11,938 was given to the various general contractors through an inadvertence, instead of the true figure of $12,938. In any event this subbidder did not file with the Awarding Authority a record copy of his bid as furnished to the general contractors and as a result this firm was not to be considered in the final selection of subcontractors, so that it is proposed to substitute the name of J. M. McCusker Company as subcontractor for the plumbing work in the amount of $12,884, the D. Antonellis, Inc., firm having no objection to the J. M. McCusker Company's standing or ability. Furthermore, no lower bid was submitted for the plumbing work by any of the other subbidders. It will be noted that the substitution proposed will result in an increase in the contract sum of D. Antonellis, Inc., from $76,870 to $77,816.

Therefore, subject to your Honor's approval and in accordance with the foregoing, I propose to award a contract to D. Antonellis, Inc., 15 Sparhawk street, Brighton, Mass., the lowest responsible eligible bidder, in the amount of seventy-seven thousand eight hundred sixteen ($77,816) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 46.

I. NEW MULTIPLE ALARM FIRE REPORT.

Effective at 8 A.M., Thursday, July 15, 1954, a new multiple alarm fire report, Form 18B, will be adopted for use by the deputy chiefs of this department.

All information required on Form 18B will be furnished by the deputy chief or acting deputy chief who responded to the fire. In the event of a deputy chief being relieved at a fire by an on-coming deputy, the report shall be completed and signed by both deputy chiefs.

In filing out the report, the following instructions shall apply:

Following the word, "Box," on the top line at the right of page 1, the box number sounded on the first alarm shall be inserted.

After the words, "Total alarms sounded," the figure 2, 3, 4, or 5, as the case may be, will be added.

The word, "Time," on the second line at the right of page 1, refers to the time that the first alarm was sounded.

In filing in the information required by the phrase, "Number, size, and kind of streams used," such terms as, 4 hand lines with 1½-inch tips; 2 wagon guns with 1½-inch tips; 1 water tower with 2-inch tip; 3 rail pipes with 1½-inch tips, etc., shall be used.

Under the words, "Estimated Loss," on page 2, the term, "Other Building," shall mean any building or property to which a fire has extended.

If a fire originates in a ship or boat, that part of the fire report on page 1 which refers to buildings shall be disregarded and the information required under the heading, "Ship Fire," on page 4, shall be furnished instead. In this event, the words, "Ship Fire, See Page 4," shall be typed after the phrase, "Part of the building where fire originated," on page 1.

If a fire has extended from a ship to a wharf or pier shed, the ship shall be construed to be the fire building referred to at the top of page 2 and any loss that may result to the wharf or pier shed or to their contents will be inserted in the space after the words, "Other building," at the top of page 2.

The diagram of the fire grounds shall be in the form of a plan (as though the area were viewed from the air), and shall be drawn in ink and be neat and fairly well proportioned, but need not be drawn to scale. It shall be sufficiently complete to give a reasonably accurate picture of the area involved and the operations of the department. It will not be necessary to draw an elevation of the building showing ladders raised against it nor will it be necessary to draw pictures or symbols of equipment or appliances other than the initials specified.

For the purpose of uniformity in drawing and reading the diagram, the following initials shall be used to indicate the various types of equipment and appliances:

SHL—1½-inch hand line.
LHL—2½-inch hand line.
SFL—1½-inch hand line with fog nozzle.
LFL—2½-inch hand line with fog nozzle.

The initials shall be about ½-inch in size with a box drawn around them and the number of the company using the equipment will be placed in close proximity to the box. The initials indicating hand lines, ladders, smoke ejector, cellar pipes and distributors shall be placed at or near the outline of the fire building, showing the approximate position of such equipment. The initials indicating guns, water towers, ladder pipes, etc., shall be placed in the approximate position, in relation to the building, in which they were used. It will not be necessary to show the location of hydrants nor the placing of pumpers at hydrants.

The height of all buildings shown on the plan, in stories, and the type or class of construction, will be indicated within the outlines of each building. The location of streets and their approximate width, parking lots or other open areas, lumber yards or wharves will also be indicated on the plan.

Under the heading, "Other Pertinent Information," will be inserted all facts relating to injuries, deaths, accidents, explosions, floor, wall or building collapse, or any unusual incidents or happenings which took place at the fire. The cause of the fire, when it can be ascertained, will also be inserted in this space.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, June 28, 1954.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., President WHITE in the chair, and all the members present.

The Reverend Joseph B. Hanley of St. Catherine of Genoa Catholic Church, Somerville, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. JOSEPH B. HANLEY.

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Let us pray. O God, the Everlasting Creator of all things, with humility and confidence we beseech Thee to bless these Thy servants, gathered here to exercise a pious and patriotic duty.

Neither neglect nor the traveling of time can lead us or any coming generation into forgetting, as a people, the value of a life dedicated to the service of the community.

We are come, O God the Holy Ghost, we are here before Thee, hindered indeed by our many sins, but especially gathered together in Thy Name. Come unto us and be with us; vouchsafe to enter our hearts; teach us what we are to do and whither we ought to tend; show us what we must accomplish, in order that, with Thy help, we may be able to please Thee in all things.

Suffer us not to disturb the order of justice, Thou who lovest equity above all things; let not ignorance draw us into devious paths, nor partiality sway our minds; neither let respect of riches or persons pervert our judgment. May we in all things hold fast to justice tempered by pity, so that in this life our judgment may in no wise be at variance with Thee, and in the life to come we may attain everlasting rewards for deeds well done. Amen.

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM.

The following was received:

The School Committee of the City of Boston, June 22, 1954.

Mr. Walter J. Malloy, City Clerk,

Dear Mr. Malloy:

The School Committee at a meeting on Friday, June 18, requested me to answer the resolution of the Boston City Council as of June 14, 1954.

The School Committee and I, as its Executive Officer, are very eager to have the taxpayers and interested groups know our general long-range building program for the Boston public schools. As a result we have given copies of this building program to the press and also to any individual who has expressed an interest in our plans.

The City Council has been furnished with copies of our long-range building plans on both of the occasions when we went before the Council for bond issues, at which times these plans were discussed in detail with the City Council.

Our building program has been discussed with the City Planning Board, and each year an up-to-date revision of our long-range building program has been sent to the Planning Board. These are on file with the Planning Board.

If you know of any individuals or groups who wish to discuss any phase of our long-range building program, I should be glad to have them communicate with me in order that I might arrange for an appointment either with me or our Structural Engineer, who works closely with me in connection with this entire program.

We are indeed most grateful to the members of the City Council for their assistance in connection with the bond issues which they have sponsored in the interest of our school pupils. We look forward to a continuance of the splendid cooperation that we have always received.

Very truly yours,

DENNIS C. HALEY,

PROPOSED COURSE IN HOW TO BRING UP CHILDREN

Mr. Lee: Mr. Chairman, this is a request for a report from the Superintendent—I hope perhaps by the next meeting.

The report would be on a topic which you have heard me emphasize before. It has to do with a slight change in our curriculum for high school girls wherein I would like to see more instruction in the direction of preparing them for their duties in bringing up children, such as they have in the Newton schools and many other school systems.

I think you recall we published a pamphlet, perhaps a year or two ago when I was not here, emphasizing the need of that kind of preparation for our girls. The only statement I want to make at this time is merely to point out that being a wife and mother is the girl's number one vocation in nine cases out of ten and that the misbehavior of our youngsters is the number one difficulty around the city today. If we stressed the number one need for vocational training for our high school girls in how to bring up children, I think we would go a long way to meet the number one difficulty in the way our youngsters act.

I also think that these studies would be of primary interest to the girls. And as far as backing and sponsorship is concerned, I have a folder with quite a few clippings from many publications, as well as the message published by the schools a couple of years ago, stressing and stressing that we have got to not just process our girls for a few years in the commercial or industrial world but must restore the natural graces and understandings which are theirs and which are necessary if the next generation is going to have a fair chance in life.

Chairman: You want a report on that?

Mr. Lee: I merely ask that the committee ask the superintendent to bring in a report on that subject to see what we could do, with a view toward next year.

Chairman: Training the girls to be better mothers?

Mr. Lee: "Courses in how to bring up children" would be one phrase. Miss McNellis uses a phrase for similar courses in the Trade High School for Girls, which is: "Future Mothers of America."

The members requested the Superintendent to bring in the report requested by Mr. Lee.

REQUEST FOR REPORT ON CERTAIN MEMBERS OF TEACHING PERSONNEL ON LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Lee: It has come to my attention that there are several members of the teaching force who are on leave of absence and working in the Mayor's Office. I am here again asking for a report from the Superintendent.

I think it's a compliment to us that the Mayor needs to have school personnel to run City Hall, but I think since we have to pay for it that it's a rather foolish arrangement. The tax dollar is given for certain school purposes, and not to carry on functions that proceed at City Hall.

I was elected at least with the hope of, in my mind, taking part in perhaps the best school administration that the city has had, and I think it is too bad to be penalized by having our personnel, and some of our key personnel, out of the system working for another department while we pay the salaries. I should like to request through the Committee for a report from the Superintendent on the status of such people, on what their duties were here before they left, and what we are paying them.

Unless there are very strong recommendations to the contrary, I shall certainly make every effort to see that these men return to the school system or receive their pay from sources other than ours.

Chairman: You will bring in that report, Mr. Superintendent?

Superintendent: Yes, I will be glad to.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The seven orders laid over at the meeting of May 4, 1954, making additions to and changes in the List of Authorized Textbooks, were taken up.

Mr. Lee: Shouldn't we say texts authorized for purchase? Otherwise we inadvertently throw out all the textbooks in the schools. There are many more textbooks authorized than the ones that are on this list. This is simply the new ones authorized for purchase.

Superintendent: That's right.

Mr. Burke: Additions to the list.

Mr. Lee: Isn't that correct?

Mr. Burke: Additions.

Mr. Lee: Can't we, just for the sake of good business, make that clear that these additional textbooks—how is that worded?

Superintendent: How does that read?

Secretary: All I said is that the seven orders laid over at the meeting of May 4th making additions to and changes in the List of Authorized Textbooks were taken up but now the first order reads that the following named textbooks are hereby authorized for use as textbooks as indicated.

Mr. Burke: That is all right.

Mr. Lec: Perhaps it doesn't make any difference.

Superintendent: I think the first part takes care of it—additions to and changes in.

Mr. Lee: All right.

On roll call the seven orders passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. Carr, Miss Fitzgerald, Mr. Lec and Mr. Musco—4.

POSSIBILITY OF USE OF PARK DEPARTMENT LAND FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, in March I asked for a report from the Superintendent as to the possibility of building a new school facility on the Park Department property bounded by Park Drive, Boylston Street, and the Fenway, to be used for a new building for Girls' Latin School, Boston Technical High School, or such other high school as may be deemed advisable. So far no report has been received.

Chairman: Do you know anything about that, Mr. Superintendent?

Superintendent: Yes, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman: I recall the request, but I think it was brought out that that property belongs to the Park Department and some of it was left for specific purposes. There was some question whether we could get it for school facilities.

Mr. Lee: I checked on that, Mr. Chairman, and unless I completely misunderstood, there are no strings on that property. It is Park Department property, and it can only be released by the Recreation Board. It could be released by the new Recreation Board if that Board votes that it is no longer needed by them. There has been another law since then.

Superintendent: That's right.

Mr. Lee: If the New Recreation Board votes that a playground is no longer needed for play purposes, it can be turned over by the Recreation Board to another city department. For some reason if it is a park they make a distinction.

Chairman: That's right.

Mr. Lee: But at least this land was not given by a private benefactor with a restricted deed. I mean that part of it is clear.

Chairman: I know there was some restriction on it at the time.

Mr. Lee: It is like other parks purchased by the city and was purchased by the city. It was not given by an individual with strings attached to its use, so that it's the same procedure as for any other park.

Mr. Musco: Mr. Chairman, in order to expedite this, I wonder if we may not ask the Superintendent to bring in the report before the end of this month?

Superintendent: Surely. I will be glad to.

Mr. Musco: So that we can make some plans.

Chairman: Is the particular site definite? Do you know where it is?

Superintendent: Yes.

Chairman: Is that where the memorial to the veterans of World War II is located?

Mr. Lee: I think it is downstream.

Miss Fitzgerald: Mr. Musco, isn't it all dry land on both sides? It isn't near Muddy River.

Mr. Musco: It is just facing the Trade High School for Girls, bounded by the Fenway, Boylston Street, Park Drive, and Agassiz Road. I believe those are the boundaries.

There are Victory gardens in the center, and the river is on the further end from Park Drive right alongside a small playground.

Chairman: Would you look into that, Mr. Superintendent?

Superintendent: Yes, Mr. Chairman. Mr. McMackin and I have discussed it several times; and we certainly will make a report back to the Committee.

The members will be glad to know that the City Council today—Mr. Carr and I were present with Mr. McMackin and the Committee on Land, headed by Councillor Foley—agreed to give this Committee the play land back of the Thomas Dwight School for school purposes so that that has been culminated, I would say, as a result of today's action by the City Council.

We know the area that you refer to, Mr. Musco, and this new law may enable us to get it, although that law reads play land, doesn't it, Mr. McMackin?

Mr. McMackin: It refers to playgrounds, yes.

Mr. Lee: Playgrounds, yes.

Superintendent: We will be glad to make a report before the end of this school year, Mr. Musco.

The Committee adjourned.

June 18, 1954.

MR. DENNIS C. HALEY,
Superintendent of Schools.

DEAR MR. HALEY:

Following is a report of my attendance at the annual convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and the Eastern District Association, which was held in New York City, April 19 to 23, 1954.

The Standing Committees of the Eastern District Association met on Sunday afternoon, from 2 to 4 p.m., and those of the A.A.H.P.E.R. on Sunday evening, from 7 to 9.30 p.m.

Since I am to be Convention Manager of the Eastern District Convention to be held in Boston, April 17 to 21, 1955, it was necessary for me to be present at the MAYOR HYNES APPEALS TO PRESIDENT, IN EFFORT TO HAVE FOURTH AIRCRAFT CARRIER BUILT AT FORE RIVER YARDS OF BETHLEHEM STEEL COMPANY—NEED FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CITIZENS URGENT.

Mayor Hynes, on July 20, sent the following communication to the President of the United States:

The award for the construction of a fourth aircraft carrier is to be made shortly. This area has not received contracts for any of these carriers. The Fore River Shipyard of the Bethlehem Steel Company is ideally equipped to build such a carrier and has a reservoir of skilled workers greater than any other section of the country.

It is most essential for the economy of this entire area that consideration be given to the Fore River yards in the building of the carrier. Workers at the Fore River yards represent approximately one hundred communities in Massachusetts. Unless work is forthcoming, these skilled workers must seek other employment which is difficult to obtain at this time. The Fore River yards are reputed

MAYOR JOHN B. HYNES SUBMITS TO CITY COUNCIL AT SPECIAL MEETING FINDINGS OF COMMITTEE OF THREE EXPERT APPRAISERS ON PARK LAND IN FENWAY DESIRED BY SEARS ROEBUCK & CO. FOR PARKING PURPOSES—COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS FIXES VALUE AT $152,500, $27,500 ABOVE VALUATION BY PREVIOUS APPRAISERS—NEW APPRAISERS POINT OUT RESTRICTIONS THAT SHOULD GOVERN ANY SALE.

On July 22 Mayor John B. Hynes submitted to the Council a new appraisal of Park Department land sought by Sears Roebuck & Co., in the following statement:

July 22, 1954.

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN:

At the regular meeting of the City Council held on Monday, July 19, 1954, a resolution was adopted requesting the appointment of three expert appraisers to report by Thursday, July 22, at 2 p.m., on the value of certain city-owned land on Park Drive, Brookline avenue, and the Riverway proposed to be sold to Sears Roebuck & Co.

In conformity with the resolution I named one appraiser, Mr. Edward F. Cassell; the Chamber of Commerce named one appraiser, Mr. Elliott Henderson; and the Real Estate Board named one appraiser, Mr. Norman W. Kenny.

The expert appraisers so named have viewed the site in question, have conferred, and have agreed on a sale figure of one hundred and fifty-two thousand five hundred dollars ($152,500). The report of the three appraisers is forwarded herewith.

$27,500 Above Other Appraisals.

In view of the fact that the appraisal figure is twenty-seven thousand five hundred dollars ($27,500) in excess of the figure submitted in my order to your Honorable Body dated June 7, 1954, I respectfully suggest that the pending order be amended to the amount arrived at by the three expert appraisers, to wit, one hundred and fifty-two thousand five hundred dollars ($152,500), and that, for reasons previously outlined by me, affirmative action thereon be taken by your Honorable Body.

I wish to express my gratitude to Messrs. Cassell, Henderson, and Kenny for complying with the request of the City Council, and for performing a public service at no cost to the city.

Respectfully,

JOHN B. HYNES, Mayor.

MAYOR HYNES SUBMITS NEW APPRAISAL ON PARK LAND — EXPERTS PLACE VALUE AT $152,500.

Despite the fact that existing zoning regulations, to which this property is subject, prohibit its use or development for business uses, we have assumed for the purpose of this appraisal that a variance in the zoning can be obtained, which will enable the site to be used for general business and commercial purposes. We proceed on this basis because the property has no use value to the prospective purchaser, Sears Roebuck & Co., unless they are permitted to use it for parking, which is in violation of the existing zoning, and which use will require a zoning variance.

We have considered the following restrictions to which any sale would be subject:

1. Sewer easement running generally parallel to Park Drive and the Riverway, beginning at Brookline avenue.

2. Retention by the city of narrow areas around the entire frontages on all four sides, thus making it necessary in reaching the site to cross the city land by means of driveways across this land so retained by the city.

Restrictions which prevent total free use and development of land obviously adversely affect its market value. In reaching our conclusion we have assumed that ready, able, and willing buyers are available. The land area involved (which is all filled, being formerly a part of Muddy River, so called) contains, according to plan presented to us, 92,380 square feet, with the following frontages: Park Drive, 458.18 feet, Brookline avenue, 187.50 feet, Riverway, 382.11 feet, and frontage of 303.81 feet on the so-called by-pass roadway which extends from Park Drive to the Riverway.

It is our opinion that a substantial sum of money must be expended to make this land suitable for parking and other allied uses, and for grading and surfacing the entire area with a so-called black asphalt top. We have taken into account a number of sales of sizable land areas which have taken place over the past ten years, making suitable adjustments with regard to their respective comparability and desirability affecting their use and market value, as well as the factor of time element in making comparisons with the property involved in this appraisal.

We have reached the conclusion that the fair market value of this site at the present time is one hundred fifty-two thousand five hundred dollars ($152,500).

We wish to make it clear that if we were to value this property based on the existing zoning, namely, for residential purposes, our opinion would result in a figure substantially less.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD F. CASSELL,
ELLIOTT HENDERSON,
NORMAN W. KENNY.

REPORT OF JOSEPH McKENNEY ON ATTENDANCE AT CONVENTION.

Executive Committee meetings held on both Monday and Tuesday mornings, from 8 A.M. to 12 M.

An Elementary School Workshop was held on Monday, showing how children use movement as a way of learning. Specialists in child growth and development were members of the panel. The problems covered by the work group included space and equipment, professional preparation, administrative problems, community inter-relationships, and materials and visual aids.

The principal address at the opening session was given by Dr. Harry D. Gideonse, President of Brooklyn College. His topic was "Reason and Emotion in American Discussions of Education."

Tuesday morning was devoted to the Physical Education Division. A panel was held on community problems which was followed by an address by Dr. Ray O. Duncan of West Virginia University on the progress anticipated in physical education in the next decade.

Tuesday afternoon was sponsored by the Recreation Division. A very inspiring lecture was given by Dr. Howard A. Rusk, M.D., Chairman of the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, N.Y.U. College of Medicine. His subject was "Dynamic Recreation—An Essential in Rehabilitation."

One of the most interesting meetings was held by the Safety Education Division. The subject was "Accident Prevention in Sports—A Challenge to the Coach."

The feature speaker on Wednesday was Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, Commissioner of Education, Washington, D.C. His topic was "Education Is Everybody's Business."

The section meeting on athletics for men and boys was entitled "Sports-writers—Friend or Foe?" The panel consisted of Mel Allen, Red Barber, and Bob Wolff, representing radio and television; and Arthur Daley of the New York Times, Larry Robinson, of the World Telegram and Sun, and Red Smith of the New York Herald-Tribune, representing the Press. The need of good public relations between the Press and our schools was stressed.

Additional section meetings were held on administrative and supervisory problems; the coordination of health, physical education and safety; and research problems in health, physical education and recreation.

We are looking forward to April, 1955, when Boston will be host to the Eastern District Association, comprising the twelve eastern states and the District of Columbia.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH McKENNEY,
Director of Physical Education.

MAYOR IN APPEAL TO HAVE AIRCRAFT CARRIER BUILT AT QUINCY.

to be the most competent yards in the country in major ship construction. I respectfully request your personal intervention in this matter so that this area of the United States may benefit economically and so that the United States Navy may be assured of a well-constructed and finished carrier.

Upon July 20, Mayor Hynes issued the following statement:

Running through the press clippings covering the days I was absent from my office during my recent trip to Europe, I was surprised to see a photograph purportedly showing Archbishop Richard J. Cushing passing over to His Holiness Pope Pius two large envelopes containing money gifts. The caption on this photograph is entirely erroneous. I was present at the time and witnessed His Holiness the Pope giving to Archbishop Cushing two packages of Rosary beads and medals for the pilgrims. In other words, instead of Archbishop Cushing making a present of a large sum of money, as the caption on the photograph would seem to imply, the Pope was making a gift to the Archbishop.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, July 19, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR:

Under date of June 3, 1954, I addressed to you a letter requesting your approval of the execution of an agreement with Charles M. Evans as a consultant, said services to be rendered between July 6, 1954, and March 31, 1955. Your approval of this request was made under date of June 8, 1954. In my communication I stated that the estimated total cost involved to the city for the current year would not exceed $10,000.

I now find that since the term of the agreement is to extend until March 31, 1955, that I should have expressed in my letter the total cost up to and including the end of the term, namely, March 31, 1955. On this basis, it was estimated the cost of the complete services of Mr. Evans, under the agreement, would not exceed $13,300.

I respectfully request authority to revise my original letter so that the total estimated cost of Mr. Evans' services under the agreement will not exceed $13,300.

Respectfully,

CHARLES J. FOX,
Director.

Purchasing Division.

BOSTON, July 13, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Informal requests for prices on liquid floor wax to be furnished to the various city departments were solicited among five manufacturers. Butcher-Markell Sales Company, Inc., submitted the lowest price.

Inasmuch as this company has an excellent reputation and since a saving of approximately $1,000 will accrue to the city by purchasing the wax from this company, authority is requested to award a contract, without public advertisement, to Butcher-Markell Sales Company, Inc., for the period from July 26, 1954, to March 31, 1955, inclusive. It is my opinion that, in this way, the best interests of the city will be served.

Approximate total amount of contract will be $2,827.50, less 2 per cent discount for payment within ten days.

Respectfully yours,

EUGENE K. WELSH,
Acting Purchasing Agent.

ASSESSING DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, July 6, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your authorization to dispense with public advertising in the City Record and to award a contract to Remington Rand, Inc., 857 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, Mass., to prepare the punched card index for the 1954 poll taxes now remaining unfinished to the approximate total of 210,000 tax items, from Wards 3 through Wards 22. These services will be performed at the unit prices to be set forth in the proposed contract.

It is expected that the total cost of the work will be approximately $7,259.40, however, I propose to include the so-called standard 25 per cent provision in the contract so that the contractor can be required to perform any necessary additional volume of this work, at the agreed contract unit prices, if the actual amount of work involved and the final cost of the entire operation as a result should exceed $7,259.40. Therefore, your authorization is requested to execute the contract at an estimated cost of $7,259.40, with an allowable additional expenditure, if necessary, of 25 per cent of said figure, thereby making the authorized total contract cost a sum not to exceed $9,074.25.

This firm's staff is particularly well trained at performing services of this nature. In addition, this company is the manufacturer of the machines used in this department and only the cards made by this contractor and which will be used in preparing the punched card index can be employed in conjunction with our machines.

Respectfully,

EDMUND J. BURKE,
Chairman.

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

BOSTON, June 9, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This department is now in the process of having a remodeling contract job performed in the Dorchester High School for Girls and Boys, which, due to the nature of the work, will require the services of a full-time inspector on the work, particularly during what is considered the rough work—cutting through concrete floors, masonry partitions, etc., with mechanical tools.

It so happens that the tremendous volume of work required of this department this year, due to the relocation of pupils and personnel of four schools by transfer from one building to another, is utilizing the services of every available person in the department to the extent where it is necessary to work people overtime.

I do not have an inspector available to put on the job on a full-time basis. Consequently, I ask your permission to employ Mr. Daniel J. Clifford, 17 Horan Way, Roxbury, for a period of thirty working days at a salary of $85.55 per week.

Your immediate consideration of this request will be very much appreciated.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES H. MOONEY,
Superintendent of Construction.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

BOSTON, July 7, 1954.

HON. JOHN B. HYNES,

Mayor of Boston.

SIR:

In order to obtain water for the training school to be placed on Moon Island it is necessary for us to have a well dug. The method of obtaining well water is to have a specialist dig an exploratory well. This will cost less than $1,000.

With this in mind, we ask your permission to employ R. F. Chapman Company to make that exploratory operation. In the event that there is a successful finding, the cost of this first operation will be contained in the final cost of digging the well if the same well digger is employed. In the event that the complete operation is made, the cost will be in the neighborhood of $3,500.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS X. COTTER,
Fire Commissioner.

PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, July 12, 1954.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., Senior Member HURLEY in the chair, and all the members present.

The Reverend Thomas M. Herlihy, S.J., of St. Ignatius Church, Newton, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY REV. THOMAS M. HERLIHY.

I might say before I start, although I come from St. Ignatius Church in Newton, the church itself is registered in Newton but the front door is in Boston and a number of the parishioners live in Boston; along with Mr. Ahearn, we have Mr. Roy Green and perhaps others who attend St. Ignatius Church but who live in Boston.

I want to tell you, Mr. Ahearn and Mr. Hurley, that I appreciate being invited for this prayer.

Let us pray. Eternal Father, to Whom the beginning of our beloved country was solemnly dedicated and under Whose Providence it has so signally prospered, bless, we beseech Thee, this assembly. Cleanse our hearts and our lips, O Almighty God, and vouchsafe through Thy gracious mercy that we may worthily and fittingly proceed with our deliberations. Teach us the lesson of loyalty to you, our beloved city and our country.

Our responsibilities are the highest. May our fidelity to this trust be made perfect. Obedience to You, Almighty God, comes first. Your decalogue given to Moses at Mt. Sinai is our guiding post; may we always be obedient to Your commandments. Daily we pledge allegiance to our country under Your divine guidance and protection. We thank You, dear God, for inspiring our Congress and our President to place the allegiance under Your divine protection.

Grant us the grace today to refer our deliberations to Your omniscient and holy will. As Your servants, we frankly submit this important work to Thy true guidance. As Your obedient sons, we submit our decisions as a test of our loyalty to God, to our country and to this great American city. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the flag.

RENAMING COLUMBIA STATION THE THADDEUS KOSCIUSKO STATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 2, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the General Manager of the Metropolitan Transit Authority in regard to your order of June 14, 1954, relative to the renaming of the Columbia Station on the Cambridge-Dorchester subway line the Thaddeus Kosciuszko Station.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH C. WHITE,
Acting Mayor.

Metropolitan Transit Authority,
June 28, 1954.

Mr. Harold B. Flemming,
Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

In acknowledgment of your reference of June 18 I attach copy of a letter of June 1 which the Chairman of our Board of Trustees wrote in connection with suggested renaming of Columbia Station.

Very truly yours,

EDWARD DANA,
General Manager.

June 1, 1954.

Mr. Joseph Alecks, Chairman Memorial Committee Polish-American Citizens' Club of South Boston, Inc., 82-84 Boston Street, South Boston, Mass.

Dear Mr. Alecks:

Thank you for your letter of May 25, 1954, in which you suggest that the name of Columbia Station be changed in honor and memory of General Thaddeus Kosciuszko.

It has never been the practice of the Authority, or its predecessor, the Boston Elevated Railway Company, to name stations in honor of particular military or naval heroes. You will, of course, recognize that if such a practice were started there would be innumerable demands to change station names in honor of this or that statesman or great military figure.

While we are appreciative, as United States citizens, of the accomplishments of General Kosciuszko, we think it would be unwise to change this long established practice.

Very truly yours,

FRANK W. ROURKE, Chairman.

CERTAIN LAND IN JAMAICA PLAIN FOR PLAYGROUND PURPOSES.

The following was received:

Office of the Mayor, July 2, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Chairman of the Real Property Department in regard to your order of June 28, 1954, relative to the transferring of the vacant land located on Call, Hall, and Boynton streets, Jamaica Plain, which is now in the custody of the Real Property Department, to the custody of the Parks and Recreation Department, to be developed for playground purposes.

Councillor Ahearn's Order of June 28, 1954, re: Jamaica Plain, Ward 11, Boynton Street, Lots 25 and 26; Hall Street, Lots 52 and 53; Hall Street, Ns. Junction of Call Street; Call Street, Ws. Corner Boynton Street.

Dear Sir:

This is in answer to your communication dated June 29, 1954, concerning City Council order of June 28, 1954, proposed by Councillor Ahearn, requesting that vacant land located on Call, Hall, and Boynton streets, Jamaica Plain, be transferred from the custody of the Real Property Department to the custody of the Parks and Recreation Department, to be developed for playground purposes.

On November 27, 1953, this department received an offer in the amount of $1,000 for that particular property, on which a minimum price for the 29,415 square feet had been set by the Committee on Foreclosed Real Estate as $1,200.

The offerer was notified on December 15, 1953, concerning the minimum price. As of the present date, the offerer has shown no interest in having the property placed on the auction block.

It is a fair parcel of land and I, personally, believe that it would serve a good useful purpose as a play area.

The Council order is being returned herewith.

HERMAN CARP,

Commissioner, Real Property Department.

Chairman, Real Property Board.

ILLUMINATION AND OPENING OF MONUMENT AT DORCHESTER HEIGHTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 29, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Park Commissioner concerning your order of June 7, 1954, relative to investigating the illuminating of the monument on Dorchester Heights in South Boston and also the desirability of opening the monument to the public at certain specified times during the week.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH C. WHITE,
Acting Mayor.

City of Boston,

Parks and Recreation Department,
June 24, 1954.

Harold B. Flemming,

Chief Clerk, Mayor's Office.

Dear Sir:

This will acknowledge receipt of a memo from your office with attached communication from Councillors Foley, McCormack and Kerrigan, requesting illuminating the monument at Dorchester Heights and the opening of the monument to the public at certain specified times during the week.

We will have a survey made as to the possibility of complying with this request.

A preliminary report from the Deputy Commissioner indicates that it would take six 1,000-watt bulbs to light the monument. The electricity would have to be brought in from the street and large enough poles erected for the lights so as to avoid vandalism.

In order to open up the monument for the general public, the painting and repairing bill would be in the vicinity of $2,500. Then again if this work was completed, we would require a permanent police officer to be assigned to this location. The Metropolitan District Commission is able to cope with the visitors at Bunker Hill Monument as a permanent policeman is assigned there 24 hours a day.

At the present time, there are no funds within our budget for doing this work, but we most certainly will keep this under consideration for the future.

Very truly yours,

FRANK R. KELLEY, Commissioner,

ELEVATED ROAD FOR HEAVY TRAFFIC IN SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 30, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Chairman of the City Planning Board relative to your order of April 5, 1954, regarding the advantages and disadvantages of building an elevated road for heavy vehicles over the railroad yard bed running from First street to Dorchester avenue, parallel to and between A and B streets.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH C. WHITE,
Acting Mayor.

President WHITE in the chair.

City Planning Board,
June 25, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

In response to Council order of April 5 regarding the advantages and disadvantages of building an elevated road over the railroad right of way running from First street to Dorchester avenue in South Boston, I am submitting the following:

The advantage of such a facility is, of course, that it would provide good access for commercial vehicles to the area north and east of the residential sections of South Boston. Such a facility would relieve the local residential streets of annoying and dangerous truck traffic.

The main disadvantage is cost. This type of highway facility (four lanes wide) would cost at least $6,500 per mile, including proper ramps. The estimated cost of the proposal would be at least $2,500,000. Such an amount is more than the total capital outlay for streets, highways, and sidewalks to be allocated during one entire year by the City of Boston.

Construction of this facility is not recommended in view of the cost and also the probable changes in the traffic pattern to be caused by the construction of the Central Artery and the Southeast Expressway.

In another letter sent you today recommendations have been made regarding the flow of truck traffic through the residential areas of South Boston.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS F. McDONOUGH, Chairman.

STUDY OF TRUCK TRAFFIC PROBLEM IN SOUTH BOSTON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 30, 1954.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication from the Chairman of the City Planning Board in regard to your order of February 15, 1954, relative to a conference with the Traffic Commission and the South Boston Rehabilitation Committee concerning the problem of truck traffic through the streets of South Boston to the south and east.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH C. WHITE,
Acting Mayor.

City Planning Board,
June 25, 1954.

Hon. John B. Hynes,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

In response to Council order of February 15 concerning truck traffic in South Boston, I am replying as follows:

Conferences were held with representatives of the Traffic Commission, trucking interests and with the South Boston Rehabilitation Committee. As a result of these conferences the following recommendation was made by Mr. Desmond, representing the Traffic Commission:

That the movement of all loaded trucks which leave the Castle Island area be confined to East First, West First, and D streets. This would be accomplished by establishing trucking regulations which would prevent trucks proceeding westerly on East First and West First streets making a left turn on all cross streets. This would prevent truck egress from East and West First streets until D street is reached. Unloaded trucks returning to the Castle Island area would be allowed to proceed along Dorchester street to East First street.

It is felt that the crossing from West First street to Old Colony avenue and Dorchester avenue should be made through D street in order to avoid further disruption of the five-point intersection now existing at B street, Dorchester and Old Colony avenues.

The Planning Board is also of the opinion that a great deal of relief to the problem will be afforded upon the completion of the Fitzgerald Expressway and the Southeast Expressway since present plans call for a full set of ramps on the city side of the Dover Street Bridge. Approaches to these ramps from South Boston will be made by way of the Broadway and Dover Street Bridges.

The Planning Board here approves the recommendations of the Traffic Commission.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS F. McDONOUGH, Chairman.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMISSION ON 1954 TAX RATE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Finance Commission, July 9, 1954.
To the Honorable the Mayor and City Council.

Examination of the 1954 tax computation figures reveals a pleasing trend in a downward direction in many of the items of this important calculation. Though substantially lower taxes are not "right around the corner" yet, a beginning has been made to bring the rate back to the less awe-inspiring levels of years ago. Total real estate valuations increased a few millions, but a personal property valuation reduction offset the gain.

Illustrations of the new trend are found in a reduction in 1954 from the figures of 1953 for general city maintenance; for debt service; for county expenditures. The assessments for Metropolitan purposes and for the State are likewise less than a year ago.

Nevertheless, there are disturbing elements. Two are well-known and have been much publicized—the Metropolitan Transit Authority deficit and the City Overlay (tax abatement) deficits. The first of these is entirely beyond city control; the second is distinctly within city control. It is the natural result of the long-followed policy of municipal administrators to fix untenable valuations on real property in order to establish a lower rate than might otherwise be necessary.

Boston's 1954 share of the Metropolitan Transit Authority deficit was not greatly out of line with the 1953 assessment for the same purpose and there is nothing the City can do about it anyway; but the penalty the City is paying for having kept the rate down by inflating the property valuations becomes annually greater. Already it is a menace in city financing. It is likely to be no better for some time to come. Demand by property owners for relief from the exorbitant valuations of past years is not yet fully satisfied, as the records in the State Appellate Tax Board disclose. As forecast early in the year by the Finance Commission, the 1954 rate computations contain a total figure of $9,662,816 to be provided on account of abatements of assessments already made. This is approximately 9 per cent of the 1954 tax levy. The major portion of it is on account of the return to property owners of tax money previously collected from them. In so far as these refunds refer to past years, the figures are those of the deficits in the overlay accounts set up in the tax rate computations of those years. Yet before each account became a deficit account, approximately $3,000,000 which had been included in the levy of the year had already been refunded or assessments within that amount had been determined to be insupportable. In relation to the account this year, in the $9,662,816 accumulation of "overlay" figures, $6,420,042.25 represents abatements made in 1953 alone of earlier years' assessments.

Furthermore, there is a third disturbing element in the tax picture. Boston is no exception in the fact that the amount necessary to meet pension and annuity requirements for retired employees is becoming a monster in the financing of governments everywhere. In the local rate computations, pension requirements have increased $1,650,943.55 in the last year. In the 1954 appropriations they are $7,300,764.60. On city account the increase has been from $5,226,820.91 in 1953 to $6,726,764.46 in 1954; on school account from $303,000 in 1953 to $409,000 in 1954; and on county account from $120,000 in 1953 to $165,000 in 1954.

To those who contend that many properties were overvalued in 1953, it will appear that overvaluation was used again in 1954 to hold the rate in check. However, city administrators will not concede that this deduction is fair. Yet in the face of loss of more properties to public improvements, and of the absence of a building wave which would produce new valuations, the total property valuation was still $1,010,000 more in 1954 than in 1953. This result came out of an increase in real property valuation of $4,064,900 and a reduction in personal property valuation of $3,054,900. The figures of the so-called downtown valuation total approximately the same as in 1953.

Nevertheless, the rate was reduced 90 cents per $1,000 of valuation. To most people how it was reduced is of secondary consideration. For this result both the Mayor and the City Council are entitled to credit. Working more or less together, with the Council often trying to outstrip the Mayor in the race for honors in the quest for economy, they both have inspired in city employees generally, and the top departmental officers particularly, a new conception of budget-making and spending. The result is shown in the rate computations in the fact that city and county maintenance figures are less in 1954 than in 1953. It is on this inspiration that the hope of lower spending in future years is based.

Moreover, in the determination of future assessments, there is hope of results more satisfactory to the taxpayers when the reorganization of the work in the Assessing Department is in full effect. The new organization of the departmental structure became effective after the 1954 tax rate was promulgated. A single Assessor now directs the preliminary work of establishing valuations, and a Board of Review (three members) will now pass on applications for abatement. This form of organization will allow the single Assessor to devote his full time to the establishment of an orderly system of fixing valuations from which, it is expected, correction of many of the deficiencies of the old practices will eventuate.

Debt service in 1954 for city, county, and schools cost appreciably less than in 1953 and in many previous years. A large new debt authorized in 1954 called for on account of new schools, a new chronic hospital, and an incinerator (at last) will swell the debt in future years, but does not affect the 1954 tax rate.

The school appropriations in 1954 total $284,000 more than in 1953, and despite consolidations, reorganizations, etc., which confuse the present picture there appears little hope that this element of tax rate making will give comfort in the immediate future.

A new item appears for the first time in the rate calculations—the appropriation of $130,616.85 as a metropolitan assessment for the maintenance and operation of the Boston Arena. It is an illustration of the fact, which is often not appreciated when a new service is being promoted, that new services add to city costs. However, in 1954, fortunately, the reduction in the requirements on account of general maintenance expenses of the Metropolitan District Commission more than absorbs this new expense.

Finally, the total 1954 requirements for Warrants and Appropriations is about a million dollars more than in 1953, the reductions in the city accounts above referred to being lost in the increased Metropolitan Transit Authority assessments, the increased need on account of abatements, and the greater pension payments which statutory law directs. The total amount of these requirements in 1954 was $154,819,459.08 which is $941,270.64 more than last year.

The 1954 tax levy is $109,353,984.80, which is $1,338,601.40 less than the 1953 figure. The levy is the result of subtracting estimates of credits and revenues from the total requirements figures and adding a percentage for overlay. To create the overlay account, the rate makers followed the usual custom of adding 3 per cent, which for many years has provided less than one half of the eventual need.

CREDITS AND REVENUES.

The largest item on the revenue side of the ledger is the estimate of general city revenues—mostly departmental revenue. The figure used is $1,058,914.08 greater than the corresponding figure in 1953, and the estimate is $800,000 more when this latter figure, listed in the 1954 computations as receipts from the Printing Department and the Rent Board is added. In previous years the Printing Department account was treated as a revenue account, i.e., a self-supporting account, and expenditures and receipts were not included in the so-called tax accounts. In 1954 both are included in the tax accounts. The Rent Board receipts consist of a payment by the State directed by statutory law toward the expenses of the local board. From the Printing Department it is estimated that $750,000 will be received in 1954; and $50,000 from the State on account of the Rent Board.

Now it is a question if the high estimate figure of $24,710,800 (City general $23,910,800 plus Printing Department and Rent Board $800,000) will materialize in actual receipts. In 1953 comparable receipts were $21,209,487.06 against a 1953 estimate of $22,851,885.92. It has been the overestimate of possible receipts in the city revenue accounts which has been largely responsible for the operations deficits of the last several years; and by that overestimate the rates were held to lower figures than would otherwise have been possible.

The State has helped materially with generous estimates of the taxes it will turn over to the City. The State Tax Commission has certified a figure, as the Boston share of the Income Tax, which is about $200,000 higher than the corresponding estimate in 1953, and has done even better in the Corporation Tax item—an increase of about $400,000.

CONCLUSION.

On the whole, the computations of the 1954 tax rate cause mixed feelings. Obviously, the volume of abatements from last year's and preceding years' assessments must be accepted as evidence that many taxpayers believe that certain valuations were set too high. Yet the total 1954 valuation, in the absence of any substantial new developments, and in the face of more losses of taxable properties to the Central Artery and other public improvements indicates that there has been no change in this respect. As a result there will be a certain dissatisfaction with this 1954 determination. While, as in every previous year, time will tell whether or not the Assessors' judgment is correct, the growing volume of abatements would seem to indicate that the Assessors have not previously been right.

The expenditures for the city, except schools, and the county for this year at least are, comfortably, less than in 1953. The Metropolitan Transit Authority deficit and the abatement situation continue to be sore spots, and to them is now added the appalling cost of pensions and annuities.

The detail of rate making follows:

DETAIL OF RATE MAKING.

The figures used in this analysis are the official figures used in determination of the tax rate for 1954.

The first part of the computations is the table of Warrants and Appropriations which follows below and on page 932.

As stated previously the total valuation in 1954 of real property increased $4,064,900 over the 1953 figure and total personal property valuation declined $3,054,900, thereby producing a net increase in total valuation of $1,010,000. In accounting for the real property valuation increase, the above table shows that losses in Wards 1, 3, 4, 5, and 21 were offset by gains in other wards. The reduction in personal property valuation is found principally in Wards 1, 3 and 5, although 12 other wards showed a drop in 1954.

A comparison of valuation figures of recent years is interesting. Percentage-wise since 1950 the total change has been small; yet the dollar amount of the increase in that period, $2,352,300, does not reveal certain internal changes which have taken place.

For instance, since 1950, Ward 3, representing downtown Boston, has declined in real estate valuation by $12,625,000; Ward 4 (Back Bay, South) by $7,022,300. However, more than $19,000,000 of the $19,647,300 decline represented in these two wards was offset by increases in eight other wards during this period as follows:

WARD.
6 South Boston, North.....	Increase since 1950	$1,899,100
7 South Boston, South.....	Increase since 1950	1,010,800

The losses besides those in Wards 3 and 4 occurred in Wards 1 and 10.

Looking back over the period of the last twenty-five years it may be seen that Ward 3, though it continues to carry its traditionally heavy valuation load, is constantly declining in weight. Its total of real estate and personal property valuation is 33.4 per cent of the City's total in 1954 as against 38.8 per cent in 1930. Within this period the trend in real estate valuation was downward while its personal property valuation was increased. In detailed figures, its real estate valuation declined from the 1930 high point of $687,435,800 to a 1954 figure of $437,798,000. Yet the personal property valuation increased from $78,425,400 in 1930 to $84,336,800 in 1954. It is significant that in 1930 Wards 3, 4, 5, and 6, the commercial and industrial heart of Boston, represented 61.9 per cent of the total real estate valuation of the City; in 1954 these wards represented 54.3 per cent. In personal property valuation these wards represented 86.4 per cent of the City total of 1930, and 82.2 per cent in 1954.

Whereas, All men of good will are cognizant of the great contributions the French people have made to philosophy, literature, the arts, science and the cause of liberty everywhere; and

Whereas, In our country's heroic and successful struggle for independence in the 18th century, the names of the Marquis de la Fayette and the Count de Rochambeau will forever be held hallmarks of American independence and history; and

Whereas, To the governments and industries of our great communities throughout our country, men and women of French ancestry have brought and given freely of the knowledge, experience, vivacity, devotion and brilliance that is the heritage of all French people, particularly in our own great State of Massachusetts where so large a portion of our population are citizens of French birth or French parentage; and

Whereas, On July 14, 1789, the people of Paris rose in rebellion and precipitated one of the greatest and most heroic struggles for freedom in the history of mankind. On that day they seized the Bastille—a hated symbol of oppression and tyranny and deposed the despot King Louis XVI. The following day, they commenced the razing of this hated fortress and on that day they sent the key of this jail to George Washington, the Father of our Country, as a symbol of their devotion and regard for him as the Father of Freedom and Liberty for all men; and

Whereas, The taking of the Bastille sounded the clarion call for all Frenchmen to rise and rally round the standard of liberty, equality and fraternity in the great nation of France; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Boston City Council, in the name of our great city and its citizens, send greetings to the great French nation and our fellow American citizens of French ancestry here and throughout the world on their celebration of the 165th anniversary of Bastille Day—that epochal hallmark in mankind's constant struggle for freedom.
